Punjab Government Notifications and Orders.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, in the Financial Department, No. 37, dated 8th January 1890.

READ—

Resolution of the Punjab Government, in the Financial Department, No. 691 S., dated 15th July 1885, publishing a list of public works transferred to Local Bodies in the Delhi, Gurgaon, Karnál, Rohtak, Hissar and Ferozepore Districts, and explaining the principles and conditions of the transfer.

Memo. No. 5587, dated 20th September 1889, from the Secretary to Government, Punjab, Public Works Department, forwarding for publication a schedule of public works which have been made over for management to the District Board of the Hoshiárpur District and the grants payable for maintenance of the same.

Endorsement No. 3370, dated 7th December 1889, from the Commissioner, Jullundur Division, furnishing certain further information in regard to the buildings referred to in the communication last read.

RESOLUTION.—The buildings shown in the annexed schedule were made over to the District Board, Hoshiárpur, for maintenance on the 1st April 1886, under a misapprehension that the consent of the Board to undertake the maintenance of the buildings constituted a sufficient authority for the transfer. One of the buildings has since been destroyed by fire, and three others are not now required for the purposes for which they were used when transferred. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to confirm the transfer arranged in 1886 on the conditions and in accordance with the principles laid down in the Resolution of the Punjab Government, No. 691 S., dated 15th July 1885. The annual grants payable to the District Board for the maintenance of the buildings are as stated in column 7 of the schedule. These grants, except in the cases where they have ceased to be payable as explained in column 8, will be paid by reduction of the 20 per cent. contribution to Provincial revenues.

ORDER.—Ordered that the foregoing Resolution, with accompaniment, be forwarded for information to the District Board, Hoshiárpur, and to the Deputy Commissioner of the District and to the Commissioner of the Division.

Also that it be forwarded to the Secretary to Government, Punjab, in the Public Works Department, and to the Accountant-General, Punjab, for information and guidance.

Also that it be published in the Punjab Government Gazette.

Punjab Government Notifications and Orders.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

GENERAL.

The 30th January 1890.

No. 91.—Notification.—The following Addresses to and by HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS PRINCE ALBERT VICTOR on the occasion of his visit to Lahore in the month of January 1890 are published for general information:—

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS,—As representatives of all classes, official and non-official, European and Native, of the community of this Frontier Province, we beg to offer YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS a loyal and hearty welcome to its capital. Fourteen years have passed since Lahore was visited by YOUR ILLUSTRIOUS FATHER, and during this period the Punjab has made rapid strides of progress. By the completion of Railway communication between Lahore and Karáchi, the Province has obtained the natural outlet for its Sea-borne trade, and the extension of the Railway to Pesháwar, the pacification of the turbulent tribes of the Khyber, and the improvement of communications along the Deraját Border have tended materially to secure the North-Western Frontier of India against foreign aggression. Amongst peaceful pursuits, the advance made in education has been marked by the establishment of an independent Provincial University at Lahore. The tour planned by YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS will afford an opportunity of seeing the chief cities of the Punjab,—Lahore, Amritsar, Delhi and Pesháwar ; while at the Military Camp-of-Exercise at Muridki will be found assembled several regiments of the Army which is so largely recruited from the various warlike races of this Province. We trust that YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS will bear away pleasant recollections of your visit. The Punjab cannot boast of possessing in its plains the beauties of natural scenery presented by other Provinces through which YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS has lately passed. But it contributes to the Empire a population noted for manly qualities, in the enjoyment of a high degree of agricultural prosperity, and which, while composed of many different tribes of various religions,—Sikh, Hindu and Muhammadan,—is united by the common bond of devoted loyalty and attachment to HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY our beloved QUEEN-EMPRESS.

We again offer YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS a most hearty welcome.

To the above HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS was pleased to give the following reply :—

SIR MEREDYTH PLOWDEN AND GENTLEMEN,—I tender you my warmest thanks for the very cordial Address which has just been read to me,—an Address which, coming as it does on behalf of the community of the Punjab, gives me peculiar gratification and interest ; inasmuch as it shows how united is the vast and varied population of this Province in their loyalty and devotion to HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN-EMPRESS ; and it will be a most pleasing duty to me to repeat to HER MAJESTY the terms in which your heart-felt sentiments of attachment to HER MAJESTY have been announced.

I feel I cannot give you a better idea of the immense interest and sympathy which exist in the mind of our beloved SOVEREIGN towards HER Indian subjects, than by telling you that notwithstanding her inability to visit HER Indian Empire—a fact she never ceases to deplore—HER MAJESTY has by the greatest diligence acquired some knowledge of the Hindustáni language.

Other Provinces of India may be richer than the Punjab, some may present scenes of greater beauty ; but there is no Province in India that can boast, as the Punjab can, that it is the bulwark of defence against foreign aggression, or that can be termed, with the same significance, the Guard Room of our Eastern Empire.

As the Punjab is one of the greatest recruiting-grounds, so it is also the home, or place of service, of a large portion of the Army in Northern India; and it is particularly gratifying to me to think that it is here, in this Soldiers' land, that I shall see at Muridki a force of Cavalry such as is seldom brought together in any part of the world.

At Lahore itself I have observed to-day much that has interested and impressed me: side by side, at this one of the most ancient capitals of India, I see the signs of prosperity and vigorous civilization, in the new buildings which are opening up on every side, and in the loyal demeanour of a contented and manly population.

Let me, Gentlemen, once more thank you, and, through you, all classes of the Punjab, for the gratifying Address and hearty welcome you have given me to-day.

By order, &c.,

C. L. TUPPER,

Secretary to Government, Punjab.

MILITARY.

The 29th January 1890.

No. 18.—Notification.—The following Circular to Commissioners of Divisions and the Army Circular, India, dated the 16th of March 1889, are published for general information :—

No. 17, dated Lahore, 29th January 1890.

From—C. L. TUPPER, Esquire, Secretary to Government, Punjab,

To—All Commissioners and Superintendents in the Punjab.

WITH reference to this office No. 143 of 2nd August 1888, on the subject of the formation of a Volunteer Reserve and your reply thereto, I am now directed to forward, for the information of yourself and all District Officers, copies of Army Circular of the 16th March 1889, with appendices, and to request that in such cases as may be practicable formal applications for the formation of Reservist corps may be submitted through Deputy Commissioners and yourself to the Local Government under paragraph 8 of the Circular.

2. These applications should be signed by the persons willing to join on the terms contained in the Circular, and it should be noted in the application that they accept those terms. I am also to ask that in submitting these formal applications you will advise as to whether in each instance the various bodies of reservists should be attached to existing active Volunteer Corps or should form separate corps, and as to the formation of 'squads,' 'sections,' 'half-companies' and 'companies' as described in paragraph 2 of the Army Circular. To facilitate a proper decision being arrived at on these points, the opinion of officers commanding local Volunteer Corps and Generals Commanding Districts might advantageously be taken. His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief has been asked through the Adjutant-General to instruct these officers to aid you with their advice. I am also to call attention to paragraph 9 of the Army Circular, and to say that it has been recommended to the Government of India that the age at which an active volunteer may be transferred to the reserve should be raised from 35 to 40.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that all Civil Officers will take an active interest in the present movement, and that very early steps may be taken to carry out the instructions contained in this Circular and to get the scheme into working order.

VOLUNTEERS.

RESERVES.

Regulations for Volunteer Reserves in India and Burma.

HIS EXCELLENCY the Governor-General in Council is pleased to notify the following regulations for the guidance of volunteer reserves in India and Burma. These regulations are provisional only, and are subject to such alterations as may be considered necessary.—

SECTION I.

Constitution and formation of corps.

1. Volunteer reserve corps will consist of Europeans or those of European descent, who, from various causes, are unable or unwilling to enlist in active volunteer corps.

2. For the formation of volunteer reserves, each presidency may be divided into volunteer districts according to the localisation of existing volunteer corps. Men living near each other may be formed into one or more "squads" of not less than five and not more than fifteen men. All "squads" near each other may be formed into one or more "sections" of not less than fifteen and not more than thirty men. On the same principle "half-companies" of not less than thirty men, and "companies" of not less than sixty men, may be formed. The companies thus formed in each volunteer district may be attached to the volunteer corps in the district, or be formed into separate reserve volunteer corps, as may be decided by the local Government.

3. No commissioned, warrant, or non-commissioned officer of the regular army will be eligible for enrolment in the volunteer reserve in any rank if he has any connection at the time with purely military duties. This restriction does not apply to the employment of military officers who may be selected by Government for the post of commandants or adjutants.

4. Honorary commissioned officers and warrant and non-commissioned officers and men on the Unattached List, if not employed on purely military duties, and army schoolmasters are eligible for enrolment in a volunteer reserve corps, on a certificate from the officer under whom they are serving that their being volunteers will not interfere with their duties; but none of these ranks, except honorary commissioned officers, will be eligible for appointment as commissioned officers. The certificate above referred to will not be required in the case of military men employed as clerks.

5. Members of the police force may be enrolled as reservists, but they are not eligible to hold any rank above that of private, unless permitted by the local Government or Administration.

6. Out-pensioners of Her Majesty's regular forces, residing in India, may be enrolled as reservists.

7. Where active volunteer corps exist, and no special reason presents itself to the contrary, the reserves raised in the locality will be attached, for administrative purposes, to the active corps, so that the reservists may derive full advantage from the instructional staff, ranges, and appliances belonging to the active corps. Should the reservists desire to form a separate corps, the question will be referred to the local Government or Administration concerned for decision. If an additional separate staff is found necessary for a reserve corps, the Government of India will be prepared to consider recommendations on this head. Where there is no active volunteer corps in the locality, the organisation of the volunteer reserve will partake of a territorial character, and will be conducted by the divisional and district civil officers, with the assistance of any instructional staff it may be found necessary to sanction.

8. Applications for the formation of volunteer reserves will be submitted for the orders of the local Government or Administration. If a separate corps be formed, the designation of such corps will be fixed by the local Government or Administration, and no corps will be permitted to assume any title or designation without such authority.

9. In the formation of volunteer reserves, care is to be taken that the ranks of the active corps are not depleted by indiscriminate recruiting. Recruiting for reserve corps will therefore be carried on under the following conditions :—

(a).—All persons who, on account of their age, the nature of their business' residence at a distance from a volunteer centre, or other cause, cannot join an active corps, may be enrolled in the reserve. A liberal interpretation should be put by commanding officers on this rule.

(b).—No member of an active volunteer corps shall be transferred to the reserve without the permission of the officer commanding the active corps, unless the member has attained the age of 35 years and is an efficient volunteer.

(c).—The sanction of the officer commanding the active volunteer corps to which the reserves are attached will be necessary before a candidate is enrolled in the reserve, unless the candidate has attained the age of 35 years, when such permission shall not be required.

(d).—No candidate will be admitted into the reserve without the sanction of the officer commanding the reserve corps.

(e).—Applications for the sanction of the officer commanding the active corps for the enrolment of a candidate in the reserve must be made in the form given in Appendix A.

10. Prior to enrolment in the reserves, it should be made clear to the applicant that his obligations will be as follows, and he will be required to sign a declaration in the form given in Appendix B :—

1st.—The maintenance in good order and at all times in readiness for service (if in his possession) of rifle, ammunition, accoutrements, and uniform (if any).

2nd.—The wearing of uniform only when on duty, and in compliance with regimental orders.

3rd.—Attendance in uniform, fully accoutred, whenever summoned by competent authority, save when prevented by duty to employer, sickness, or other unavoidable cause.

4th.—Attendance at muster, inspection parade, and drill, such attendances being limited to seven in the year in all.

5th.—Completion of the annual musketry course prescribed for reservists (para. 40).

6th.—Delivery of arms, ammunition, and uniform in good order (reasonable wear excepted) to the authority appointed to receive them on leaving the district or resigning his membership.

7th.—To notify to the regimental authorities all changes of residence.

11. All persons enrolled as members of the volunteer reserves shall be subject to the provisions of Act XX of 1869,* and to such orders in accordance therewith, or not opposed thereto, as may from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor-General in Council.

* Appendix A.

12. Where reservists are attached to active volunteer corps, they will not be formed into separate corps, but will be formed either into companies, sections, &c., to be called reserve companies of the corps to which they are attached, or they may be simply attached to the various companies. Where, however, the reservists are not attached to existing active corps, but form corps by themselves, the corps will be divided into companies, half-companies, and sections, according to postal or municipal districts, according to their place of residence or place of employment, as they may elect.

13. No person shall be enrolled in a reserve volunteer corps who has been dismissed from any volunteer or reserve corps under the provisions of section 18 or 20 of Act XX of 1869.

14. If a person, who has been enrolled as a reservist because his residence was remote from a volunteering centre, changes his residence to a place which is, or is near to, a volunteering centre, he shall be invited to join the active volunteer corps and shall not be permitted to remain a reservist, unless he shows good and sufficient reasons why he cannot join the active corps.

15. A person who is already a member of a volunteer reserve corps is ineligible for enrolment in any other reserve corps until struck off the strength of the corps to which he belonged. Reservists temporarily absent from their own corps may be attached to any other.

SECTION II.

Establishments.

16. Officers of volunteer reserves will be appointed by the local Governments or Administrations, and their appointments and promotions will be notified in the local gazettes. Commandants and field officers will be selected by the local Government or Administration, all other officers being elected by the reservists and approved by the local Government or Administration. Officers will be granted commissions by the local Government. Only one commission will be issued to an officer of the volunteer reserve on first appointment, and any promotions he may subsequently receive will be notified in the local gazette, and he will be entitled by virtue of his commission to hold and exercise the rank to which he has been so promoted.

17. Officers who have held commissions of a lower grade in the army or volunteer force may be promoted, on joining the reserves, to a higher grade.

18. Every officer appointed to a commission as subaltern, captain, or field officer in the volunteer reserve, or promoted under rule 17 to be a captain or field officer in the reserve, will be required to pass, if he has not already done so, the examinations laid down in Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, "Volunteers," for the respective commissioned grades.†

† Appendix B.

19. Sections, half-companies, companies, half-battalions, and battalions of reserve volunteers will be officered in the same proportion as sections, &c., of active volunteer corps, viz., as laid down in para. 45, ‡ Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, "Volunteers."

‡ Appendix C.

20. The establishment of non-commissioned officers for reserve volunteer corps will also be in the same proportion as that laid down for active corps, viz., as in para. 45, Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX.

21. Non-commissioned officers are to be appointed, on the recommendation of officers commanding companies, by the commanding officer of the corps from among the enrolled members.

22. The adjutant of the active volunteer corps in the locality will exercise the supervision necessary for the drill and instruction of the reservists, and where the strength of the reserve corps justifies the appointments, Government will be prepared to receive applications for the services of sergeant and drill instructors for the reserve corps. The sergeant instructor so appointed will be required to perform the office work of the corps.

23. Instructors appointed to reserve corps will be subject to the rules applicable to instructors of active volunteer corps, viz., those contained in section VIII § of Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, "Volunteers."

§ Appendix D.

24. The rules contained in section V * of Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, "Volunteers," concerning officers of volunteers, will apply to officers of volunteer reserves, except when those regulations are not in accordance with the provisions of the present rules.

* Appendix E.

25. All proposed resignations of officers of reserve volunteer corps will be submitted through the usual channel to the local Government for acceptance.

SECTION III.

Arms, Ammunition, Equipment, &c.

26. Reservists will be armed with Martini-Henry rifles, and each man will be eligible to receive fifty rounds of ammunition annually gratis. Extra ammunition, up to a maximum of fifty rounds annually, may be purchased by reservists for practice or match-shooting at half price. Ninety per cent. of the empty cartridges must be returned from the last supply before a fresh supply is issued.

27. As commandants are held personally responsible by Government for the safety and effective condition of arms and accoutrements entrusted to their respective corps, no issue of either one or other is to be made by the Ordnance Department to a new corps until the name of the commandant is notified in the local gazette. Requisitions for arms and accoutrements for reservists should be made according to the procedure laid down in Article 239, Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX.

28.† Each member of the volunteer reserve will be supplied by Government with one rifle, one bayonet or sword-bayonet, and one set of brown accoutrements.

† Appendix F.

29. Arms and accoutrements will be supplied to reservists under the same rules as they are issued under to active volunteer corps.

30. The arms should be kept by reservists themselves where this can be done safely, otherwise suitable arrangements should be made by the corps for their safe custody.

31. The wearing of uniform by volunteer reservists will not be compulsory; but should the wearing of uniform be decided on, a grant of Rs. 5 will be passed for each reservist to whom uniform is supplied, on the same terms as for members of active volunteer corps. This allowance will be passed only once for each reservist.

32. A simple suit of khaki drill in the plains and of serge of the same color in the hills would appear to be the most suitable uniform for the reserves. If preferred, reservists may adopt the uniform of the active corps to which they are attached. The color and pattern of uniform of reservists must be approved by the local Government.

33. The rules contained in section XI,‡ Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, on the subject of the custody and inspection of, and the responsibility for, arms and accoutrements shall apply generally to the arms and accoutrements of volunteer reservists.

‡ Appendix F.

34. No member of a reserve corps shall take his arms, accoutrements, &c., away from the district within which he has been enrolled without special permission in writing from the commandant of the corps.

35. Every member shall keep his arms, ammunition, accoutrements, and uniform in good order and ready at all times for service. Members must deliver up their arms, ammunition, uniform, &c., when called in by competent authority.

36. Blank ammunition at the rate of ten rounds per reservist will be issued to members of reserve volunteer corps for instructional purposes; this allowance will be increased up to a maximum limit of forty rounds per man in the case of reserve battalions joining the local volunteer corps on their field days, provided a certificate is produced that the overplus was required for expenditure on field days.

SECTION IV.

Discipline.

37. The rules contained in section IX § of Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, on the subject of discipline of active volunteer corps, will apply to reserve corps of volunteers.

§ Appendix G.

38. The rules regarding courts-martial and courts of enquiry contained in section X ‖ of Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, will be also applicable to corps of reserve volunteers and reservists.

‖ Appendix H.

SECTION V.

Drill and Musketry

39. A knowledge of drill, other than such knowledge as is necessary to enable a reservist to qualify under the musketry course (vide para. 40), shall not be required of a reserve volunteer in order that he may obtain a certificate of efficiency, but commandants should encourage reservists to acquire a knowledge of drill, and should afford them such facilities as are possible of practising drill.

40. Towards qualifying as an efficient for the season, a reservist must execute the following musketry course:—

Yards.	Rounds.	Position.	Target.	Hits.
100	5	Standing	4 feet square ...	3
200	5	Kneeling	Do. ...	3
300	5	Lying down	Do. ...	3

41. Where a reserve corps is affiliated to an active volunteer corps, the reservists, if convenient for them, will practise firing and execute their annual course of musketry at the range of the active corps, but where this is inconvenient or impracticable, reservists, whether belonging to an affiliated corps or to a corps unconnected with any active corps, will go through their firing at any suitable ground appointed by the commandant of the corps, a qualified person deputed by the commandant being responsible that the reservist fires from correct distances and at proper-sized targets made either of wood or canvas, so as to be easily moved from place to place as necessary.

42. A reservist who has qualified as an efficient for three years, according to para. 40, may be excused, if the commandant of his corps is satisfied that he is efficient, from the annual course for two years, and may be classed as efficient and be entitled to the capitation allowance, i. e., on the responsibility of the commandant he may be excused the annual course for two years, but must go through it in the sixth year of his service, and again in the ninth year of service; and so on.

43. As reserve volunteer corps may consist of persons who, on account of their residence or place of business, are obliged to live at a distance from a volunteer centre, commandants of volunteer reserve corps should endeavour to afford every opportunity to such members of their corps to execute their musketry course, &c., by deputing the sergeant instructor or any qualified person to visit any station where a sufficient number of members can be collected, and in any other way practicable.

44. When reservists use the ranges of the volunteer corps to which they are attached, they must observe the rules and regulations laid down in section XV,* Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, for observance at ranges.

* Appendix J.

SECTION VI.

Capitation.

45. Volunteer reserve corps will, at the commencement of each financial year, receive from Government an annual capitation grant of Rs. 10 for every reservist in respect to whom the commandant can certify that such reservist is acquainted with the proper method of keeping his arms, accoutrements, and ammunition in proper order; that his arms, &c., were in good order when inspected by the person appointed to do so; and that he has executed the musketry course laid down in para. 40. Reservists have no individual claim on this allowance.

SECTION VII.

Miscellaneous.

46. Rules for the guidance of volunteer reserve corps, not inconsistent with these regulations, may be drawn up by the commandant of the corps and submitted to the local Government or Administration for approval, and such rules, when approved by such Government or Administration, will be binding on the members of the corps.

47. Commandants of reserve volunteer corps will cause to be kept up carefully a roll containing the names of all the members of the corps under their command, their places of residence or business, their age, and any other particulars considered necessary ; and will also be responsible that this roll is corrected from time to time, especially when reservists change their residence (see para. 10). This roll, duly corrected, must be submitted to the local Government or Administration quarterly.

48. The rules for the submission of returns, correspondence, &c., in section XX* of Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, will be generally applicable to volunteer reserve corps.

101. In addition to the subjects detailed, all officers should also have a knowledge of the Regulations and Orders for the army as relates to the duties of a subaltern officer and with the Army Discipline Act so far as is necessary for the performance of their duties on courts-martial.

102. Boards of examination consisting of a field officer of the regular forces as president and two officers of the regular forces of rank not lower than that of captain as members, one of whom should be the adjutant of a volunteer corps, will be appointed by order of general officers commanding divisions or districts on application from officers commanding corps. When, however, difficulty is experienced in obtaining the services of officers qualified by rank to serve as members, boards may, at the discretion of the local authorities, be constituted of officers of whatever rank available. The examination will be held as a rule once a year, if possible before the inspection of a corps takes place, and at such place as will be most convenient for candidates.

103. Officers commanding corps should apply for the board of examination, so that the order for assembling the same may be issued at least one month prior to the assembly; by this means every candidate will be prepared to present himself before the board.

104. When a quartermaster or quartermaster sergeant presents himself for examination (paras. 117 and 127), a quartermaster of the regular army should, if possible, form one of the board.

105. In addition to the practical tests to which volunteer officers, who are candidates for certificates, will be subjected on parade, and by vivâ voce examination, they will be required, according to their rank, to answer in writing a few practical questions; and, in order to aid boards in conducting this part of the examination, a list of questions made suitable for rifle volunteers will be found in Appendix XV. This list is simply inserted to serve for a guide as to form and mode of arrangement, and is not intended to fetter the action or discretion of the officers of such boards, who will be at liberty to frame such questions on the subjects of examination as will in their estimation best test the intelligence and elicit the qualifications of the officers.

106. The number of questions should not exceed thirty, or an average of from six to ten questions in each subject, according to the number of subjects. As a guidance for boards of examination six marks should be assigned for each question, and the candidate who obtains three-fourths or more of the total number of marks will be considered to have answered with "clearness" and one-half but less than three-fourths with "tolerable clearness." Anything under one-half marks must be considered as bad, and will disqualify a candidate from obtaining the certificate of proficiency.

107. A competent knowledge of all the subjects is of such easy acquirement that it is believed but few, if any, officers will experience any difficulty in passing the required examination. Although a more extended knowledge of these and other military subjects is not exacted, volunteer officers of every grade are reminded in the interest of efficiency of the great importance of all acquiring as much knowledge of them as possible; and that it cannot be expected that thoroughly efficient members of an armed force will be content to serve under the orders of officers who are incapable of commanding them properly, or of aiding in establishing and upholding in their respective corps that character for efficiency which the mass of the members are striving to gain.

108. Whilst, however, it is necessary that these examinations should be so conducted as to enable the commander-in-chief and the government to form a just estimate of the capabilities and prospective usefulness of volunteer officers, it is advisable to remind examining boards that the opportunities afforded at certain localities are not such as to admit of some of the candidates for certificates attaining that high standard of efficiency to which all should aspire, and which the more favoured localities and more advantageous circumstances of others have enabled them to attain.

109. When the absence of opportunity is apparent to examining boards, and where at the same time a superior degree of natural intelligence is exhibited, coupled with an aptitude for the acquirement of knowledge and a desire on the part of those under examination to do their best, the board should record these facts in their proceedings, and, under such circumstances, exercise their discretion in granting certificates.

110. Boards are to grant the necessary certificates to officers whom they consider qualified, immediately after the conclusion of the examination.

111. In forwarding their inspection reports, general or other inspecting officers will inform the adjutant-general to what officers of the corps reported on certificates of proficiency have been granted, and report also on the qualifications of all officers who have not passed in the prescribed time (para. 90), at the same time stating whether there is any reason, in the opinion of the examining officers or officers commanding the corps, why the unpassed officer concerned should not be removed from his appointment. The statement of the officer himself, should he desire to make one, should also be forwarded with the examination report.

112. When, for obvious reasons, the examination of any volunteer officer cannot take place at the time the regular board of examination is held (para. 102), the general officer commanding the division or district will, on the application of the officer commanding the corps, assemble a special board, constituted as laid down in para. 102, to make the necessary examination, and, if qualified, grant a certificate. The result of such examination is to be at once reported to the general officer commanding, in order that the names of officers entitled to receive commissions may be sent to the Government of India or the local government concerned, as the case may be.

113. When a volunteer officer has passed his examination and received a certificate of proficiency, his name will be published in general orders by the commander-in-chief of the presidency, and the letter "p" placed after his name in the army list.

114. The following are the rules for the examination of volunteer officers in tactics :—

I.—Subalterns, captains, and field officers of volunteers may present themselves for examination in tactics before the boards which assemble on July 16th and November 1st in Bengal, and on March 1st and October 16th in Madras and Bombay.

II.—The examination for captains and field officers will be held on the basis laid down for promotion to the rank of major and for lieutenants on the basis laid down for promotion to the rank of captain (in this subject) by Appendix II of the Queen's regulations and orders for the army, 1885, but captains and field officers will still be allowed to attend the examination laid down for lieutenants in the army.

G. O. No. 160 of 1882.

III.—No officer can present himself until he has passed the examination required by paragraphs 91 to 99 of these Regulations.

IV.—The standard of qualification of candidates who attend the examination laid down for lieutenants will be ·5 for passed and ·75 for special mention ; ·5 for the examination laid down for captains.

V.—Application from officers desirous of being examined should be made to the adjutant general in India, Madras, or Bombay, through general officers commanding, at least a month before the examination takes place, and the candidate should state at what military station he wishes to be examined and enclose a certificate to show that he has passed the necessary qualifying examination as required by clause III. As a general rule, officers will attend the examination in the divisions or districts to which their regiments belong.

VI.—The names of officers who qualify will be published in G. O. C. C., and the following distinguishing letters will be inserted after their names in the quarterly army lists :—

Subalterns, captains, and field officers who pass the examination laid down for lieutenants of the army.	t
Subalterns, captains, and field officers who pass the examination laid down for lieutenants of the army and who obtain special mention.	T
Captains and field officers who pass the examination laid down for captains of the army.	(T)

115. The commanding officer will submit to the local government the name of the candidate whom he desires to recommend for the appointment of quartermaster.

116. In preparing for examination, a quartermaster will study the duties of quartermasters as given in the Queen's regulations and orders for the army, in so far as they are applicable to volunteers, and also the rules laid down in the volunteer regulations as to the supply of arms, ammunition, and camp equipment, and the mode of keeping equipment accounts.

117. A quartermaster who has not served as quartermaster for one year in the regular forces will be required, at or before the second inspection of his corps after his appointment, to be examined for a certificate of proficiency in the following subjects :—

(a) The mode of drawing and issuing ammunition, arms, forage, and rations

(b) The system of packing and loading baggage so as to facilitate its issue at the end of a march.

(c) The mode of drawing and issuing camp equipage.

(d) Making out returns and keeping the books relative to the above.

The certificate will be made out on form Appendix XIV.

118. If a quartermaster fails, he will be examined again in six months, or at the next inspection of his corps, and, in the event of a second failure, will be required to resign his appointment.

APPENDIX D.

SERGEANT AND DRILL INSTRUCTORS.

149. Sergeant and drill instructors selected from the British army are authorised for volunteer corps in the proportion of one sergeant instructor to each corps consisting of one troop or company, and a drill instructor for every two additional troops or companies.

150. All applications for the appointment of sergeant instructors to volunteer corps should be forwarded through general officers commanding divisions or districts to the adjutant general in India, Madras, or Bombay, as the case may be.

151. Applications for sergeant and drill instructors, in addition to the sanctioned establishment, will be considered on their own merits. In applying for sergeant instructors, commandants should state exactly the class of instructor which they require, showing the necessity for an instructor of the 1st class.

155. They will be subject, as regards discipline, to the authority of the commanding officer and adjutant only, but it will nevertheless be the duty of any volunteer officer who may discover neglect or irregularity on their part to bring the same to the notice of the commanding officer.

156. When an officer commanding an administrative battalion finds it necessary to report any irregularity of conduct which has been brought to his notice by the adjutant, his report will be accompanied by a statement from the officer commanding the corps to which the sergeant instructor is posted in regard to the man's general character and usefulness.

157. In the event of an instructor being guilty of an offence of a sufficiently grave nature to induce his commanding officer to submit the case to superior authority, a report of the circumstances will be made forthwith to the general officer commanding the division or district, who will at his discretion dispose of the case, or report it to the adjutant general. The instructor will be kept in arrest until orders are received as to his disposal.

158. Whenever circumstances may arise rendering it necessary to try an instructor by court-martial, the commanding officer will make application to the general officer commanding the division or district in regard to the assembly of the court.

159. A record will be kept of all offences which may be proved against an instructor, after due investigation by his commanding officer. Every entry will be in the handwriting of the officer in command of the corps to which the sergeant is attached. In the case of an administrative battalion, the record of offences of instructors will be open at all times to the inspection of the adjutant and the officer commanding.

161. There are two classes of sergeant instructors—

1st.—Those who on account of distance cannot live in the barracks of British troops, or whose duties require their constant presence at the head-quarters of their corps, which is not within a military cantonment.

2nd.—Those who can live in barracks and benefit by all the advantage thereof as other soldiers. These men, though only employed with the volunteer corps to which attached, will be subject, as regards barrack discipline, to the officer commanding the regiment or battery in the barracks of which they reside.

163. Volunteer corps that have a strength of not less than 240 efficient members are entitled to a sergeant-major, who will receive extra duty pay as laid down in Army Regulations, India, Volume I.

164. Corporals and privates, when appointed instructors to volunteer corps, will be given the honorary rank of sergeant, but, during their probation, will receive pay of their regimental rank only, with the allowances of a first or second class sergeant instructor, as the case may be. At the end of the year of probation, they will, if confirmed, be placed on the unattached list, and permanently promoted to the rank of sergeant.

1165. Sergeant instructors of the first class who cannot live in barracks are entitled to pubic quarters, class A, or compensation in lieu. If quarters of a better description than those to which they are entitled are provided by the corps, any extra cost that may thereby be incurred must be defrayed from regimental funds.

166. When no accommodation is provided, the amount payable as compensation to sergeant instructors is Rs. 15 a month, and when inferior quarters are supplied the difference between the prescribed rate of rent and the value of the quarters is payable by the Military Works Department as compensation.

167. In the case of sergeant instructors of corps specially situated the rate is Rs. 20 a month, and applications for this higher rate are entertained only when it can be proved that no suitable public quarters are available, that house-rent is abnormally high, and that the funds of the corps are unable to bear the extra expense of paying the difference between the rate ordinarily allowed by the State and the actual amount of the rent of the quarters occupied.

167A. First class sergeant instructors will be allowed punkah coolies and tatty-watering establishments for the same period that they may be allowed to the troops in the division or district.

168. A third class to be called "Drill Instructors," not full non-commissioned officers, who will not be transferred to the unattached list, to be selected by commanding officers of British regiments, will be employed by volunteer corps located at the same stations as British troops, during the drill season, to complete their authorised complement of instructors. This class will always reside in barracks, and receive, in addition to all regimental pay and allowances, staff allowance as laid down in Army Regulations, India, Volume I, for six months in the year, the period during which their services can be required.

169. Sergeant instructors performing the duties of storekeepers to their corps, in addition to their other duties, will at the discretion of the commanding officer receive an extra allowance of Rs. 10 per mensem, to be charged against the capitation fund of the corps.

170. Sergeants of the second class desirous of serving in the first class and being well reported on will be so appointed in preference to all others, and soldiers serving as drill instructors of volunteers, who perform these duties satisfactorily and are recommended by their commanding officers, will be considered available for appointment as volunteer sergeant instructors on the unattached list, provided they are reported to be qualified for all the duties of that appointment.

172.* Sergeant instructors will, on parade, rank as senior to all volunteer non-commissioned officers.

173. Honorary surgeons of volunteer corps will be required to give gratuitous attendance to sergeant instructors of volunteers and their families residing at the same place, when called upon.

174. When there is no honorary surgeon, the sergeant instructors and their families will be attended by the civil or military medical officer at the station.

175. At stations where there are neither honorary surgeons of volunteers nor government medical officers, government will bear the charge for any non-official medical aid that may be available, according to the usual scale prevailing, e.g., in the case of sergeant instructors of East Indian Railway volunteers at 2 per cent. of salaries for the families.

176. In railway volunteer corps, the railway medical officers will continue to afford gratuitous attendance to sergeant instructors according to existing rules, the allowance mentioned in the foregoing para. being for medical attendance on their families when the railway medical officer is not also an honorary surgeon of the corps.

178.* First class sergeant instructors will be placed for pension in class II, article 1032, of the Royal Warrant of the 10th June 1884; sergeant-majors of volunteers will be placed in class I under the conditions applicable to sergeant-majors of volunteers in England.

179. Sergeant instructors must be in possession of a certificate from a school of musketry. If one is appointed without possessing this certificate, he will be considered on probation until he has obtained it.

180. They must also be certified to be able to execute such minor repairs as the replacing of any part of a rifle with a finished similar interchangeable part.

181. They must be capable of stripping, cleaning, examining, and oiling rifles, and of instructing members of the corps in the best mode of cleaning, oiling, and taking care of their arms and accoutrements.

182. For this purpose sergeant instructors who have not already been trained at an arsenal will, on the application of the officer commanding the volunteer corps concerned, and when their services can best be spared, be sent at the public expense, under divisional arrangements, to the arsenal on which dependent.

* In numbering the paragraphs 171 and 177 were inadvertently omitted.

183. They are required to examine thoroughly every arm in possession of the corps once every three months, and to record its condition and to take out and strip the blocks and oil them.

184. They must also at least once a year remove the barrels and apply between stock and barrel a composition of bees' wax and Rangoon oil to prevent rust accumulating, and are to execute such minor repairs to the arms for which tools and materials are in possession.

185. They must be present at the yearly examinations of arms by the government viewer and deputy assistant adjutant general for musketry, and must attend to such instructions as they may then receive.

186. They must be thoroughly conversant with the requirements of the "Instructions for the guidance of sergeant instructors of volunteers in regard to the care, inspection, &c. of the Martini-Henri rifle."

187. To enable them to perform the duties devolved on them in connection with minor repairs to, and cleaning of, arms, they will be supplied with the tools, &c., specified in Appendix XVIII.

188. They must be qualified to instruct in squad and company drill in extended order as laid down in part III of the Field Exercise, and in the manual, bayonet and firing exercises and blank firing.

189. They will be required to assist the adjutant to keep the accounts of the corps, to prepare all returns of every description for the commanding officer's signature, to aid to the best of their ability in conducting the correspondence of the corps, to take charge of arms, ammunition, and stores of every description, whether belonging to government or to the corps. They must perform the duties of instructor in every sense, and, under the orders of the commanding officer and adjutant, execute such other military duties as may be delegated to them. These duties, however, are to be such as usually devolve on a non-commissioned officer.

190. In corps where a paid adjutant from the army is not sanctioned, the sergeant instructor will, under the orders of the commanding officer, be held responsible that the musketry training of the corps is correctly carried out in every particular. He will also, as far as he may be found capable of efficiently doing so, be held responsible that all official correspondence is conducted in accordance with the regulations, and also for the punctual and accurate preparation and despatch of all enjoined reports and returns.

191. It is of great importance that they should, whenever possible, be quartered in the same building as the armoury or rendezvous of the corps, or as near as possible, in order that every member of the corps may know where to find them, and that they may always be at hand promptly to supply spare arms and ammunition, when required, either on emergency or for ordinary purposes.

192. Although sergeant instructors are required to keep the accounts, they are not to be employed in the collection, custody, or disbursement of funds, or any other moneys belonging to the corps, on any account whatever.

193. Second class sergeant instructors and drill instructors employed with volunteer corps, residing in barracks, are in all matters of discipline, attendance at church and staff parades, &c., subject to the orders of the officer commanding the corps in whose barracks they are residing.

194. Drill instructors are liable to be ordered to execute the annual course of musketry instruction with the regiment to which they are attached for barrack accommodation &c., as well as to receive and duly comply with all orders conveyed to them from the officer commanding their own regiments.

195. When sergeant instructors proceed to out-stations on duty under the orders of their commanding officers to a distance over five miles, their bonâ fide travelling expenses will be defrayed by government on certificates signed by the adjutant or commanding officer.

196. When detached on duty from their head-quarters for a time exceeding one day, they will, if not provided with quarters, receive from government an extra allowance of Rs. 2 for every night spent away from their homes, and when provided with quarters one rupee for every such night, to be vouched for by the diary given in Appendix XXX. This diary must be kept up to date by sergeant instructors, and should be frequently inspected by the officer commanding the company and by the adjutant at his visit.

197. As the services of sergeant instructors should at all times be available, they will not be allowed to follow any other profession, or hold any other appointment, public or private.

198. Sergeant instructors of mounted volunteers, cavalry or infantry, will be provided with a government horse, saddlery, and equipments. The horse will be furnished by the nearest battery of horse or field artillery or British cavalry regiment, and passed before transfer by a committee consisting of a field officer of the mounted service, a riding-master, when available, and a veterinary surgeon, as suitable for the purpose required by a staff sergeant. The horse, though returned on the battery or regimental rolls, will be considered supernumerary, and the necessary clothing, forage, attendants, shoeing, &c., &c., will be furnished by the commissariat department, the saddlery by the ordnance.

199. The officer commanding the mounted corps concerned will be responsible that the horse is properly cared for.

APPENDIX E.

OFFICERS.

62. Certain corps are specially allowed the services of a paid commandant. Either an available military officer in civil employ—the duties to be in addition to those of a departmental nature—a retired, an unemployed, or a purely volunteer, officer may be so appointed.

63. Commandants and field officers of corps in the Bengal presidency other than those under the direct orders of the government of India, who will be appointed direct, will be appointed by local governments or administrations with the approval of the government of India. In the case of corps under the orders of the commander-in-chief in India, and unconnected with any local government, commandants and field officers will be nominated by his excellency, and general officers commanding will, on the occurrence of a vacancy, report the fact to army head-quarters, with their recommendations, in view to steps being taken for filling up the appointment. All other officers in other than railway corps must be elected by the members, and, when approved by the local government or administration, or in the case of corps under the direct orders of the government of India by the government of India, will be granted commissions.

63A. The tables in paragraph 45 contain the authorised establishment of the different branches of the volunteer forces in India.

64. In railway volunteer corps, officers for the commissioned grades will be nominated by the officer commanding, and their names submitted for approval, as in preceding paragraph, it being understood that selections will only be made from members of the corps.

67. The commissions of all volunteer officers are exempt from stamp duty.

68. Only one commission will be issued to a volunteer officer on first appointment, and any promotions he may subsequently receive will be notified in the Gazette of India or the gazette of the presidency to which his corps belongs, and he will be entitled by virtue of his commission to hold and exercise the rank to which he has been so appointed.

69. Promotion to field rank in the volunteer force cannot always be made according to seniority, but in the interests of corps it may be necessary to promote or appoint officers who are not next in seniority, or who have not served in the lower ranks. The discretion of commanding officers must, therefore, be exercised in submitting the names of fit and proper persons.

70. When recommending a promotion or appointment by which any officer will be superseded, the commanding officer will state in writing the circumstances which have induced him to do so.

71. In the case of an administrative battalion with a duly appointed administrative commandant, the names of all officers of each corps forming the battalion, who may be recommended for promotion or appointment, will be submitted through the administrative commandant, who in forwarding them will state whether he concurs in the recommendation, and should he dissent from it, will give his reasons in writing for so doing.

72. When a corps consists of a troop or company, and is not under the command of a field officer, the senior officer is, on the recommendation of the local government, permitted to bear the designation of commandant, but this title does not confer any additional rank.

74. No officer of the army, unless he may be on retired full pay, half pay, doing general duty, in civil employment, or holding an appointment having no connection with purely military duty, shall be eligible for any commission in a volunteer corps. The appointments of unemployed officers, who may be elected for such commissions, must receive the special sanction of the government of India before they can be gazetted thereto.

75. In reporting to the local government or government of India the election of officers of the regular army to volunteer commissions, the nature of their employments must be stated.

76. Military officers employed in the police are ineligible for volunteer commissions.

77. Every officer, of whatever grade he may be, who accepts a commission in a volunteer corps, should remember that he thereby accepts responsibilities and contracts obligations of a most important character, and that his individual example and efforts, if rightly directed, cannot fail to have a useful influence on the discipline, general efficiency, and everything connected with the well-being of his corps. Every officer is required to possess a competent knowledge of his duties and to give a proper attendance at the drills of his corps. Should any officer be reported to government by his commanding officer for inefficiency and neglect in turning out for drill and instruction, he will be liable, after the circumstances of his case have been investigated, to forfeit his commission, and to have his name struck off the roll of the corps.

78. When volunteer officers express a desire to receive instruction from a regular regiment, general officers will take care that they are afforded the opportunity sought for, and that the necessary orders are given to the commanding officers of the regiments to which they desire to be attached. Volunteer officers will be required regularly to attend the prescribed drills and parades, and diligently to devote themselves to the acquirement of a knowledge of military duties. They are specially enjoined to acquaint themselves thoroughly with the regulated system of musketry instruction, and to be present, as much as possible, at the musketry drills and practices of the corps to which they are attached.

79. Should the command of a volunteer corps in the Bengal presidency become vacant, the name of the new commandant nominated is immediately to be reported for approval by the local government to the government of India.

80. All proposed resignations of officers are to be submitted by commanding officers for the acceptance of the government under which they are serving.

82. Officers desirous of proceeding on short leave of absence should submit their applications through the adjutant for the commanding officer's approval, who is empowered to grant such leave, including privilege leave, to the extent of three months to officers under his command without reference to higher authority.

83. Officers desirous of proceeding on lengthened leave, whether to England or elsewhere, must submit their applications through their commanding officers to the general officers commanding divisions or districts for the approval of the government under which they are serving. Those who without leave, or without having previously tendered their resignations, absent themselves for periods over three months, will be gazetted out of their corps.

84. Volunteer officers, whether paid commandants or otherwise, who proceed on leave either to England or elsewhere, will, if specially recommended, be permitted to retain their appointments for two years, but without allowances of any description. Should they not have reported their return at the conclusion of that period, their appointments will be deemed vacant, and other officers will be posted thereto. As a general rule, if in the opinion of the commanding officer the efficiency of the corps is likely to suffer from the lengthened absence of an officer, such officer must be called upon to resign. These rules do not apply to privilege leave during which the usual allowances may be drawn, neither do they refer to officers of the regular army filling staff appointments in the volunteer force.

85. Local governments and administrations are empowered to grant lengthened leave to volunteer officers from their corps, and to make the acting appointments arising out of the grant of such leave.

86. It should be borne in mind that though an officer may be appointed to officiate in a higher appointment, he cannot be appointed to officiate in a higher military rank.

87. Officiating and temporary appointments may be published in local gazettes, but ordinarily they will not be published in the Gazette of India except in the case of corps directly under the orders of the government of India.

88. The next senior volunteer officer assumes command of a corps during the absence of the commandant.

89. The appointment of honorary officers will be permitted, if recommended by commanding officers to the government or administration under whose orders the corps concerned is serving, and such appointments may embrace officers of the regular army or navy.

121. In the event of a volunteer officer of not less than three years' service who has passed all his examinations being moved from one station to another by the government under which he is serving, and thereby being obliged to resign his position in the corps to which he belonged at the time of his transfer, he may be brought on the strength of a volunteer corps at his new station as a supernumerary in the rank which he held in his former regiment with the concurrence of the officers and men of the new corps. He will be brought permanently on the strength of his new corps on the occurrence of a vacancy.

122A. A step of honorary rank may be granted whilst serving to a lieutenant-colonel or major of volunteers who has served a period of 20 years as a commissioned officer in the army, royal navy, royal marines or the volunteer forces, and to a captain of volunteers who has served a period of 15 years in the army, royal navy, royal marines or the volunteer forces.

The rank will be purely honorary and will not confer the right of any higher command than that to which the holder may be entitled by virtue of his substantive commission. Officers may wear the distinctive badges of their honorary rank, but an honorary major will not wear the scabbard and spurs of a field officer on parade or military duty, except when he is performing the duties of a field officer. No second step of honorary rank will in any case be given upon the same substantive commission either whilst an officer is still serving or upon retirement.

122B. Subaltern officers will not be granted a step of honorary rank while serving.

123. A volunteer officer retiring after 15 years' volunteer service, 10 of which have been as commissioned officer and 3 in the rank he held on retirement, will be permitted to retain his rank and wear the uniform of his corps on the recommendation of the commander-in-chief or government or administration under which the corps is serving.

124. A step of honorary rank with permission to wear the uniform of his corps will be granted to a lieutenant-colonel or major on retirement after 20 years' service as commissioned officer in the army, royal navy, royal marines or volunteer forces, and to a captain or lieutenant on retirement after 15 years of such service on the recommendation of the commandant of his corps supported by the commander-in-chief or government or administration under which the corps is serving.

124A. Quartermasters of volunteer corps in India will be granted the honorary rank of captain, either while serving or on retirement, after the completion of 15 years' commissioned service in the army, royal navy, royal marines, or the auxiliary forces, if recommended by the commander-in-chief of the presidency or, in the case of volunteer corps serving under the orders of local governments, by the local government.

124B. Service on half pay will not count, but two years' service in the ranks of the regular forces, or five years' service in the ranks of the auxiliary forces, will be allowed to reckon as one year of commissioned rank with reference to the periods or service specified in paragraph 122A, 123, 124 and 124A. A detailed statement of an officer's service should be submitted in each case. Under no circumstances will the reckoning of service in the ranks give directly or indirectly any claim to extra pay or pension.

APPENDIX F.

ARMS, EQUIPMENTS AND ACCOUTREMENTS.

229. Volunteer corps will be supplied by government with one rifle, bayonet, or sword, bayonet, and one set of black, brown, or buff leather accoutrements of army pattern for each enrolled and honorary member, and also for each cadet capable of bearing arms.

231. Mounted corps will be in like manner supplied with swords and cavalry carbines or lances and pistols, as may be required according to their constitution, and, when necessity is shown, with saddlery; but the use by gentlemen forming volunteer mounted corps of the saddles to which they are accustomed is recommended.

232. Lists of accoutrements and saddlery sanctioned for corps of volunteer cavalry using government saddles, and corps of volunteer mounted infantry using private saddlery are laid down for guidance in Appendix XVII.

233. When corps prefer to use their own saddlery or accoutrements, or desire to procure such articles for themselves, compensation will, if desired, be granted on the understanding that the articles for which the money is drawn shall be considered and accounted for as the property of the State, and that each article shall be expected to last the prescribed period of wear. Bills for compensation will be submitted to the inspector general of ordnance who, if he sanctions the claim preferred, will transfer them to the examiner, ordnance accounts, for disposal.

234. The rules regarding the rendering of requisitions for arms and accoutrements, &c., will be found in Army Regulations, India, Volume III, part I, section II, paras. 44 to 80. Forms of requisitions may be obtained free of cost on application to the inspector general of ordnance, who will sanction the issue of such forms as he may consider necessary and direct their supply by the contractor for printing government stock forms. A list of the forms of requisition and voucher employed in demanding stores from the ordnance department as well as other ordnance forms required by volunteer corps is given in Appendix XX.

235. The rules regarding the procedure to be observed when a change takes place in the command of a volunteer corps will be found in Army Regulations, India, Volume III, part I, paras. 10, 11, and 16 to 23. In the event of the necessity of a board being assembled by order of the general officer commanding the division or district, under paras. 19 and 20 of above regulations, such board may consist of members of the volunteer corps, of which a field officer if possible should be president, and the adjutant one of the members.

236. The commanding officer of a volunteer corps is responsible to government for all the stores which are supplied from the public stores for the use of the corps. The officer commanding an administrative battalion is responsible for the equipment of the corps under his command, in the same way as officers in command of regiments of the regular forces; the several commanding officers of corps being responsible to him for the proper custody and protection of the arms and stores entrusted to their care, and being liable to make good any loss by damage or deficiencies.

236A.—The following rules will be observed for the repair of saddlery in possession of mounted volunteers :—

I.—Corps stationed on the line of rail will send their saddlery for repair to the nearest arsenal, or to the harness and saddlery factory, Cawnpore, as the case may be.

II.—Corps off the line of rail will demand materials for the repair of their saddlery from the arsenal of supply on which they are dependent, at the same time stating generally the nature and extent of the repairs deemed necessary; such demands will be made in accordance with paras. 61 and 67, Army Regulations, India, Vol. III, Equipment.

III.—Corps in possession of non-regulation pattern of saddlery will carry out repairs under private arrangements, and recover the expenses incurred on contingent bills, which should be submitted for pre-audit to the examiner of ordnance accounts, accompanied by the necessary vouchers, such as tradesmen's bills, prices-current, &c.

The revised rules published with India Army Circulars, clause 189 of 1886, for the grant of capitation allowance to volunteer corps, are hereby incorporated in Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, Volunteers, section XVIII, as para. 445, (a), clauses I and II.

NOTE.—These rules will apply to all corps formed after the 1st November 1885.

237. Officers commanding administrative battalions or corps of volunteers will make or cause to be made for their information frequent inspections of the whole of the equipment of the men under their command, and when any defects are discovered therein they will at once see that they are remedied.

237 A. Should any of the arms in possession of the corps be lost or stolen, an immediate report is to be made to the general officer commanding, who will deal with the case in the usual manner.

238. Officers on assuming command will, except in the case of the absence on leave of the senior officer, ascertain, either by personal inspection or by the inspection of officers acting under their authority, the actual state of the equipment given over, satisfying themselves that the articles agree in condition and quantity with those recorded in the equipment ledgers. They will further satisfy themselves that all the equipment is properly appropriated, that it is in a thoroughly serviceable condition and complete in all details, that it is under proper protection, and in all respects in accordance with the regulations for the volunteer force.

239. In the event of complaints being made by volunteers of the state of the stores issued for their use, commanding officers and adjutants of corps and administrative battalions will carefully test such stores before forwarding any complaint, and the result of their examination, if unfavourable to the stores, will be reported to the adjutant general through the proper channel. Commanding officers of volunteer corps forming part of the administrative battalions will be careful to forward any such complaints which they may have to make through the appointed commandant of the administrative battalion.

240. When articles of equipment are issued to replace any which may have become unserviceable, application should at once be made to the inspector general of ordnance for orders regarding the disposal of the articles that have been replaced.

241. Commanding officers and other persons having charge of stores are responsible that they are duly accounted for; it is therefore necessary for them to obtain and produce receipts for all articles returned into store or paid for.

242. Members on permanently quitting their corps must return their arms and accoutrements to the corps, armoury or store. They are not privileged to hand them over to another member. They should obtain receipts for such arms, &c., from the sergeant instructor or other store-keeper.

243. Members proceeding on a temporary absence to a station where there is another volunteer corps to which they desire to attach themselves may, on the responsibility of their commanding officer, take their arms and accoutrements with them. On such occasions their arms should be inspected at their corps armoury both on departure and return, and receipts or certificates of liability given and returned. Arms and accoutrements thus taken will continue to be borne on the equipment ledger of the corps they were, in the first instance, issued to.

244. As a rule, but subject to the existing regulations in corps, members will be entrusted with the care of their own arms and accoutrements, and they will be kept at their own residences. Should a member, however, be found careless about his arms, &c., he will be instructed to deposit them in the armoury after each parade or drill. Spare arms and accoutrements will also be stored there.

245. The arms in possession of members should, if not seen on parade, be called into the armoury quarterly for inspection by the commanding officer, or by an officer deputed by him for that duty. This inspection will be in addition to the prescribed quarterly examination by the sergeant instructor (para. 183). In the event of a bad report on the arms of a volunteer corps, they will be subjected to monthly inspection for such period as the commanding officer may think fit. In corps where the arms are habitually kept in the armouries, this inspection should be periodically made by the commandant and the adjutant respectively.

246. Corps will be held responsible for the value of arms injured by wilful damage or neglect, and the capitation grant will be withheld from any volunteer whose rifle and accoutrements may be found in a dirty or neglected state at the inspection of the corps. Inspecting officers are requested to give their special attention to this point.

247. The arms belonging to the volunteer corps sent to arsenals or regiments for the purpose of being browned or repaired having in many instances been found to have been tampered with, a copy, in large characters, of the instructions contained in the following paragraph will be affixed to the door of all armouries, drill-sheds, and orderly-rooms.

248. Volunteers must not under any circumstances tamper with their rifles, and any which on inspection may be found to have had their actions or other parts improperly altered will be repaired at the expense of the volunteer concerned; the offender will also have the privilege of retaining custody of his rifle withdrawn from him.

249. Volunteers cannot be too strongly impressed with the necessity for taking care of their arms. They should be reminded that the barrel of a rifle is so delicately finished that rust, if allowed to accumulate inside, must destroy the integrity of the groove, and consequently impair the accuracy of the weapon.

250. All instructions relative to the repair and browning of arms and to the proportion of spare parts provided to meet necessary repairs are laid down in Army Regulations, India, Volume III, Part 1, paras. 575 to 582, and pages 124 to 133, and Appendix XXXI of same. When arms to be repaired or browned are forwarded to either an arsenal or to the armourer sergeant of a British regiment, an invoice and instructions as per Appendix XIX of Volume IX should be sent at the same time.

251. The civil chief master armourers will in their tours of inspection examine and report on the arms of every volunteer corps. These reports will be furnished in duplicate to officers commanding corps, who will forward one copy to inspecting officers with the other inspection returns. The latter will notice in their report the steps that have been taken to remedy the defects brought to notice.

252. When the civil chief master armourer finds arms injured from neglect or unfair usage, and the repairs and replacement are chargeable against the corps, he will particularise the cases of neglect or unfair usage in the above report. The other copy of this report will be sent at once to the inspector general of ordnance, together with the necessary requisition, with such remarks thereon as the commanding officer may choose to make. In the event of an objection to the report of the civil chief master armourer, the arms in question will be sent without delay to the nearest arsenal, where, if the correctness of the report is confirmed, the expense of carriage will be charged against the corps.

253. In reporting on the state of the arms, the civil chief master armourer will also particularise the minor repairs effected by the sergeant instructor, and express an opinion as to the mode in which they have been executed He will also state generally his opinion as to how the sergeant instructor has performed his duties in this respect.

254. Revolvers and pistols are not authorised for volunteer corps, neither are sergeant instructors to receive revolvers.

255. Officers belonging to volunteer corps, the commanding officer of which is in direct account with the examiner of ordnance accounts, are allowed, when the state of the reserve stock permits, to obtain rifles or carbines (of the pattern in use with the corps) and ammunition, on payment requisitions as laid down in Army Regulations, India, Volume III, Part I, paras. 78 and 271. Such arms are not saleable beyond the corps concerned; and on an officer leaving India and being unable to transfer the arm so obtained to another officer of the same corps, it will be returned to the ordnance department, and payment for it will be made according to the scale laid down in abovementioned regulations. Rifles or carbines will not be supplied to non-commissioned officers or volunteers from the public stores on payment, the arms supplied to their corps by government being considered sufficient.

256. When volunteer batteries are located at the same station with garrison batteries of royal artillery, they will make use of the stores allowed to the latter for drill purposes as well as the ordnance, &c., mounted in the fort armament.

APPENDIX G.

DISCIPLINE.

200. For administrative purposes all volunteer corps in the Bengal or Bombay presidency will be under the orders of the commander-in-chief in India or Bombay, as the case may be. Volunteer corps in the Madras presidency will be under the orders of the Madras government. Corps serving in Burmah, the Andamans, Berar, Hyderabad, Central India, Rajputana, the Central Provinces and Coorg will be under the government of India.

201. No officer of a corps forming part of an administrative battalion has any authority over the other corps of which it is composed in consequence of their administrative union; but whenever the several corps or any number of them meet together for parade, the senior officer present will assume the command.

202. When volunteers belonging to one or more corps not forming part of an administrative battalion are brought together under arms, the senior officer present will command the whole, and will be held responsible for the due maintenance of order and discipline, but he is not authorised to interfere with the arrangements in connection with the specific purpose for which the force has assembled.

203. When a commandant is appointed to an administrative battalion, he will be responsible for the supervision, &c., for each corps attached, as laid down in paras. 236, 237, 335 and 478; but the executive command of each corps will rest with its own commandant. The commandant of an administrative battalion should be consulted on all matters of importance by corps commandants.

204. If any volunteer feels himself aggrieved, he should represent his grievance to his captain, who will investigate and, if within his province, give a decision in the matter.

205. Should the volunteer be dissatisfied with his captain's decision, he is at liberty to appeal to his commanding officer, and if still dissatisfied, a further appeal through the latter to the general officer commanding the division or district, or to any officer appointed to inspect his corps, will be open to him.

206. Meetings of volunteers are not to be convened for any purpose without the authority of the commanding officer.

207. The acts of commanding officers are not to be commented on, nor are particular courses of action to be recommended for their adoption either by memorials or volunteer meetings.

208. Members of a volunteer corps are not individually or collectively to attend political meetings, or to join in political discussions or demonstrations in uniform.

209. Members of volunteer corps, including bandsmen, are not to appear in uniform for any purpose without the consent of their commanding officers.

210. Officers and non-commissioned officers of the army serving on the permanent staff of volunteer corps will not permit themselves to be complimented, either directly or indirectly, by presents or collective expressions of opinion from officers or members serving, or who have served, in the corps to which they are or have been attached.

211. When a volunteer has been dismissed from his corps by sentence of a general or other court-martial, under the provisions of clauses 18 to 20 of Act XX of 1869, or by his commanding officer, a notification of the fact with the cause of dismissal will be published in the regimental orders.

212. The commanding officer of a corps will give to any volunteer who voluntarily quits it after eight years' service as an efficient, and who has complied with the conditions specified in clause 15, Act XX of 1869, a certificate of good service on discharge on army form E. 592 when requested to do so by such volunteers. This certificate will bear the signature both of the commanding officer and of the adjutant. This army form is procurable from the contractor for printing government of India stock forms, Calcutta, on payment.

213. Non-commissioned officers and privates of volunteer corps when in uniform will salute all officers in uniform, whether belonging to the regular or volunteer forces.

335. Subject to the powers conferred upon the commanding officer of each corps, the commandant of an administrative battalion, when one is appointed, will have the general charge of the drill and instructions of the several corps under his command. He will be responsible that the system of drill is uniform and in accordance with regulations. When present at the drill or practice of any of the corps, he will invariably be in command.

478. The commandant, provided one has been duly appointed, of an administrative battalion composed of several corps (para. 33) will be the channel of all correspondence for all the different corps under his command. The capitation and inspection returns and all correspondence for submission to higher authority, of corps or companies forming part of such administrative battalion, should invariably be countersigned by him.

33. Corps in the same neighbourhood, district, or province, may, on formation, be attached to existing corps for administrative purposes.

No. 2315-B., dated Simla, 18th September 1889.

From—Colonel E. H. H. COLLEN, Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,

To—The Adjutant-General in India.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 3020-B., dated the 13th August 1889, stating that the Commander-in-Chief adheres to his former opinion that only those reservist volunteers who have at some previous time been efficient volunteers of the active force should be eligible for the grant of war medals under the conditions laid down for volunteers in India Army Circulars of 1887, clause 148. His Excellency does not think it desirable that the two classes of volunteers should be placed on the same footing, and considers that every encouragement should be given to men to join the active force, which would not be the case if the ordinary reservist were granted equal privileges in the matter of title to war medals.

2. In reply, I am to state, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief, that the Governor-General in Council, having given full consideration to His Excellency Sir Frederick Roberts' views, considers that it will, on the whole, be preferable to rule that an efficient reservist volunteer should be deemed equally eligible with an efficient volunteer of the active force for the grant of war medals under the same conditions, although he may not have been at any time previous to his joining the reserve an efficient volunteer of the active force.

3. The Government of India are especially concerned in the increase of the volunteer reserve; and although they would not willingly adopt any measure which might have the effect of encouraging men to enter that reserve without first passing through the active volunteer force, they do not apprehend that the decision now come to will have that effect. There are some men who will join the volunteer reserve direct and would in no case pass through the active volunteers, while it is not thought that the very remote chance of earning a medal would materially affect the decision of men who are doubtful. It is considered, moreover, that when once a soldier is allowed to carry a rifle and to go into action, he could not well be denied the right to wear a medal if he fairly earns it, and the Governor-General in Council considers that if the volunteer of the active force is allowed under certain conditions to receive a war medal, the volunteer of the reserve must be held equally entitled to do so, if he fulfils those conditions.

COPY forwarded, in continuation of Military Department Circular memorandum No. 207-G., dated 17th April 1889, to the Secretary to the Government of the Punjab.

APPENDIX H.

COURTS-MARTIAL AND COURTS OF ENQUIRY.

214. The mode of procedure for the assembly of courts-martial and their powers are defined in Act XX of 1869. (Appendix I.)

215. Should a volunteer decline to appear before a court-martial after being duly warned, an escort should be sent to bring him before the court, but no force should be used: should resistance be offered, his commanding officer is empowered to prosecute the offender before a magistrate under clause 21, Act XX of 1869, for resisting a member of the corps in the discharge of his duty.

216. The commanding officer of an administrative regiment or corps may also assemble a court of enquiry to investigate any matter with which he has himself the power of dealing.

217. Courts of enquiry may be assembled by order of the government of India or local governments, or, in cases coming within his own jurisdiction, by the general commanding the division or district or the officer commanding the corps.

218. When the enquiry has reference to an officer, the court must be composed of officers only, and must be convened by authority of the general officer commanding the division or district, the local government or government of India.

219. Courts of enquiry for any other purpose than the investigation of charges against or matters affecting an officer may be convened by order of the officer commanding the corps, and may consist of officers and ordinary members, or, if an officer is not available, of ordinary members only.

220. A court of enquiry is not a judicial body. It has no power to administer an oath. It is merely a means of investigation, of which the convening authority may make use in assisting at the formation of a correct conclusion on any subject in connection with which enquiry is necessary.

221. The purpose for which a court of enquiry is assembled will be clearly defined by the convening authority, and when such enquiry has reference to an individual, the instructions to the court should be so specific in regard to matter, names, dates, and places, as to indicate clearly what it is called on to investigate, and at the same time show the accused the nature of the charges he has to meet.

222. The court's duties may be limited by the convening authority to a simple investigation and record of evidence, or it may be instructed to record an opinion; but in no case is it to pronounce a judgment, or offer advice as to the course of action to be adopted by the convening authority, in reference to the facts elicited or the opinion expressed.

223. The instructions to the court should also prescribe whether it is to be open or closed. Should no such instructions be received, the court will exercise its descretion in this particular.

224. Courts of enquiry convened to investigate losses or damages to arms and equipment will be composed of officers of the corps, the adjutant if possible being a member.

225. All evidence received by a court of enquiry is to be recorded as nearly as possible in the words of the witness and in the order in which it is received.

226. The proceedings when closed are to be signed by the president and members after which they are to be forwarded by the president to the convening authority.

227. A court of enquiry may be re-assembled as often as the convening authority may deem necessary, and on each occasion of its re-assembling it may record fresh evidence.

APPENDIX J.

MUSKETRY INSTRUCTION.

375. The adjutant will be considered the musketry instructor of the corps or administrative battalion, and as such will attend class firing when the commanding officer desires it, but it is competent for a commanding officer to employ as additional instructors any officers or non-commissioned officers of the administrative battalion or corps who may be properly qualified for the duty.

376. In most corps it will be found that there are officers, non-commissioned officers, and members who are qualified and willing to make themselves useful at drills. It is expected that they should do so, and that, whenever practicable, advantage should be taken of their services.

377. No volunteer's name should be entered in any target practice registers until such time as he commences any one period, and the order the names of a company appear in the 1st period target practice registers will be the same order for the troop or company annual musketry return, and the successive numbers will be allotted accordingly.

378. The target practice registers, with some spare copies, should be bound up in a book, and this book should be taken down to the range daily, or as often as target practice goes on, so as to be ready for use if required.

379. The registers will be carefully preserved until inspected and reported on by a deputy assistant adjutant general for musketry, after which authority for their destruction will be given by him.

380. When at target practice, registers must be carefully kept by either an officer or non-commissioned officer of the corps, or by the sergeant instructor. At the end of each practice the senior officer or non-commissioned officer on the ground will vouch by his signature for the accuracy of every entry made in the register during the practice.

381. With ordinary care in making the entries in the registers, the necessity for corrections may be avoided; but when corrections are unavoidably necessary, they must be made and initialled by the senior officer on the ground or by a sergeant instructor.

382. The comparing registers with the target after the completion of a practice in the annual course is not obligatory in volunteer corps; but the officer or non-commissioned officer superintending the practice should use his discretion in comparing at unexpected periods, say once a week or oftener if found necessary, so that a useful check may be kept on the markers, and on such occasions the result should be duly recorded on the register, as laid down in the musketry regulations. When a good telescope is employed on a range, the comparing a register with the target need never be required.

384. Volunteers should be carefully exercised with blank cartridge before they are permitted to execute volley, independent, or extended order practices with balled ammunition.

386. To prevent accidents and ensure accuracy in marking, properly instructed persons, either Europeans or natives, should be employed in the markers' butts, and if possible under the superintendence of a non-commissioned officer; and when shooting is proceeding on ranges, whether in the annual course, in matches, or for private practice, proper arrangements should be made to ensure the safety of the public. These arrangements should be carried out under the orders of an officer or non-commissioned officer, one of whom should always be present at the range, and who should be held responsible that every precaution is taken to guard against accidents.

388. When volunteer corps are carrying on target practice, a bugler should be present, whenever his services can be secured, for the purpose of signalling the orders to fire or cease firing, in accordance with the musketry instructions for the army. In the event, however, of the services of a bugler not being available, instead of trusting to the voice only, a whistle of sufficient power to be heard at the longer ranges, such as a "pilot" or "railway" whistle, should be used to attract the attention of the marker.

389. Members temporarily absent from their corps, and who execute their target practice with another corps, should have their names and performances recorded in the troop or company annual target practice return on receipt of the latter from the corps in which they were executed, and the registers should be sent with the other documents as laid down in paragraph 438.

393. Should any want of accuracy or any non-conformity with the spirit of the regulations be discovered in the practice registers, the volunteers whose names appear therein will be disqualified for the distinguishing good shooting badges and capitation grants.

394. The great advantages to volunteers of instruction in judging distance drill and practice in the neighbourhood of their station should be borne in mind; and although the execution of this practice is not required to qualify a volunteer for the capitation or extra capitation grant, attention should be given to it whenever convenient.

395. Volunteer corps, whether artillery, cavalry, or infantry, may use the ranges and targets of regular troops when not required by the latter, subject to the approval of the general officer commanding and under such arrangements as he may prescribe. It is, however, desirable that each volunteer corps should have a separate range for the use of its members.

396. When ranges of regular regiments cannot be made available, officers commanding volunteer corps, or detachments consisting of not less than twenty members, will make arrangements for procuring sites for themselves, and constructing butts thereon at the expense of the corps.

APPENDIX K.

RETURNS, CORRESPONDENCE, &c.

477. Every official document transmitted by volunteer corps must be approved and signed by the commanding officer.

478. The commandant, provided one has been duly appointed, of an administrative battalion composed of several corps (para. 33) will be the channel of all correspondence for all the different corps under his command. The capitation and inspection returns and all correspondence for submission to higher authority, of corps or companies forming part of such administrative battalion, should invariably be countersigned by him.

479. 480. General officers commanding will refer such matters as require the orders of government to the head of the local government or administration, except in the case of corps under the direct orders of the government of India, when they will refer to the government of India through army head-quarters.

481. As a guidance for general officers commanding, correspondence on the following subjects should be referred to the local governments or administrations or to the government of India (as the case may be):—

482. Communications addressed to the commanding officer and marked "confidential" on the outside of the cover will not be opened by any member of the permanent staff, but will be sent to the private address of the commanding officer.

483. Official letters will contain full information of all particulars upon the subject to which they relate, and will be headed thus:—

From

484. Each letter will refer to one subject only, and in administrative regiments the correspondence relating to the appointment or promotion of officers of more than one corps must not be included in the same letter.

485. The paragraphs should be numbered, and the enclosures, if any, described in the margin or in a separate schedule. As a general rule, short letters may be written on a half sheet, but when the communication extends beyond one page or is accompanied by enclosures, it should be written on a whole sheet; the transmission of unnecessary enclosures should be avoided, and when additional papers are forwarded, all blank fly-leaves should be removed from them.

486. The rank and authorised designation of the officers of corps will in all cases be added after their signatures. When a communication has reference to previous correspondence, the number, date, purport, and heading of the former papers will be quoted.

487. Communications intended for submission to government will be written on foolscap paper, with the purport heading entered on the upper left corner of the letter.

488. Any letter addressed by superior authority will (unless directions to the contrary be contained in it) be retained and filed by the officer to whom it is addressed, and any reply necessary will form the subject of another letter.

When the late assignee was not recorded in the record of rights as owner of the land of which the revenue has been resumed, the Collector shall nevertheless consider whether his occupation of the land, or enjoyment of the land, or of the rents thereof, has been as a matter of fact such as to entitle him or his heir to be made liable for the land revenue, and, if so, he shall make him or his heir liable for the same for the term of the settlement.

RULES UNDER SECTION 64 (1) REGARDING THE RECOVERY OF ARREARS OF LAND REVENUE.

RESOLUTION.—In the circular letter quoted at the head of the preamble Local Governments, Heads of Departments, and Account Officers were consulted as to the expediency of making certain alterations in the system of granting remittance transfer receipts, which, for the purposes of the proposals made in that letter by the Government of India, were, in the lists appended to it, divided into three classes A., B., and C. These classes were as follows :—

Class A.—Those in which it was proposed that the system should be maintained.

Class B.—Those in which remittance transfer receipts should be granted only for amounts in excess of Rs. 150.

Class C.—Those in which the privilege should be entirely withdrawn.

2. It was observed that while, as a general rule, the retention of the system is desirable in the case of bonâ fide remittances on public account, on the other hand privileged remittances for private purposes might, in many cases, be entirely withdrawn, and should not be maintained at all for small remittances, for which the money order system is more convenient both to Government and to the payee, who can, under this system, have the money brought to his door instead of having to attend a distant treasury.

3. There is a consensus of opinion among the Governments and officers consulted that these proposals can generally be adopted without inconvenience; but various suggestions have been made for the inclusion of additional cases under classes A. and B., and for the withdrawal of the privilege of remittance by transfer receipt in cases other than those originally entered under class C.

4. The Accountant-General, Bombay, also suggested that a fourth class might be added, in which the minimum limit of the remittance should be Rs. 600. As, however, the restriction, by which not more than Rs. 600 could be remitted by money order in one day, has been withdrawn under the orders in this Department conveyed to the Director-General of the Post Office of India in letter No. 1385, dated the 18th March 1889, the reasons for this suggestion no longer exist and its adoption is unnecessary.

5. After careful consideration of the replies received to the circular, and of the suggestions referred to in the preceding paragraphs, the Governor-General in Council is now pleased, in supersession of all previous orders upon the subject, to direct that in future remittance transfer receipts shall be granted only in the cases and with the limitations stated in the schedules A. and B. annexed. Schedule C. gives the cases in which the privilege, heretofore enjoyed, has been withdrawn.

6. The lists are not yet final, and in a few cases retained in tables A. and B. it is possible that the privilege may be eventually withdrawn. The question has, however, been under consideration for a long time, and it is inexpedient to delay the issue of orders until a decision is arrived at in the few remaining doubtful cases.

ORDERED, that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the several Departments of the Government of India, all Local Governments and Administrations, Heads of Departments, the Comptroller and Auditor-General, the several Accountants-General and Comptrollers for information and guidance.

Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, in the Home (General) Department,

No. 541, dated 28th April 1890.

READ—

The Returns showing the results of measures adopted in the Punjab during the year 1889 for the destruction of wild animals and venomous snakes.

REMARKS.—During the year 1889, 915 persons died from snake-bite, while 31 were killed by wild animals; and 886 head of cattle are stated to have been destroyed by wild animals, and 87 by snakes. During the same period 2,938 wild animals and 68,501 snakes were destroyed, Rs. 6,126-5-0 being paid as rewards on the former account, and Rs. 8,231-10-6 on the latter.

2. The human mortality caused by wild beasts and snakes has not varied greatly in this Province during the past four years, the number of deaths which occurred in this period being 984 in 1886, and 915, 1,016 and 946 respectively in the three succeeding years. In the numbers of cattle killed the returns show wider differences, namely, 2,892 in 1886, 2,205 in 1887, 1,037 in 1888 and 973 in the year under review. As regards the last figure, it has been reported that no less than 300 cattle were killed by wolves in the Bannu District, but it seems doubtful whether the number is correct, that is, whether sheep and goats have been excluded as directed in paragraph 2 of the Home Department Resolution of the Government of India, No. 48—1585-95, dated October 4th, 1881. It may also appear strange that in the case of 21 out of the 31 districts of the Province no loss of cattle is attributed either to snake-bite or the ravages of wild animals, while only in Lahore, Kángra and Hazára are any said to have died from the former cause. No doubt, however, in many instances ignorant villagers would be unaware that snake-bite was the cause of death, while, even if they were aware, no object would in their eyes be gained by reporting the fact. The number of persons killed by wild beasts in 1889 was only 31, of whom 26 met their deaths from "other animals." The district returns do not indicate what animals are here referred to, but probably wild pigs and jackals would account for a large proportion of the mortality. During the three preceding years the deaths caused by wild animals amounted to 56, 72 and 55, the greater number here also being in each year due to "other animals."

3. The number of persons killed by snakes and the number of snakes destroyed during the past four years has been—

	Deaths.	Snakes destroyed.
1886	928	85,715
1887	843	177,080
1888	961	108,312
1889	915	68,501

The very large quantity destroyed in 1887 included more than 70,000 killed in the Delhi District alone, but apart from this abnormal figure, in most districts the number destroyed was much above the average of former years. This result was probably due to the remarks recorded by Sir Charles Aitchison, then Lieutenant-Governor, in a Resolution No. 654, dated 7th April 1886, regarding the supineness of District Boards and Municipal Committees in granting adequate funds as rewards for the destruction of snakes, and urging the necessity for more vigorous action. In the following year, 1888, the number of snakes killed was still considerable, but in 1889 there has been a marked decrease, which needs some explanation. In the year 1888 some of the returns submitted exhibited such marked differences in the number of snakes destroyed in various districts that there seemed reason to believe that the rules laid down regarding the destruction of venomous snakes and the payment of rewards were not being acted on consistently throughout the Province; that while in some localities destructive measures were regularly enforced, in others the rules had practically become a dead-letter. Enquiry showed that very different practices did in fact exist; that the power of sanctioning payments of rewards was entrusted to various authorities; and that in some districts no efforts were made to distinguish poisonous from harmless snakes, rewards being paid for all without discrimination. The results of the enquiries made appeared to the Lieutenant-Governor to show that reform was necessary in two ways,—first, by raising the amount of the reward to be paid so as to give greater encouragement to the destruction of the particular kinds of venomous snakes in the Punjab to whose bite deaths are most commonly attributable; and secondly, by checking the waste of money spent on giving rewards for the destruction of snakes which are either harmless or only slightly poisonous. Accordingly, in a Resolution No. 949, dated June 12th, 1889, His Honor directed that efforts should specially be directed towards the extirpation of the Cobra and the Karait, the two most deadly snakes in the Punjab, and that ordinarily rewards should only be given for the destruction of these two species. At the same time it was stated that if in any district inquiry proved that death or serious injury was commonly caused by the Echis Carinata or by Russel's Viper, Daloia Elegans, the Lieutenant-Governor would be willing to sanction the payment of rewards for these species also. Accordingly, in more than one district in which the presence of the Echis Carinata has been proved to be very baneful, this viper has been added to the snakes for the destruction of which rewards are granted. As regards the persons authorized to sanction the payment of rewards, it was directed that in the case of Municipalities only the President, Vice-President or Secretary should be permitted to pass the charge, and in that of District Boards, the officer in charge of a police station, the reward being paid from Municipal or District Funds according to the locality within which the snake is killed, and a proper register maintained to guard against fraudulent expenditure.

4. The promulgation of these orders has naturally resulted in a large diminution of the number of snakes returned as having been destroyed during the year 1889, and in the amount paid as rewards, which in the year aggregated only Rs. 8,231 compared with Rs. 14,896 and Rs. 22,826 in the two previous years. There is, however, no reason to believe that a much smaller number of really poisonous snakes was destroyed during 1889, although there has been a large saving of Municipal and District Funds. Although, however, it was to be expected that there would be a decrease in the total number of snakes destroyed during the past year, the Lieutenant-Governor observes from the statement appended to this Resolution that the results achieved in some districts indicate the absence of vigorous measures for the extermination of the Cobra and Karait. For example, in the Rohtak District only 204 snakes are reported to have been killed, while in twelve others less than 1,000 were destroyed in each. In the Amritsar and Gujránwála Districts 4,304 and 9,675 respectively were killed, while in Lahore, which lies between those two, only 702 are entered as destroyed.

No such marked differences exist in the physical characteristics or population of these districts as would account for the variations in the numbers, which probably are to be explained by the different degrees of importance which District Officers and Local Bodies have attached to the subject. His Honor does not desire that any explanation of the statistics given for any district should be attempted on the present occasion, but he hopes that in future local officers will satisfy themselves that adequate inducements are afforded for destroying the kinds of snakes for which rewards are granted ; that suitable centres are selected at which rewards are paid ; and that persons entitled to them have no difficulty in obtaining the full sum due.

5. Out of a total of 2,938 wild animals destroyed during the past year, 1,227 were wolves, of which 246 are entered in the returns as having been killed in the Delhi District, but the Deputy Commissioner has noted that these animals were cubs, and that they were almost certainly those of jackals. He has therefore prohibited the payment of rewards for so-called wolf cubs, as wolves are known to be very rare in the Delhi District. The difficulty of identifying the heads of young wolves from those of jackals, and the ingenious way in which the latter may be made to resemble the former, has been brought to notice more than once, and two years ago instructions were issued that no rewards should be paid for wolves unless the skull is produced before the officer who sanctions the payment. If it is certain that wolves are rarely met with in any district there is no objection to the refusal of rewards in the case of cubs. This matter should be dealt with under the orders of the Commissioner of the Division, who, if satisfied that in any district wolves are so rare as to cause little or no injury to human or animal life, is authorized to prohibit the payment of rewards for cubs.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the foregoing Remarks be published in the Punjab Government Gazette, together with the statements showing the results of the measures for the destruction of wild animals and snakes, and copies forwarded to all Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that copies be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department, with copies of the statements.

By order of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor,

H. MAUDE,

Officiating Junior Secretary to Government, Punjab.

Dera Gházi Khan Protective Works.

READ the following reports:—

Report on the Dera Gházi Khan Protective Works by Mr. T. E. Ivens, Executive Engineer, Department Public Works, dated 19th April 1890.

Report by Mr. R. J. Dalton, Department Public Works, on the boating operations from the east to the west bank of the Indus, dated 19th April 1890.

REMARKS.—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab has read with interest the excellent reports by Messrs. Ivens and Dalton on the past season's operations towards protecting the city of Dera Gházi Khan with a bund of loose rubble stone.

2. Intimation was received at the close of the year 1889 that the Government of India agreed to bear one-third of the estimated cost, and orders issued from Lahore on 2nd January that the work was sanctioned.

3. After preliminaries, work commenced on 1st February from Wárcha; on 26th February from Sukkur; and on 15th March from Yáru. The season's operations were closed on 17th April, 1,775,000 cubic feet of stone having been deposited in position within 76 days at an approximate cost of 5 lakhs of rupees.

Of this quantity, 1,050,000 cubic feet of stone came by train from Wárcha (205 miles), 650,000 cubic feet by train from Sukkur (305 miles), to the east bank, and thence by boats to Dera Gházi Khan; the balance 75,000, was brought on camels from Yáru (20 miles) to the west of the city.

4. Three hundred and twenty-five thousand cubic feet of stone have still to be deposited to complete the estimate, and this quantity will be obtained during next cold season to supply any deficiencies which may occur during this year's floods.

5. The alignment of the protective bund was fixed as close to the river's edge as possible, and there is no doubt that, by the protection offered, a considerable area of valuable land, as well as parts of the Kastúri Canal, have already been saved from the effects of cold weather erosion.

RESOLUTION.—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab desires that his especial thanks may be conveyed to Mr. Ivens for having so successfully performed a heavy work amidst many difficulties in so short a time; to Mr. Holms for his duties on the west bank; and to Mr. Dalton for the safe conduct of all the river operations, and for the valuable assistance he has rendered in the new sphere of duty lately proposed for and allotted to him.

2. His Honor is gratified to hear the special recommendations on behalf of Overseer Tulsi Dás, Department Public Works; of the Ferry Dárogha Ramzán Khán; and of the Boat Jamadár Khuda Bakhsh.

3. Sir James Lyall also desires to record his high appreciation of the invaluable aid which has been rendered by the Civil Officers in this undertaking. To Mr. Dames, the Deputy Commissioner of Dera Gházi Khan, whose advocacy from the outset has contributed in no small degree to the satisfactory results now obtained; to Sardár Gurdiál Singh, Deputy Commissioner of Muzaffargarh, for his promptness in securing labor; and to Tahsíldárs Lála Tikan Lál and Lála Kanhaiya Lál for the constant attention to meet the wants of the executive officers.

ORDER.—Ordered that the two Reports and this Resolution be printed in the Punjab Government Gazette, and that copies be sent to the Government of India for information.

By order of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab,

A. LEMESSURIER, COLONEL, R.E.,

Chief Engineer and Secretary to Govt., Punjab,

Department Public Works.

Dated 19th April 1890.

From—R. DALTON, Esquire, River Officer,

To—The Executive Engineer, Protective Works, Dera Ghází Khan.

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the information of the Chief Engineer, my report on the working at east bank in connection with the Protective Works, Dera Ghází Khan.

River terminus.

2. The rail head or river terminus at which the stone for the Protective Works is unloaded from the railway and loaded into boats for transport to the west bank of the river, and the site of the works, is on the east bank of the Indus, and about 3 miles from the Ghází Ghât Station.

The line from Ghází Ghát to the rail head is broad-gauge, laid partly on wooden and partly on iron sleepers with a 60-lb. to the yard flat-footed rail. There is but one branch or channel of the river to cross on this length, which is spanned by a wooden pile bridge.

Until the 12th of February this channel was spanned by a trestle bridge, but this was found too unsafe for heavy engines and stone trains, and it was accordingly piled.

Train service.

3. The first train from the Wárcha quarries arrived at the rail head on 1st February. This was conveyed across the bridge in two parts by a light engine, and this method continued till the 7th February, when a heavy engine was crossed over the bridge and the train made up on the west bank and run to rail head until the 12th February when it was feasible for the heavy engine with her train to cross the bridge and run right through to rail head.

Wárcha.

From 1st to 6th February but one train arrived daily from the Wárcha quarries, but from 7th February to 20th March this was increased to two trains daily, and from 21st March to 3rd April three trains were run, when, owing to the contractor's supply of stone running short, the service was reduced to two trains daily to 13th April, and then, owing to same cause, fell to one train daily to 17th April, when train running from Wárcha ceased.

The number of trains run from the Wárcha quarries to the rail head from 1st February to 17th April was 151.

The average quantity of stone carried per each train of 25 to 27 vehicles was 7,000 cubic feet, and the total quantity received at rail head as per truck measurement there was 11 lakhs cubic feet.

All Wárcha stone was carried in open wagons.

Sukkur.

4. The first Sukkur train was started from Sukkur on 25th February 1890, reaching the rail head on 26th February 1890 at 8 P.M. From 26th February to 8th March but one train daily was run, but from 9th March two trains were run from Sukkur; the service, however, was very irregular, and some days only one train and other days two and three trains would arrive at the rail head. Wagons were cut off at intermediate stations to suit traffic requirements, and then special trains made up of such wagons and run to the rail head. The Sukkur stone was carried in covered goods wagons, and the average number of vehicles per train was 29, but as many as 35 vehicles in one train have arrived; the average quantity carried per train was about 9,000 cubic feet. The total number of trains run from Sukkur to the rail head from 25th February 1890 to 17th April 1890 was 73, and the quantity of stone carried 6½ lakhs cubic feet.

The loading of the Sukkur wagons was closer and better than that of the Wárcha wagons, which may be attributed to the Sukkur stone being flatter and in block, and thus more easily packed, whilst the Wárcha stone is round surface boulders broken in two, and thus more difficult to pack close.

The railway rate for carriage was Rs. 40 per truck—assuming all trucks at 10 tons with a carrying capacity of 25 cubic feet per ton—for Wárcha stone, and Rs. 55 per truck for Sukkur stone.

The greatest number of trains received at the rail head in one day was five (5), but the average was only three trains a day.

Loading and unloading.

5. The unloading from the trucks and loading into boats was done by labor provided by the respective contractors. When the work first started the Wárcha contractor had about 150 coolies collected at the rail head, and the rate allowed for unloading from truck and loading into the boats was 12 annas to one rupee per truck load. After three days' working many of the coolies deserted, and those who remained refused to work under Rs. 2-12 per truck. The contractor's agents were quite unable to make terms with the men, and I had to take the matter into my own hands. I found, as usual in such cases, that the agents were personally benefiting at the expense of the coolies, and that this was really the reason for the men striking and demanding such high rates. It was arranged that a uniform rate of 12 annas per truck was to be paid for unloading from train and loading into boats, or 4 annas per truck unloading and 8 annas per truck for loading. This rate continued until the Sukkur contractor came into the field. When the first Sukkur train arrived that contractor had only about 25 coolies at rail head, and his stone for the first few days had to be unloaded and loaded into boats with the help of the Wárcha gangs.

6. As the Sukkur stone was more difficult to handle and to unload from the covered wagons the rate granted by the Sukkur contractor was Re. 1 per truck, i. e., 6 annas for unloading and 10 annas for loading into boats.

7. As the Wárcha gangs were getting this rate for unloading and loading Sukkur stone, they again struck work on the Wárcha stone unless the rates were assimilated. I had once more to take matters into my own hands, and to prevent desertion and a stoppage of the work arranged that the Wárcha rate should be increased to 14 annas per truck. As soon as Wárcha ran three trains daily the gangs could not help Sukkur, and the latter increased his rate to Re. 1-2-0 and even Re. 1-4-0 per truck, and tried to seduce the Wárcha men away. I would not permit this, and insisted upon the Sukkur contractor procuring more labor, and had to quite separate the gangs and prevent the Wárcha men from working on the Sukkur train.

8. The Sukkur contractor did procure more labor, and imported three or four gangs from other works of his at Sher Shah and elsewhere, and allowed a rate of Re. 1-2-0 per truck, but the labor provided was quite inadequate to the demand. Towards the close of March and the beginning of April, as the harvest season approached, the gangs began to desert and Sukkur was left with only about 35 men, and on the contractor's failing to be able to help himself recourse was had to the Deputy Commissioner of the District, Muzaffargarh, who very promptly responded to the call and sent 80 men under charge of a Jamadár. This impressed labor was paid at the contract rate of Re. 1-2-0 per truck at its own wish, and the gangs were relieved weekly, but as these men were working against their inclinations and were being constantly changed the outturn was not satisfactory. After the first week the number of imported laborers seldom exceeded 60 men. Apart from this, a couple of gangs of the contractor's old laborers who still stood by him imposed the heavier work on the imported labor and idled themselves, thus setting a bad example to the new labor. The contractor and his agents would neither get rid of these men nor force them to work, and the consequence was Sukkur stone began to accumulate and choke the sidings. In addtion to this, high northerly winds set in for two or three days and paralysed the boat traffic, thus adding to the accumulation on the sidings.

9. To prevent the Wárcha men from following the Sukkur lead and deserting, they were offered a rate of rupee one per truck, and those who were willing to accept this increased rate were to bind themselves to stay on till the work was finished. About 75 men agreed to this increased rate, and the rest were permitted to leave. With these 75 men the Wárcha work was carried on to the end, and, in spite of the accumulations in the Wárcha sidings, the last boat load of Wárcha stone was sent across to west bank on 18th April, or the day after the last train was received from the Wárcha quarries. Though the last train was loaded at Sukkur on 17th April and arrived at rail head on 20th idem, wagons which had been cut off at intermediate stations continued to be made into special trains, and on 24th April 17 wagons of Sukkur stone were standing at Ghâzi Ghât Station unable to get to rail head, as the line was partly removed. Only on three occasions throughout the time the Sukkur train service was in operation did the trains run to time.

10. I found that with three (3) men to each truck I could unload a Wárcha train in from 45 minutes to one hour, and a Sukkur train in from one hour to one hour 30 minutes. Sukkur took longer owing to the covered wagons, and also to the stone being more difficult to handle owing to its sharp edge and the size of some of the blocks. There is no question that the open wagon is the best suited for carriage of stone, but the floor should be lined with sheet iron, as the wooden floor soon breaks up.

11. It depended upon the size and tonnage of the boat as to the number of men necessary and the time occupied in loading.

Loading into boats.

The rate allowed at first for the Wárcha stone for conveyance from east to west bank was Re. 1-4-0 per truck load; but after the first three or four days the boatmen struck at this rate, and it was, in communication with the Dárogha, increased to Re. 1-12-0 per truck, and this rate continued to the end, and applied equally to Sukkur stone. With 8 men to a single truck boat and 12 to 16 men to a two or three truck boat it took from one hour to an hour and 40 minutes to load up a boat.

12. Care had to be taken that the boats were floored with coarse grass or reeds about 4" to 6" deep before loading, and that sleepers were used as staging from the bank to the boat, and also in the boat itself; but even with these precautions many boats were damaged, and most of them considerably knocked about. Owing to shallows in the river and to the nature of the cargo it was not possible to load the boats in their full carrying capacity, and, as a rule, I would not allow a boat to carry more than two-thirds of its registered maundage. When the river became deeper, however, and the boats more seasoned I had some of the better and larger boats loaded to their full capacity, and they worked satisfactorily and even made two trips in the day.

13. Taken all round, the rates allowed both to the coolies and the boatmen were liberal, and though the boatmen appealed for an increased rate I did not consider they had any grounds for such appeal. For instance, a boat capable of carrying three trucks of stone received for a single trip Rs. 5-4-0, and if it could do a second trip earned Rs. 10-8-0 in the day—a most liberal wage. The smaller boats which could not carry more than one truck load made up for it by usually performing two trips daily, wind and weather permitting.

14. When the work was first started, there was a fleet of about 64 boats collected at the rail head, but with only Wárcha trains running to 25th February employment could not be found for more than 30 of these boats at the outside, so about the middle of February the surplus were allowed to leave after being compensated for their detention. The average number of boats in commission throughout has been about 45, allowing for those laid by for repair or deserted by their crews.

15. The high winds prevailing and the shallowness of the river in some places occasionally caused a block to the traffic and consequent accumulation of stone on the sidings, but with an open water and fair weather I am of opinion that a fleet of 45 boats of 1,000 to 1,200 maunds average carrying capacity is capable of removing five train loads of stone daily.

Accidents

To boats.

16. Though several boats sprang leaks and were more or less damaged, I am happy to say only one boat sank in the river, and this was on the west bank, where, in mooring her to unload, a part of the bank fell upon and sank the boat. She was raised a couple of days later not much the worse for the accident, but her cargo of two truck loads of Wárcha stone was lost.

To laborers.

17. Many of the laborers were injured by the stone, but only four serious accidents occurred. Of these, one man had his left big toe cut off by the sharp edge of a Sukkur stone falling on it. Two men each lost a finger, one from getting it jammed between two rails of the permanent-way material for the bund in unloading, and the other through a Sukkur stone slipping on to the finger when unloading a wagon. One man in loading into the boat slipped from staging plank, and the load falling on his leg injured it above the knee, causing a severe wound.

To trains.

18. On 5th February 1890 the light engine and one bogie truck got derailed at crossing near No. 3 siding, causing a detention to train of about 4 hours, but no damage. On 11th April the out-going and in-coming Wárcha trains collided at No. 1 crossing through the carelessness of guard and driver of out-going empty train not seeing that the in-coming one was clear of the points before starting his train. The tender was slightly damaged and four axle boxes of a bogie truck smashed.

On 16th April engine was derailed just beyond crossing at end of No. 3 siding, causing a detention of about 5 hours; no damage.

Health.

19. The general health of the establishment has been good, and only one death occurred to a coolie on 6th February. The man had apparently come to the rail head ill two days before, and the first report I had of him was on the night of the 6th, or a couple of hours before the man died.

The Hospital Assistant did not arrive at rail head till 11th March.

20. The establishment has worked early and late without a murmur. The Boat Jamadár, Khuda Bakhsh, who has been of much help in managing the boatmen and in preventing detention on the river, &c., is deserving of special mention, and I would recommend that his exceptionally good service be recognized by some trifling reward now that the work has ceased.

Report on the Dera Ghâzi Khan Protective Works.

General scope of report.

THIS report includes the actual extension of the in works. The previous proceedings will be found in the Report of the Committee which sat at Dera Ghâzi Khan in September 1889, and in the Appendix to that Report, which is a history of the westward encroachment of the river opposite Dera Ghâzi Khan. The Chief Engineer's rough notes of inspection, 1st to 8th December, give some details of the execution of the works, with an estimate of their cost, and a statement of valuation of the city and cantonments of Dera Ghâzi Khan.

Preliminary operations.

2. Having received orders on 2nd January 1890 to undertake the protective works at Dera Ghâzi Khan, I relinquished my charge of the Umballa Division on the 4th, and reported my arrival at Lahore on the morning of the 6th January. I was engaged in Lahore till the 14th, settling with contractors for the quarrying and delivery of the stone at the site of the works, making arrangements with the Railway about the carriage of the stone and the hiring of steamers to tow the boats, corresponding with the Dera Ismail Khan Division about the ferry steamer Chenáb for the same purpose, collecting plans and papers and engaging staff for the work.

Tenders for stone-work.

3. The tenders for quarrying and lifting the stone and depositing it in position at the site of the works had been called for in the newspapers. On the 10th January they were opened—eight tenders altogether—to work at the two quarries, Wárcha and Sukkur. The rates varied from a maximum of Rs. 12 per hundred cubic feet for stone from the Sukkur quarries to a minimum of Rs. 4-15-0 per hundred for Wárcha stone; other rates, intermediate between those two for stone from one or the other quarry, were also tendered. All tenders were rejected.

Rates accepted.

4. The work was then considered in detail at the following rates :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Quarrying at Wárcha	1	0	0
Loading in trucks	0	14	0
Unloading trucks at river	0	8	0
Loading into boats	0	12	0
Boating	1	0	0
Unloading boats and carriage of stone to site ...	0	12	0
Wárcha rate ...	4	14	0
At Sukkur the rate for quarrying is Re. 1-8-0; add	0	8	0
Sukkur rate ...	5	6	0

Finally, Fateh Khán agreed to take Wárcha, and Bishan Dás, Sukkur—the quantities being 10 lakhs and 8 lakhs from each quarry. The work has been actually executed at the above rates.

The foregoing is the detail of the work to be done by the Contractors: all other work was to be done by the Railway, viz., the laying of the sidings in the quarries, laying the fair-weather siding on the east bank of the river at Koreshi, and the carriage of the stone.

Carriage of stone by rail.

5. The cost of carriage of the stone as agreed to by the North-Western Railway is Rs. 40 and Rs. 55 per 10-ton truck from Wárcha and Sukkur respectively. The stone measurement in each 10-ton truck is calculated as 250 cubic feet, and the rate works out Rs. 16 from Wárcha and Rs. 22 from Sukkur per hundred cubic feet of stone.

Crossing Koreshi Creek.

6. In connection with the construction of the fair-weather siding at Koreshi, it became necessary to cross a creek which leaves the main stream of the river at Sanáwán, 10 miles above the crossing. The width of the creek at the crossing is not more than 150 feet at low water-level. This the Railway Department proposed to close up with sand and sand bags, and at the same time to bund the head of the channel at Sanáwán. The bunding at the head was actually done, but it was found impossible to close it at the railway crossing, as in the long reach of 10 miles the water percolates through the sand, and a passage under the railway had to be left to allow the water to flow on. A pile bridge was then thrown across the creek, and when this was completed on the 12th February, the heavy engines and trains began to run on to the island. The bund at Sanáwán was kept up till the 30th March, when it was topped by the water and allowed to go, the bridge at the railway crossing having in the meanwhile been lengthened, and sufficient waterway thus provided to meet all possible floods till the end of April.

General features of the river.

7. The accompanying plan No. 1 shows the general state of the river as it was in the beginning of February, when the works were begun. It will be seen that at the point where the railway fair-weather siding terminates, the river divides into three branches: the upper or No. 1 branch was then discharging about one-fifth of the whole stream; the other two branches the remainder, in about equal quantities. The lower or No. 3 branch follows the most direct course, about due south, and passes under the middle bridge of boats—20 boats. Subsequently the river set with force on to the east bank at the fair-weather siding, eroding that bank pretty freely, the result being that No. 1 branch decreased in size and discharge. After attacking the east bank and forming a bay of considerable size at the railway terminus, the recoil of the stream drives the water down No. 2 branch. No. 3 branch thus becomes reduced in size, and the middle branch is now—April—the main stream of the river.

Probable course the river will assume in the flood season.

8. It is hardly possible as yet to form an opinion as to the ultimate course the river may take. At present, the middle branch, as described above, is the main stream, and it flows direct on to the stone protective works, striking the bund at a point about one thousand feet from its northern end. Probably, however, one of the following two changes may occur: the river may take the much more direct—almost due southerly—course down No. 3 channel, which would thus become the main stream, the channel under the west bank being reduced to a creek; or the main stream may continue to follow its present course, down No. 2 branch, making sufficient waterway for itself by eroding its left bank. The right bank being protected by the stone-work, it is not likely that the widening of the channel in that direction will occur.

Stone bund described.

9. The stone bund has been laid out more or less in a straight line, the ends being curved back and terminating on the Kasturi Canal left bank. The length of the bund is 5,000 feet (see tracing No. 2). Its width at ground level is 74 feet, and it has a sectional area of 400 superficial feet. The total estimated quantity of stone is 21 lakhs of cubic feet, 20 lakhs of which is to be distributed along the line of bund, and one lakh to be held as a reserve for future contingencies. At the back of the stone bund an earthen embankment has been made of an average height of 6 feet. On the embankment a single line of railway has been laid, and 12 stone trucks have been supplied for the carriage, from one point of the bund to another, of stone whenever it becomes necessary to defend any part of it that may be atacked by the river.

Total quantity of stone delivered.

10. Work was begun on the 1st February, the first train having arrived from Wárcha on that day. And the works were stopped for the season on the 17th April, the total quantity delivered on that date being nearly 17¾ lakhs, equal to a daily average of 23,000 cubic feet during the 76 days.

Wárcha stone.

11. The Wárcha stone was the first to come in, the first train having left the quarries on the last day of January, and the supply for the first six days being one train a day. By the 5th February about 4,000 cubic feet had been deposited. From that date two daily trains were running with an average of 15,000 cubic feet, and this rate of supply was kept up with few interruptions, for six weeks, to the 20th March, when the quantity delivered was 6½ lakhs of cubic feet. During the following 12 days the daily deliveries were three trains a day, carrying on an average 22,000 cubic feet, and by the 2nd April 9 lakhs of cubic feet were in position. After the 2nd April the difficulties of working the quarry increased, and the daily deliveries were reduced to one train a day. The total quantity of stone received from Wárcha was 10½ lakhs, the daily average being 14,000 cubic feet.

Sukkur stone.

12. From Sukkur the stone did not begin to arrive till the 26th February, the daily deliveries being one train a day to the 10th March, when nearly a lakh of cubic feet were delivered. After the 10th the number was increased to two trains daily and this rate was kept up, with occasional interruptions, to the close of the work. The total received from Sukkur was 6½ lakhs, the daily average being 12,500 cubic feet.

Yáru stone.

13. The contract for the supply of stone from the Sori torrent, 8 miles beyond Yáru (vide tracing No. 3), was let to Sardár Bahádur Khán, Abdul Samad and Bhagwán Dás, on the 27th March, at Rs. 22 per hundred cubic feet, delivered at site. Work had actually commenced on the 15th March. The stone is carried on camels: the camel-men make two journeys of the trip. They have established a halting place midway between the quarries and the works. The camels do, on an average, 12 trips a month, and they are paid at the rate of a rupee for five maunds, the stone being all weighed as it arrives: the maund is the local one, equal to $1\frac{1}{4}$ standard maunds. The average weight carried by a camel is four maunds, so that they earn monthly $\frac{4 \times 12}{5}$ = Rs. 10 nearly. Seventy-five thousand cubic feet came from Yáru.

Carriage of Wárcha and Sukkur stone.

14. The Wárcha and Sukkur stone is brought down by train to the end of the fair-weather railway extension, about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the Ghází Ghát terminus. Each train is made up of 29 stone trucks and a brake-van. The stone is measured in the trucks before it leaves the quarry, and again by the river officer at the railway terminus. On arrival of a train, the stone after measurement is thrown out on to the ground so that there is no detention of trains. It is then loaded into the boats and conveyed across to the west bank. The boats are of all sizes, from 275 up to 1,400 maunds, and under favourable circumstances they carry nearly thesame weight of stone as their own maundage. The smaller boats have crews of 3 or 4 men, the larger ones up to 10 or 12.

Transport of stone in boats.

15. The boats moved up and down in channel No. 2, plan No. 1; they dropped down with the stream, rowing occasionally, and were tracked or poled back. On a calm day, and with a favourable stream, they did two trips in the 24 hours, but with a northerly wind or shallows in the stream they fell below that average. They were paid at the rate of Re. 1-12-0 per truck load of stone; an average boat, therefore, carrying four truck-loads, and doing two trips a day earned $4 \times 2 \times 1\frac{3}{4}$ = Rs. 14. The larger boats found the work very remunerative; on the other hand, the smaller ones, although carrying a smaller quantity of stone, worked with fewer interruptions from wind and stream.

Number of boats at work.

16. The average number of boats at work at any one time was between 60 and 70; 15 boats were required for each train, including 2 or 3 undergoing repairs. The distance across from the rail head to the site of the works was between 2 and 3 miles. At the landing place on the west bank the stone was carried direct from the boats to the bund and placed in position.

Steamer Chenáb.

17. The steamer Chenáb was brought down from the Dera Ismail Khan ferry to assist, if necessary, in towing the boats across the river. Owing, however, to the very small depth of water in the channel, and to its being very tortuous, it was found that nothing would be gained by working the steamer, and she and her flats remained moored to the bank from first to last. The Chenáb arrived at Dera Ghází Khan on the 26th January. On the 30th, Mr. Tickner, Deputy Locomotive Superintendent of the North-Western Railway, made an inspection of her hull, boiler and cylinders, and, following on his report, orders were received to take her down to Kotri, and to have her docked there with the object of estimating the cost of her repairs. The Chenáb left for Kotri on 18th April.

Division of stone bund into sections.

18. For convenience of working, and also for facility of measurement, the line of bund, 5,000 feet, was divided into sections, each section being 250 feet long. The stone as it was landed from the boats was deposited in blocks of 80 feet lengths, a passage 20 feet wide being left between each block. The passages were left so as to have access to the back of the work where the larger quantity of stone had to be deposited. Wherever possible the stone was first laid at the edge of the bund furthest removed from the river, and advanced towards the river as the work progressed. But when the line began to be threatened about the middle of February, and the erosion was bringing the edge of the river bank close to the line of stone, it became necessary to concentrate all the labor on the point that was being attacked and to stack the stone along the line nearest to the water. This occurred between stations Nos. 10 and 12, 900 to 1,600 feet distant from the north end of the bund.

Attack of the bund by the river.

19. The attack by the river at this point was successfully combated, and the erosion gradually ceased after slicing off a maximum width at one point of 30 feet of stone-work. The soundings now show that the stone which has fallen into the water has formed a slope down to the bed of the stream, the angle of this slope being 30° or 2 horizontal to 1 vertical. It is this sloping foreshore which checks the erosive force of the stream. With a vertical side the river bank is under the most favourable conditions to be quickly and easily toppled over. With a sloping foreshore the reverse is the case, and with a foreshore protected with a covering of stone the current has little or no effect on the bank.

20. It should also be noted that the line of the river bank where the water has reached the stone bund is now very nearly straight. Under ordinary conditions, when a bank is being eroded, the action is to cut it into deep bays and sharp projections: the present line, being a straight one, proves that the stone is doing its work. It is more than likely that if this portion of the bank had not been protected as it has been, the river would by this time have cut through the Kastúri Canal and worked itself very close up to the city walls.

Action of erosion on river bank.

21. The position of the bund had, in the first instance, to be very carefully selected. The conditions which influenced the selection were its position relatively with that of the city; secondly, the conditions of the river itself; thirdly, to secure as much land as possible from erosion. With regard to the first condition, it was decided to locate the bund somewhere up-stream of a line drawn through the city at right angles to the general direction of the river, the general direction being north and south. On tracing No. 2 it will be seen that this has been done, and that, with the exception of the return end at the south, the whole line of bund lies north of a line drawn through the centre of the city. The conditions to be fulfilled with regard to the river were so to place the defence works that they would lie in the deepest portion of the bay opposite the town: a reference to tracing No. 1 will show that this was also done. To meet the 3rd condition the bund was placed as near as possible to the river's edge.

Position of the bund described.

22. The only one vulnerable point of attack on the protective works would be the outflanking of the upper end. This is a point which will have to be watched. At the time of writing this report there is no prospect of its happening; on the contrary, the main stream in front of the upper end is receding in an eastward direction. But should the river at any time tend to work at that point of the stone work, the return end of the bund would have to be prolonged, taking it across the canal and extending it as far as might be necessary: this would be done either with a fresh supply of stone, or with stone taken from some part of the work where there was no immediate danger of attack.

Weakest point of attack of bund.

Establishment.

23. The following was the establishment employed on the works:—

Mr. Ivens in executive charge, with head-quarters at Dera Gházi Khan.

Mr. Holms, Assistant Engineer, head-quarters Dera Gházi Khan. Mr. Holms was in immediate charge of work on the stone bund and all other works on the west bank of the river.

He left before the work was completed, having been transferred to the Kohát Division. Mr. Holms is a very promising young officer; he joined the Department in October 1889, and this is the first work on which he has been engaged.

Mr. Dalton, River Officer, had his head-quarters on the east bank of the river at the railway terminus. His duties were to receive the stone trains, to check the quantities in the trucks, to load the stone into boats, and to supervise all other work on his side of the river. Mr. Dalton worked very satisfactorily; he displayed much energy and tact in the management of the coolies and the boatmen, and he was never absent for a day from his work. He was of great assistance to me.

The quarry officers were Mr. Farquhar and Mr. Neale in succession at Sukkur, and Mr. Hughes and his successor Mr. Holden at Wárcha, all on the temporary list, their pay being charged to the works.

Mr. Farquhar fell ill soon after joining at Sukkur, and was obliged to leave the work; he was succeeded by Mr. Neale on the 26th February. Both these officers worked very much to my satisfaction.

Supervisor Hughes held charge of his appointment until the 1st March, when his services were dispensed with; his successor, Inspector Holden of the North-Western Railway, Traffic Department, worked well.

Mr. J. Mackenzie, Honorary Assistant Engineer, commanding the ferry steamer Chenáb, arrived at Dera Gházi Khan on the 26th January, as the steamer was at no time put into requisition his services did not extend beyond his ordinary duties when the boat is out of commission. Mr. Mackenzie left Dera Gházi Khan for Kotri with his steamer and two flats for repairs on the 18th April.

Other men employed on the works were Overseer Tulsi Dás, in charge of all the subordinate duties on the stone bund; three head boatmen—one being stationed on each bank of the river, and the third midway, on an island—to supervise the crossing of the boats. In addition to the above, time-keepers, clerks, munshís, khalásís, &c., were employed as required under the different officers.

It is not out of place to mention here the valuable assistance I received from the Deputy Commissioners of Dera Gházi Khan and Muzaffargarh. Sardár Gurdiál Singh, Officiating Deputy Commissioner of Muzaffargarh, helped very much in ordering the collection of labor to work on the trains and to load the boats on the east bank of the river—this at the time when the works were approaching completion and labor became very scarce on account of the harvest. Mr. Dames, Deputy Commissioner of Dera Gházi Khan, co-operated most heartily in the progress of the works; and under his directions the Tahsíldár, the Ferry Dárogha and other subordinates helped very materially in the execution of the work.

The Tahsíldár of Dera Gházi Khan was Lála Tiken Lál, and on his proceeding on leave Lála Kanhaiya Lál officiated for him. Both these subordinate officers, under Mr. Dames's orders, carried out my instructions very thoroughly.

But I wish specially to bring to notice the Ferry Dárogha, Ramzán Khán, who wa deputed to collect the boats required for the works and to supervise the general managemen of the boatmen, settling all their disputes, keeping the boats in repair, releasing them whenever necessary and replacing them by others—all of which he did carefully and readily. He was of great assistance to me, and conducted his duties most intelligently.

Contractors.

24. The contractors on the works were Fateh Khán at Wárcha, Bishen Dás at Sukkur and a company of three, working the stone at Yáru, viz., Sardár Bahádur Khán, Abdul Samad, and Bhagwán Dás. Other petty contractors on earth-works, &c., were also employed.

Fateh Khán worked fairly well at Wárcha. There are difficulties to contend with in an out-of-the-way place like a quarry in the Salt Range; labor has to be brought from a distance, supplies are not easily obtainable, and water is very scarce. But this contractor had been working at Wárcha for a long time, and he ought to have been in a position to make better arrangements than he did. His labor was apparently insufficiently paid and insufficient in numbers, and much difficulty was experienced in making him load up his trucks to their full-carrying capacity.

Bishen Dás, on the other hand, worked very satisfactorily; his stone was well up to specification, and his trains always well loaded and punctually to time.

The Yáru firm worked well, but as their work was entirely camel-carriage the supply was irregular and insufficient.

No. 819.—Notification.—Whereas it is declared in Section 43 of Act IV of 1872, the Punjab Laws Act, that the slaughter of kine and the sale of beef shall not take place except subject to rules to be prescribed by the Local Government; and whereas doubts have been entertained as to the validity of the rules heretofore in force, and it is desirable to maintain the practice which has prevailed under those rules;

The following rules, which have received the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, are hereby prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor:

I.—(1). Kine shall not be slaughtered in any town or on any town lands except in a place licensed for the purpose by a written license granted by the Deputy Commissioner, and in accordance with the conditions of such license.

(2). The Deputy Commissioner may, at his discretion, and without giving reasons, refuse to grant such license.

(3). In these rules the words "Town" and "Town lands" mean respectively all Municipalities, Cantonments and Civil Stations, also all kasbas or market towns not being Municipalities to which a place set apart or appointed as a public slaughter-house for kine has been heretofore attached, and is attached when these rules come into force, and all lands which are within either the mauza boundaries or the Municipal limits of any town.

(4). Any yard or enclosure within town lands or adjacent to such lands, which has at the time these rules come into force been appointed by a Municipal Committee or Cantonment authority, or has been continuously used for the past three years as a public slaughter-house for the slaughter of kine, shall be deemed to have been licensed by the Deputy Commissioner under this rule: Provided that the Deputy Commissioner may at any time require the persons using or maintaining such slaughter-house to take out a license in writing under these rules and may prohibit the slaughter of kine in such slaughter-house till the license is taken out, and till the conditions of the license are complied with.

II.—(1). Beef shall not be hawked about or exposed for sale in any town or on any town lands except within the enclosure of a public slaughter-house licensed under Rule I or at a shop licensed for the purpose in writing by the Deputy Commissioner.

(2). A place which has at the time these rules come into force been appointed by a Municipal Committee or Cantonment authority, or has been continuously used for three years, as a shop for the sale of beef, shall be deemed to have been licensed for the purpose by the Deputy Commissioner: Provided that the Deputy Commissioner may at any time require the person owning or using the shop to take out a license under these rules, and may prohibit the sale of beef in such shop till the license is taken out and till the conditions of the license are complied with.

(3). The Deputy Commissioner may at his discretion and without giving reasons refuse to grant a license for the sale of beef at any shop which has not been heretofore licensed within the meaning of this rule, and may by order in writing withdraw the license of any shop which he considers superfluous or objectionable, and which has not been continuously maintained for more than three years.

III.—The Deputy Commissioner may, by written order addressed to the headman or headmen of any village, or headmen or chaudhrís of any kasba, apply the provisions of Rules I and II to such village or kasba and the lands included within their mauza boundaries or to any defined part thereof, if he thinks it necessary for the preservation of peace among the residents of such village or kasba or for the prevention of riot or affray.

IV.—With the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division or in urgent cases in anticipation of such sanction the Deputy Commissioner may—

(1) prohibit the slaughter of kine or sale of beef in any place where they have heretofore been licensed under these rules, and appoint some other place or places for the purpose instead;

(2) temporarily suspend any license held under these rules:

Provided that the sanction of the Commissioner shall not be necessary to the issue of orders under the provisos to Rules I (4) or II (2) or to the withdrawal of a license under these rules when the conditions of such license are not observed.

V.—All orders of a Deputy Commissioner—

(1) licensing or refusing to license any place for the slaughter of kine;

(2) applying the provisions of Rule I to any village or kasba or rejecting a petition for their application;

(3) licensing any shop for the sale of beef or refusing to license the same or withdrawing the license;

(4) prohibiting the slaughter of kine or sale of beef in any place where it has heretofore been permitted and appointing some other place instead;

(5) temporarily suspending any license held under these rules;

shall be open to revision by the Commissioner of the Division of his own motion or on application by any person interested and may be modified or cancelled by him, and the Local Government may require the Commissioner to modify or cancel all such orders or may itself modify or cancel all such orders passed by the Deputy Commissioner or passed by the Commissioner in revision. Effect shall be given to a revised order under this rule as if it had been an original order.

VI.—Whoever breaks any rule made under Section 43 of Act IV of 1872 shall on conviction be punished with imprisonment which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to three hundred rupees, or with both.

FOREST DEPARTMENT.

The 21st July 1890.

No. 307.—Notification.—The following Circular of the Government of India, in the Revenue and Agricultural Department, publishing a revised Prospectus of the Imperial Forest School, Dehra Dun, is republished for information :—

CIRCULAR NO. 8 F.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Revenue and Agricultural Department (Forests) :—dated Simla, the 24th June 1890.

READ the following Resolutions of this Department:—

(i) Circular No. 14-F., dated 11th June 1889, promulgating the Prospectus of the Forest School at Dehra Dun.
(ii) Circular No. 16-F., dated 15th June 1889, prescribing the forms of Agreement and Bond to be executed by Government students sent to the Forest School.
(iii) Circular No. 3-F., dated 3rd March 1890, regarding the allowances payable to students at the Forest School.

RESOLUTION.

The Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that, pending the issue of further orders, the following revised Prospectus of the Forest School, with its two appendices, be provisionally substituted for the Prospectus promulgated with Circular

No. 14-F. of 11th June 1889. The amendments made merely incorporate recent decisions and rulings, and are otherwise more or less verbal in character, without materially affecting the rules previously in force.

PROSPECTUS OF THE IMPERIAL FOREST SCHOOL, DEHRA DUN.

There are two Courses—one in English, and a second in Hindustani.

2. Three classes of students are admissible :—

(1) Government students.

(2) Students from Native States.

(3) Private students.

Admission of Government Students.

TO THE ENGLISH COURSE.

3. Government students may be selected by Conservators of Forests, acting under such orders as may from time to time be given by the Local Government or Administration concerned. Such students usually receive a Government stipend.

4. Students must, on admission to the School, be not less than 18 or more than 25 years of age. Exceptions to this rule require the previous sanction of the Government of India. Each candidate must furnish a certificate of sound health, good vision and hearing, from the Civil Surgeon of the station nearest to his place of residence.

5. It is the duty of the officer who selects the candidate to satisfy himself that he is of good moral character and active habits; also that he posesses fair powers of observation, sense of locality, and such other qualifications as are necessary for an officer of the Executive Staff of the Forest Department.

6. For the above purpose, candidates may, before presenting themselves at the Entrance Examination, be required to prove their fitness for Forest work by service in the Subordinate Staff of the Department, either permanent or temporary, for a period of twelve months.

7. Candidates* for admission to the English Course must pass before an officer of the School, or before a Conservator of Forests (or such other officer as the Local Government may appoint to represent him), an Entrance Examination in the following subjects, viz :—

English—composition and conversation.
Arithmetic.
Algebra—up to and including quadratic equations.
Elementary Plane Geometry.
Mensuration—lengths, areas, and volumes.

Conservators of Forests, including the Forest Officers of Coorg and Ajmere, are required to despatch to the Director, on the 15th March in each year, an application for the number of sets of examination papers to be sent to them for the candidates of their respective Circles, or an intimation that no such papers are required. The examination papers will be forwarded from the Director's office, under sealed covers, not later than the 15th of the following month.

The examinations will be held simultaneously throughout India on dates between the 15th and the 25th May, fixed by the Director at the time that the examination papers are sent out. Examinations held on dates other than those thus fixed by him will be treated as invalid. The candidates' written answers will, after countersignature (with date) by the officer presiding at the examination, be returned in a sealed cover to the Deputy Director of the School. The Director will subsequently inform Conservators of the result of the examination.

TO THE HINDUSTANI COURSE.

8. Candidates for admission to the Hindustani Course may be similarly selected; but, in lieu of passing the Entrance Examination laid down in paragraph 7, must furnish a certificate of having passed the Middle Class Examination in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, or an equivalent standard in another Province, as well as a certificate that they possess a competent knowledge of Urdu or Hindi.

* Except those of Burmese, Shan, or Karen extraction, who, as a temporary measure during the years 1890, 1891, and 1892, will be admitted into the School after passing such Entrance Examination as a Conservator of Forests in Burma may deem sufficient.

Admission of Students who are already Forest Rangers.

9. Forest Rangers who may be sent to the School in order to qualify themselves for further advancement, either to the higher grades of Rangers or to the class of Sub-Assistant Conservator, may be above the age laid down in paragraph 4, and are not required to furnish the medical certificate prescribed in that paragraph. They must, as a general rule, pass the Entrance Examination for admission to the English Course, but in exceptional cases they may be admitted without passing that Examination, if the Conservator of Forests under whom they are serving can satisfy the Director of their ability to profit sufficiently by the instruction given at the School.

Admission of Students from Native States.

10. Candidates from Native States must apply, through the Darbár, either to the Director or to a Conservator of Forests. The conditions for their admission are similar to those laid down for Government students. Compliance with paragraph 6 is, however, not insisted on ; but it is considered desirable to depute candidates for one year's practical work under a British Conservator of Forests, prior to their joining the School.

Native States sending students to the School shall, before the beginning of each term, deposit with the the Director a sum equivalent to the estimated cost of the students' living at the School as stated in paragraph 18.

Admission of Private Students.

11. Private persons, who may desire to join the classes, must apply for admission through a Conservator of Forests of the Province in which they reside, and must otherwise comply with the rules.

12. Private students must supply their own note-books and stationery. Books from the book-depôt will be supplied to them on cash payment only. Breakages and damages of School property must be paid for at once. As security for the due fulfilment of this condition, each private student, on entering the School, is required to deposit a sum of Rs. 50 with the Director, the balance of which will be returned to him when he leaves.

13. Private students must during their stay at the School defray their own expenses, including the cost of travelling. Fees are not at present charged.

General Rules.

14. Candidates admitted to the School must join at Dehra Dun on the 25th June next after the date of their passing the Entrance Examination.

15. The Courses of training extend over 21 months, the time being spent as follows :—

16. At the close of the Course of instruction, successful students will receive a certificate in Forestry (English or Hindustani Course) with or without Honours.

17. Students who have completed their Course leave the School at the end of March, but any student who has failed tc obtain his certificate may, at the discretion of the Director and, in the case of Government students, with the sanction of the Local Government, or, in the case of students from Native States, of the Darbár, be retained to compelete another full year's Course of instruction. Conservators of Forests whose students are about to undergo their final examinations are required to inform the Director, before the end of February in each year, as to the place to which each student on leaving the School is required to go, and as to the amount of the advance, if any, which may be given to enable him to reach it.

18. The average monthly cost of living at the School is calculated to be as follows, viz :—

For students living in the Native style ...	Rs. 22 to Rs. 39	Vide Appendix I.
For students living in the European style ...	Rs. 35 to Rs. 53

The above figures include the cost of food, ordinary clothes, uniform, rent, books, and instruments. The expenses of travelling and camping of the year are calculated to come to something like an additional Rs. 4 per mensem for the former class and from Rs. 7 to Rs. 10 for the latter class. The ordinary travelling allowances admissible to Government students who are in receipt of the above stipends will cover these expenses.

19. All Government students must, unless otherwise permitted by special order of the Director, live in the School quarters, if rooms therein are available. The rent charged varies from Rs. 6 to Rs. 18 per annum. Private students may be given quarters when available on the same terms.

20. During the Course of instruction, the Director will furnish Conservators, or Darbárs of Native States, with monthly reports on the character, application, and progress of the students sent by them to the School.

21. Students are liable to the following punishments—

(1) Reprimand by the Teacher in class.

(2) Reprimand by the Director or the Deputy Director at any time.

(3) Reprimand before a Meeting, convened by the Director, of not less than three School Officers, one of whom must be either the Director or the Deputy Director. The proceedings of the Meeting will be reported to the Conservator or Native State deputing the student, and, if the Meeting so decides, a note of them will be made on his final Certificate.

(4) The Director, acting with the consensus of the Meeting referred to under (3), has power to inflict, in addition, a fine to the extent of one-third of the salary or allowances of the student for a period not exceeding three months.

(5) The Director, acting with the consensus of a full Meeting of the School Officers presided over by himself, has power to dismiss any student for misconduct; and a student thus dismissed cannot be re-admitted to the School.

The Director may remand any student who, in his opinion, is not sufficiently promising.

Prospects of Government Students.

22. Holders of the Certificate in Forestry (English Course) are eligible, on the occurrence of vacancies in the Province or Circle to which they belong, for appointment to the class of Ranger; and, after five years' approved service as Ranger, they are eligible for promotion to the class of Sub-Assistant Conservator. Similarly, holders of the Certificate in Forestry (Hindustani Course) are eligiable, on the occurrence of vacancies in the Province or Circle to which they belong, for appointment to the class of Forester, and, in the absence of qualified candidates of the above class, are eligible, after five years' approved service as Forester, for promotion to the class of Ranger. But any student who has gained the Certificate in Forestry (Hindustani Course) with Honours is eligible for appointment to the class of Ranger after two years' satisfactory service as Forester; and, similarly, any student who has gained the Certificate in Forestry (English Course) with Honours is eligible for appointment to the class of Sub-Assistant Conservator after two years' satisfactory service as Ranger.

23. No person who does not hold a Certificate in Forestry (English Course or Hindustani Course) can be appointed to the class of Ranger without the special sanction, in each case, of the Local Government.

24. In the absence of qualified Rangers, students who have been nominated by a Local Government and who have gained the Certificate in Forestry (English Course) are eligible, on the occurrence of vacancies in the Province or Circle to which they belong, for direct appointment to the class of Sub-Assistant Conservator.

25. Government students are required to continue in the Government Forest Service for a period of not less than five years after their return from the School, and they have to give a Bond to this effect (vide Appendix II).

26. The monthly pay of Foresters, Rangers, and Sub-Assistant Conservators under the Government of India is at present as follows, viz:—

Foresters, Rs. 15 to Rs. 40; Rangers, Rs. 50 to Rs. 120; Sub-Assistant Conservators, Rs. 150 to Rs. 250.

Prospects of Private Students.

27. Passed private students may, in certain cases, obtain appointments in the Government service up to the grade of Sub-Assistant Conservator; but such appointments are not guaranteed to them, and Government has no responsibility for their career after they have left the School.

GOVERNMENT STUDENTS.

2. The various payments are made to the students by the Director as they fall due, and are at once charged in his accounts as final payments, being at the same time debited by transfer to the Provinces or Circles in which the students' accounts are kept. But in the case of item (iii) (cost of books and instruments), the money is charged in the accounts without passing into the students' hands. As regards items (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv), the Conservator of Forests, after making due allowance for the adjustment of items (ii), (iii) and (iv), informs the Director of the rate of monthly subsistence allowance to be paid to each student. This should not be less than the amount stated opposite item (i) in paragraph 1. As regards items (v) and (vi), the students receive their travelling allowances as they fall due; but before the commencement of the Hill Tour, about the middle of April in each year, they may, if they require it and at the discretion of the Director, receive their travelling allowances for April and for May in advance. But such advances are not, as a general rule, made to students who receive stipends higher than those stated in the last line of paragraph 1. The amount of these travelling allowances, which can be calculated beforehand, are charged as final payments in the Director's accounts, subject of course to subsequent audit of the bills in which the amount advanced is to be shown. Similarly, travelling allowances for the month of January in the second year may, at the discretion of the Director, be paid in advance before the commencement of the Punjab Tour, and be charged as a final payment in the Director's accounts. Except as herein provided, no advances are made to Government students, and ledger accounts are not kept for them in the Director's Office.

3. Travelling allowance bills on account of the student's journey to join the School are forwarded by the Director to the Conservator of Forests, who informs the Director of the sum which, after re-payment of advances (should any have been made), is payable to the student as a final payment in the Director's accounts, by transfer to the Province or Circle concerned. Conservators are particularly requested not to make advances which cannot be covered by the amount of the bills to be subsequently drawn, as such excessive advances throw the students into debt—a result which it is one of the principal objects of the present Memorandum to avoid. Whenever, owing to unforeseen circumstances, it becomes necessary to make deductions from the student's subsistence allowance, these are carried out by the Conservator, who informs the Director of any change in the rate of the monthly allowance that may thereby be caused. Such deductions should never reduce the student's subsistence allowance below the amount stated opposite item (i) in paragraph 1.

4. To facilitate the calculation of the travelling allowances payable for the journey to the School, Conservators are informed that Dehra Dun is 42 miles by road from Saharanpur, a station on the North-Western Railway, and that Government servants drawing from Rs. 11 to Rs. 100 per mensem travel by "intermediate class" on the up-country lines above Khandwa on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway and above Jubbulpore on the East Indian Railway. The cost of an "ekka" from Saharanpur to Dehra is Rs. 3-10.

5. Remittances for students from Native States must be made, at the times specified in paragraph 1, by drafts payable to the students and sent to them through the Director's Office. These students are required to pay cash for all books and instruments supplied to them. Ledger accounts are not kept for them, neither are advances, under any circumstances, made to them. [This has been modified by paragraph 10 of the School Prospectus —Circular No. 8-F., dated 24*th June* 1890.]

PRIVATE STUDENTS.

6. The Director does not receive money or keep any accounts for private students. Before receiving any person into the School as a private student, the Director is required to satisfy himself that the candidate's friends are able and willing to provide him with funds up to the amount shown in paragraph 1. Should they fail to do this, the student is not allowed to remain at the School.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded, for information, to the Government of Madras, the Local Governments and Administrations noted in the margin, the Inspector-General of Forests, and the Comptroller and Auditor-General.

2. The following subjects were discussed by the Conference besides a few others on which no special orders are necessary :—

(1) The introduction of a regular system of marks and prizes in individual schools for proficiency in gymnastics and athletic sports, as suggested by the Government of India in Home (Education) Department Proceedings No. $\frac{6}{371-383}$, dated 17th August 1889;

(2) Grants for physical training;

(3) The introduction of a system of good conduct registers as proposed by the Government of India;

(4) Additions to be made to the present inter-school rules as laid down in the Code;

(5) The suggestion of the Government of India that the employment of certificated teachers should be made a necessary condition for the affiliation of Unaided Schools to the University.

(6) The expediency of employing a European Head Master in the Central Model School;

(7) The question of roll-calls and marking the attendance at school meetings in Aided Schools;

(8) The payment of tuition fees by students on sick leave;

(9) The payment of fees in cases where a school re-opens or a class is formed after the middle of a month;

(10) The amendment of Article 200 of the Punjab Education Code;

(11) The exclusion of Mathematics from the compulsory subjects for the Senior Certificate Examination;

(12) The award of books for the use of boys of indigenous and other elementary schools who pass by the 5th standard laid down for such institutions.

3. The proposals of the Conference regarding the first of the above questions are as follow :—

(1) That in every school where the prescribed courses of physical training are taught a register of attendance shall be kept by the teachers or monitors, and certified by the Head Master, which register shall be submitted to the Inspecting Officer at his annual examination ;

(2) That at the end of the school year, certificates countersigned by the Head Master shall be awarded by the instructors to boys, who have shown marked proficiency in the prescribed courses ;

(3) That in the case of every Secondary Board School quarterly competitions shall be organized, and marks, to be recorded in a register kept for this purpose by the Head Master, shall be awarded to the competitors by a local Committee of at least three members (which may be composed either wholly or partially of the school staff) ;

(4) That endeavours should be made to provide prizes which shall be awarded at the end of the school year to the pupils obtaining the highest aggregate marks in these competitions :

Provided that no boy shall be held eligible for a prize or certificate who does not show satisfactory progress in his studies :

Provided also that no prizes for gymnastics shall be given to a boy who has passed the age of 14 in the Primary Department or of 17 in the Middle Department.

4. The first of the above provisos appears to His Honour to be unnecessary; otherwise the recommendations of the Conference are approved, and the necessary additions will be made to the Punjab Education Code.

5. With regard to grants in aid of physical training, the Conference recommended—

(1) That grants for physical training shall be awarded to Aided Schools by the Inspecting Officer ;

(2) That each school examined for such grants shall be classified as 'good,' 'fair' or 'bad' ;

(3) That with a view to such classification the Inspecting Officer shall take into consideration the following points :—

1. Drill—

(a) efficiency of the instructor ;

(b) efficiency of the various classes in the prescribed courses ;

(c) endeavours made to render the training in drill beneficial in class management.

2. Gymnastics—

(a) efficiency of the instructor ;

(b) the condition and nature of the apparatus ;

(c) the general efficiency of the various classes in the prescribed courses.

3. Games and sports—

The general interest shown by the staff and pupils.

It was considered that special importance should be attached to the third head.

(4) That grants shall be awarded in accordance with the following scale on account of each boy in average attendance at physical training* :—

When a school is 'good'—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Lower Primary Department	0	4	0
Upper ditto ditto	0	6	0

When a school is 'fair'—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Lower Primary Department	0	2	0
Upper ditto ditto	0	3	0

Provided that the total amount of grants awarded to any school on account of physical training shall not exceed half the ordinary expenditure incurred during the school year on instruction in physical exercises :

Provided also that no department of an Aided School shall be considered eligible for a grant for physical training, unless at least 20 per cent. of the boys borne on the rolls of that department are shown in average attendance at physical exercises.

6. The above proposals have met with the approval of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, and the necessary provision will be made in the Punjab Education Code.

7. As regards the third question, the Conference considered that a good conduct register should be kept in the case of the Secondary departments of High schools ; that it should be written up monthly by the Head Master or other Master deputed by him ; and that it should include a notice of—

(a) Attendance ;

(b) Preparation of lessons ;

(c) General demeanour ;

(d) Cleanliness.

It was considered also that on finally leaving school, students of the Secondary departments of High schools should receive certificates on the model of that prescribed for the Lahore Government College in Article 453 of the Punjab Education Code for this certificate.

The report on conduct and character should occupy a prominent place, and attention should always be paid by the Head Master in drawing up the certificate to the entries in the conduct register. It was thought advisable, however, that only a general estimate of character should be given, and that detailed extracts should not be quoted from the register.

It was proposed that a charge of one rupee should be made for the final discharge certificate, except in the case of indigent students.

8. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the above proposals may be adopted and embodied in the Code, on the understanding that the levy of the proposed fee for the final discharge certificate shall be compulsory in the case of Government and Board Schools and optional in other institutions.

* It is to be understood that the grant will be calculated on the average attendance shown in the attendance register kept by the gymnastic teacher or monitor.

9. The Sub Committee appointed by the Conference to draw up a report on the subject of good conduct registers and kindred matters recorded an opinion that it would be impracticable to award special prizes for good conduct; but they suggested that where prizes for general proficiency are given, no boy should be allowed a prize if his conduct register is not satisfactory. This suggestion will be adopted.

10. It is laid down in Article 410 of the Punjab Education Code that no pupil who leaves a Government, Board or Aided School or an Unaided School, of which the Managers agree to observe the general and inter-school rules contained in Chapter X of the Code, shall be admitted to another school—

(1) without a leaving certificate from his previous school (as prescribed in Article 414);

(2) except on condition that he be not promoted to a higher class by changing his school.

11. The Conference recommended that an addition should be made to this Article with the view of preventing the promotion of such a student, after he has joined the new school, until he shall have passed the recognized examination for promotion. Clause (2) will accordingly be modified as follows:—"except on condition that he be not promoted to a higher class than that to which he belonged in the first school, until he shall have passed the recognized examination for promotion." Article 410 will be modified in accordance with the above recommendation. The Conference considered that no other addition to the rules in question was necessary.

12. The Government of India in the Proceedings already quoted suggested that the employment of certificated teachers should be made a necessary condition for the affiliation of Unaided Schools to the University; and an expression of the views of the Conference on this proposal was invited. The Conference has now recorded an opinion that the adoption of the suggestion of the Government of India, making the employment of certificated teachers in Unaided Schools a condition of affiliation to the University, is inexpedient on the following grounds:—

(1) That it is opposed to the principle of the independent development of unaided education, which the Government of India is anxious to encourage;

(2) That it is foreign to the functions of a University in its capacity as an examining body to impose conditions as to the moral character of the teachers employed in schools;

(3) That the adoption of this principle, if logically carried out, would debar private students from appearing in University examinations, as obviously no control over the teachers is possible in their case;

(4) That it may safely be assumed that as the supply of certificated teachers increases and their superior value is appreciated, Unaided Schools will be led to employ them, without any external pressure such as that proposed by the Government of India.

13. Sir James Lyall concurs in these views; and it may be added that the proposal, even were it desirable on other grounds, could not be adopted without a fundamental change in the system now followed by the Punjab University; as any institution can present candidates for the University examinations; private students are freely admitted; and there are no conditions of affiliation in existence similar to those required by the University of Calcutta.

14. With reference to the sixth question, the Conference recorded an opinion that the employment of a European Head Master for a definite period in the Central Model School is not advisable. This question also was raised in consequence of a recommendation made by the Government of India in the Proceedings above quoted; and it was intimated in Resolution No. 350, dated 8th November 1889, of the Punjab Government, Home (Education) Department, that the opinion of the Education Conference would be invited. His Honour agrees that it is not desirable to appoint an English Master in the Model School as at present constituted; but the question of amalgamating this institution with the Lahore Municipal Board School, where an English Master has been always employed, will be taken into consideration.

15. As regards the seventh question, viz., roll-calls and marking the attendance in Aided Schools, the Conference has recorded the following recommendations:—

That in Aided Schools the attendance register be closed within the first half hour from the time when the school opens, and that no boy's attendance shall be marked after the roll has been closed;

That when a boy leaves school from sickness or any other cause before he has completed the two hours' period of secular instruction, his attendance for that school meeting shall be cancelled.

The above proposals are approved, and will be embodied in the Code.

16. With reference to the eighth question, as to the payment of tuition fees by students on sick leave, it was considered that a student should not be required to pay a tuition fee for any calendar month during the whole of which he has been on sick leave. A rule to this effect will be inserted in the Code.

17. Regarding the ninth question, the Conference recommended, that when a school re-opens or a class is formed after the middle of the month, new boys should pay only half the tuition fees for that month. This suggestion also is approved, and will be embodied in the Code.

18. As regards the tenth question, concerning the amendment of Article 200 of the Code, in which the periods during which a scholarship-holder can draw his scholarship are specified, it was recommended that under head (c) the words "absence without leave not exceeding two days in a month, if shown to be unavoidable," should be substituted for "periods of absence not exceeding two days at a time," &c. The necessary correction will be made in the Code.

19. With reference to the eleventh question, the Conference recommended that, in order to provide more fully for the teaching of English in the Central Training College, Mathematics be excluded from the compulsory subjects for the Senior Anglo-Vernacular Certificate Examination on the understanding that—

(1) every student shall present himself for examination in Mathematics;

(2) that it be included in the subjects of the house examinations; and

(3) that the examination in the principles of teaching shall include questions on the methods of mathematical teaching. Also that special certificates be awarded to students who pass in Mathematics.

This recommendation is approved.

20. In Article 116 of the Code it is laid down that text-books shall be supplied free of cost, on certain conditions, for the use of boys passing by the various standards prescribed for the award of staff grants to indigenous schools. The Conference considered that books should not be awarded in the case of boys who pass by the 5th or highest standard, and who have therefore completed the course. This decision is approved.

21. Offg. Chief Secretary to Government, Punjab.

Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, in the Home (Medical and Sanitary) Department, No. 546 S., dated Simla, 5th August 1890.

READ—

Letter No. 17—755, dated March 18th, 1890, from the Sanitary Commissioner, forwarding the Report of the Committee appointed in Home Department Resolution No. 303, dated June 6th, 1889, to consider whether a Sanitary Board should be constituted for the Punjab.

RESOLUTION.—The Committee appointed during last summer to consider the question of the constitution of a Sanitary Board for the Punjab are, as a majority, not in favour of nominating such a Board either with executive powers or with merely consultative functions. This objection is based on the belief that the establishment of a Board of the former character would be a measure of centralization in a department of business where decentralization is specially desirable; while the creation of a Board with consultative functions only it is thought would merely result in loss of time if cases had to stand over till meetings of its members could be arranged.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor has expressed his own opinion as to the general lines on which a policy for the improvement of sanitation should proceed in the Province in his Note of May 5th, 1889, which was placed before the Committee, and extracts from which are now appended to this Resolution. He has now carefully considered the views and arguments contained in the Committee's report, and desires very cordially to thank the members for their labours and suggestions. In deference, however, to the wishes of the Government of India and to the opinions of the minority of the Committee, His Honor thinks that the experiment of appointing a Board for the Province should be tried, and he hopes that the institution will prove successful. Accordingly the following officers are nominated as the members of the Sanitary Board :—

The First Financial Commissioner, President.
The Chief Secretary to Government.
The Secretary to Government in the Department of Public Works.
The Joint-Secretary to Government in the Irrigation Department.
The Sanitary Commissioner.
The Commissioner of the Division in which the Board meets.
The Sanitary Commissioner will be the Secretary to the Board.

In addition the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the Board should have power to add to its number, when discussing any particular scheme or work, the Commissioner of the Division and the Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Commissioners of the district or districts to which such scheme relates, or in which the work is situated, the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner, and also any member or members of the District Board or Municipal Committee concerned who may be selected by the Commissioner of the Division. Three members of the Board will form a quorum, and the senior officer present will be the Chairman of the meeting, and have a casting vote in cases in which votes are equally divided.

3. For the present the Sanitary Board will be a consultative Body, but Sir James Lyall is prepared at once to delegate to it from time to time at the Board's request all or any powers which can be so delegated (reserving of course the power to review its action) in respect of any particular project or work, or any special enquiries which may seem necessary. The Lieutenant-Governor will also consider favourably any scheme which the Board may eventually wish to submit for giving to its members a permanent executive authority in regard to the sanitation of Municipalities, and drainage schemes affecting large tracts of country. With regard to village sanitation, His Honor thinks that the Board must continue to be a consultative Body only, for he considers it very advisable that the Government should keep in its own hands the preparation of all measures to be taken in that direction, and should use the services of the Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners and District Boards in carrying them into effect. With regard to the sanitary responsibilities of Civil Surgeons, His Honor does not attach the same degree of importance, as the Committee have done, to the necessity for giving those officers greater opportunities of making sanitary inspections in villages. The sanitary defects of individual villages which it is possible to remedy are of a simple and glaring character, and hardly require inspection by a specialist for their discovery or amendment. Moreover, with reference to their other duties, particularly those of Superintendents of Jails, the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it practicable to give Civil Surgeons any wider facilities for making district tours than are given by the present orders on the subject, and thinks that for sanitary inspections of villages generally reliance must be mainly placed on Deputy Commissioners and their Assistants, and on the Sanitary and Deputy Sanitary Commissioners.

4. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank the Committee for the very useful suggestions made in their report, which will prove a valuable guide to the Sanitary Board in indicating the manner in which its operations should commence. His Honor approves of all the suggestions made by the Committee, and it will now be for the Sanitary Board to consider how far legislation will be required to give effect to them, and to submit recommendations with that object. His Honor will also be glad if the Board will prepare and submit Rules of Business for approval by an early date.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Punjab Government Gazette, and that copies of it, together with the Committee's Report, be forwarded to the members of the Sanitary Board herein appointed for information and guidance.

By order of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor,

H. MAUDE,

Offg. Junior Secretary to Government, Punjab.

Extract paragraphs 2, 4, 6, 7, 8 and 9 of a Note by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab on the Resolution of the Government of India in the Home (Sanitary) Department,—No. 3—217, dated the 27th of July 1888.

2. As to the general point of view from which village sanitation must be regarded, I am still of the opinion expressed in paragraph 16 of Punjab Government Proceedings in the Home (Medical and Sanitary) Department, No. 476, dated the 15th October 1888, that if we attempt any coercion it must be of the mildest kind, and must at present be restricted, so far as village habitations are concerned, to a few points involving small change of practice and little or no expense, and in regard to which we may hope to be able to carry the majority of the communities with us. There is, however, one point in regard to which we shall have the people concerned with us in all that can be done and as to which there is no need for caution, viz., the drainage of water-logged areas. This, however, only affects certain tracts, and is often exceedingly difficult or even impossible to cure. But there is room for immense improvement in this direction. In fact, I believe that much more can be done to benefit the public health by this one measure than by any other sanitary works which can be undertaken. The attention of Local Bodies will continue to be drawn to this subject in every possible way, and they will be helped by grants-in-aid to the utmost that Provincial finances can afford. * * * * * * *

4. As to funds for village sanitation, it may be said that the amount which the District Funds can afford to spend annually on village sanitation will be small, and that each village will have to find separately the cost of any new measures for improving the supply or preventing the pollution of its drinking water, or for the conservancy of the village site. Only in a few very exceptional cases could the District Fund be properly asked to give grants-in-aid for such purposes. At the same time the people in the villages are generally poor, and any new taxation for these purposes would be felt and would be very unpopular. In the Punjab the whole weight of any new taxation would fall on the actual villagers; in other parts of the Bengal Presidency, where the villagers are generally rent-paying tenants of landlords who live elsewhere, the case may be different. For drainage schemes which generally benefit several villages and more or less large tracts of country grants or grants-in-aid should of course be freely given from District Funds, and loans should be taken by District or Local Boards if necessary.

6. Coming to the question of executive agency, it presents, as the Government of India Resolution points out, few difficulties in the case of urban areas. These towns are natural units of administration, and the interests of the population of each town and of the members who represent it in its Municipal Committee are fairly identical. These places also have generally stipendiary Magistrates or Boards of Honorary Magistrates resident in the place, and they are accessible to the Sanitary Commissioner, the local Medical and Engineer Officers, and other authorities. On the other hand, in rural areas the question is entirely different, and I venture to dispute the view taken in the fourth paragraph of the Government of India Resolution, that the Punjab District Boards Act has given the Local Government the means of creating a suitable agency for executing sanitary reforms in villages. No doubt the Act would allow of the Government appointing a Local Board for a village union or group of villages; but, though the very different land tenures and constitution of the village population may make this a practical way of getting an executive agency in Madras, it is not practicable in the Punjab. Here, in this country of sturdy coparcenary communities of peasant proprietors, each village must in village affairs govern itself, or else be governed by orders issued by some high central authority. I think that no one who knows these villages will doubt the fact. Even when neighbouring villages are not at feud and not specially jealous of each other (as they usually are), the nature of things, as well as the nature of the men, is fatal to any village union scheme which would work. Practically therefore we cannot have Local Boards under the Act for village unions; nor would such Boards, if appointed, constitute efficient executive agencies for village sanitation. Nor could we create under the District Boards Act or by new legislation a village agency which would work effectually for sanitary reform. In the present state of village opinion on the subject it would require not only village Boards and rules, but village Magistrates to enforce the rules by penalties. There are few men in the villages fit to be trusted with the power, and the villagers are too democratic in their ideas and too revengeful to submit. Besides, in most villages the whole population, headmen included, would be against the whole system. It seems clear therefore that we are practically in the same position as the North-Western and Central Provinces in the matter of the unit of local self-government under the Act. That is to say, our smallest unit is the Tahsíl Local Board. It is said in the Government of India Resolution that there is no reason why Boards for such areas as tahsíls should not be effective executive agencies for village sanitation. For some purposes, such as drainage of water-logged tracts, they may do good work, but they are not, I think, suitable agencies for village sanitation properly so called, and it would be hardly true to class any work which they can be got to effect in this direction as local self-government. In fact, if we press our District and Local Boards to act strongly in this direction, we run the risk of discrediting their character as local self-government agencies. The same remark is true of the Municipal Committees, but to a less extent.

7. The village sanitation rules which we have had hitherto have been suggestions rather than rules, as they are not based on any enactment. The Resolution of the Government of India recognizes in paragraph 6 that legal power is required to enforce sanitary measures, and that rules to be effectual must be supported by penalties. It is doubtful whether under the present law District or Local Boards could be given power to construct or improve sanitary works, such as wells, tanks, drains or sewers, in a village without the consent of the land-holders. It would perhaps be safe to allow the Boards to have power to order villages to improve drinking wells or tanks, or clear them out, or to construct or repair drains, and power also to do the work and recover cost from the village in case of failure. The question whether Sections 56 and 20, clauses (e) and (h), of the Act give the power to make regulations which would legalize action of this kind has been referred to the Government Advocate for opinion. No doubt in the absence of any legal power if the Boards found the money, or a large part of the money, the consent of the land-holders would generally be obtainable for the construction or improvement of wells or tanks when the existing ones are insufficient or in really bad condition; but, as already stated, the cases in which the Boards could contribute for such works would be very exceptional. Under Sections 30 to 33 of the Act, the District Boards could apparently impose fresh taxes to meet the cost of such works, but such taxes would probably have to be general over the area under the Board, and it is exceedingly doubtful whether a majority of the members of these Boards would ever agree to vote such taxes, and the taxation would be exceedingly unpopular in the villages generally. Any proposal for additional taxation to meet the cost of conservancy establishments in villages would be still more unpopular and unlikely to be voted. I consider that it is not expedient that new taxes should be imposed for such purposes, and that if the money could be so raised the District Boards would not be a suitable agency for carrying out in villages generally a system of repair or construction of such works. As to penal rules against the pollution of water in wells and tanks, it would apparently be possible under Section 56 and Section 20, clause (e), for District Boards to make regulations applicable to villages in this direction. Whether conservancy rules against the non-removal of filth from houses or its improper deposit could be made under Section 56 and Section 20, clause (p), seems doubtful. The question has been referred to the Government Advocate, and if no legal difficulty is apparent, the plan of attempting to induce the Boards to frame such regulations will be considered, but they will have to be of a mildly coercive character and tolerant of the commonest and lesser forms of nuisances to be found in villages. Even when such rules are passed it will be a slow and difficult business to enforce them. The existing magisterial agency will have to be relied on and would be much overburdened if prosecutions were numerous. It has been suggested that the Boards would have to appoint Sanitary Inspectors to detect and prosecute. I am not disposed to accept this suggestion at present, as the measure would be very unpopular and open to much abuse in this country and the Inspector would have a hard task to prove his cases.

8. With reference to these difficulties, which are apparent on the surface, it has been suggested by some experienced officers that to make a real and speedy advance in village sanitation it will be necessary to separate the matter from the field of local self-government and to legislate so as to give the Magistrate of the district and his Assistants power to fine villages en bloc for insanitation, and to impose punitive sanitary establishments upon villages which do not improve their sanitation after warning. I would be very sorry to propose legislation of this kind, and I do not believe that the matter is urgent enough to make it really necessary. After all, in spite of much less attention to sanitation, the villages are still much more healthy in the Punjab than the towns. The greater general robustness of the people is very remarkable, and the true and general complaint of the Punjab villagers is that they are increasing in numbers so fast that their holdings are becoming insufficient for their subsistence. If the poorer villagers are sometimes weakly, it is to be feared that a deficiency of good food and clothing is the cause rather than other insanitary causes.

9. The only exception is in the case of villages in certain malarious low alluvial or canal-irrigated tracts, where the sub-soil is saturated with water. Here the villagers are often much less robust than the townspeople. Twenty-five years ago I was engaged in the land revenue settlement of a submontane district of the Punjab, and had to draw up pedigree tables of the land-holding families. In one low alluvial tract long densely irrigated by small private canals the physique of the proprietors was extremely weakly, and the pedigree tables showed that for generations they had been diminishing rather than increasing in numbers. On the other hand, in adjacent upland unirrigated tracts the people were very robust, and the pedigree tables showed large families and rapid increase in numbers, in spite of cattle herded in the dwelling houses, manure heaps close to the houses, absence of latrines, want of precautions to protect drinking water, and other usual village customs which are held to be insanitary. Though the drinking water in the upland villages is constantly not what we should call pure, and is often full of salts of kinds, it does not seem to affect the health of the people, and in their own way they know what water suits them and take some pains about it. In the same way they are so accustomed to the vicinity of their manure heaps that they seem to be unaffected by them. At all events, before proposing coercive legislation of this nature in the Punjab, I should wish to watch how it succeeds in other older and more advanced Provinces.

Punjab Government Notifications and Orders.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

NATIVE STATES.

The 27th November 1890.

No. 672.—Notification.—The following ceremonial observed at Kapurthala on the occasion of the investiture of His Highness Rája Jagatjít Singh of Kapurthala with full powers on the 24th November 1890 is published for general information :—

On Monday, the 24th November 1890, at 12 noon, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab and its Dependencies held a Public Darbár at Kapurthala for the purpose of formally investing His Highness Rája Jagatjít Singh with full powers of administration.

The Darbár was attended by the Rája of Mandi, who was received under the salute due to him, and by the Civil and Military Officers of Government present at Kapurthala and by the other guests and officials of the Kapurthala State. The entrance to the Darbár Hall was lined by troops, and a Guard of Honor with a Band was drawn up outside the Hall.

The Lieutenant-Governor was escorted to the Hall by a party of Cavalry and was accompanied by his Personal Staff, the Commissioner of the Jullundur Division, the Chief Secretary to the Government of the Punjab, and a deputation consisting of four officials of the State. The Rája and the Superintendent of the State met His Honor half-way, and accompanied him to the Darbár Hall. On the arrival of His Honor at the Hall the troops presented arms, and a salute of 15 guns was fired.

The Rája conducted His Honor to his seat in the Darbár Hall, all present rising. On the right of the Lieutenant-Governor were seated the Rája of Kapurthala, the Rája of Mandi, the Superintendent of the Kapurthala State, and the Officials and Sardárs of the State in the order of their precedence. On the left of the Lieutenant-Governor sat the Commissioner of the Jullundur Division, the Chief Secretary to the Punjab Government, the other Officers in attendance on His Honor, and the other Officers present in Darbár.

Behind the seats first occupied by the Lieutenant-Governor and the Rája two chairs of State were placed on a raised dais, one of which represented a Masnad. When all persons present were seated, the Lieutenant-Governor addressed the Rája of Kapurthala as follows, and a translation of the address was read by the Chief Secretary to the Punjab Government :—

"RAJA OF KAPURTHALA,—Thirteen years ago in this same month of November Sir Robert Egerton came here to install Your Highness as Rája. In his speech on that occasion Sir Robert referred to the friendly alliance which existed at the beginning of this century between the British Government and your ancestor Sardár Fatteh Singh, and to the conspicuous loyalty and gallantry in the field exhibited by your grandfather Rája Randhír Singh in 1857, and expressed the pleasure he felt in representing the Government of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen-Empress in the installation of the Chief of so loyal and distinguished a family. Since then the State has done all that was possible to maintain its traditionary loyalty. In 1878-79 it furnished a contingent of troops for service in the Afghán War, and on two other occasions it offered similar assistance. Again in 1889 it was one of the first States in India to offer to maintain a body of troops specially drilled and equipped for War Service with the Imperial forces, and of the efficiency of these troops most favourable reports have been already received. Like Sir Robert Egerton therefore I feel it an honor and a pleasure to be here to-day for the purpose of completing the work which he began and investing Your Highness with the full powers of the State, and I am glad that this auspicious act has to be performed on the very day on which Your Highness completes your eighteenth year and attains your majority. It is often said that the period of minority for Ruling Chiefs in India is dangerously short, and no doubt there is truth in the remark; but in your case, Rája, I have such confidence in your judgment and character and in the ability and honesty of your excellent staff of State officials that I feel no apprehension.

"Speaking to yourself and all present, Sir Robert Egerton said in 1877 that it would be many years before the young Prince whose succession the British Government then confirmed would be old enough to assume the administration of the State, and that till that time arrived it would be the duty of the Government to watch over his safety, to procure for him the best possible education, and to ensure the good government of his people. I think I may say that the Punjab Government has honestly and successfully fulfilled the duty which it then undertook. It would have been impossible to find a better personal guardian and medical adviser than you have had for the last thirteen years in Dr. Warburton, and this I know is a fact which is warmly acknowledged by Your Highness and by all your people. Your educational attainments are unusually good both in English and in the Oriental languages, and, though the credit for this is mainly due to your own mental capacity and industry, your Tutor, Mr. Wood, must get his fair share of the praise.

"As to the good government of your people, the State has been administered by an English Officer selected from the Punjab Commission as Superintendent, assisted by a Council of the principal officials or Heads of Departments. For the post of Superintendent the Punjab Government has freely given the very best officers it had available, as will be evident from the mere repetition of their names. Mr. (now Sir Lepel) Griffin, K.C.S.I., was the first Superintendent, and held office till he was appointed Secretary to the Punjab Government. He very ably organized the new administration on the lines which it has since followed. Mr. Charles Rivaz, now Officiating Financial Commissioner of the Punjab, succeeded him, and had a long tenure of the office: under him much progress was made in Land Revenue Settlements and in Judicial arrangements. Mr. Mackworth Young, C.S.I., Financial Commissioner, Punjab; Mr. F. Fryer, C.S.I., Financial Commissioner, Burma; Mr. F. D. Cunningham, C.I.E.; Major the Hon'ble George Napier, C.I.E.; and Mr. Denzil Ibbetson also held the office for various periods, and for the last four years it has been most ably held by your friend Major Massy, whose financial management in particular, including large and profitable investments of savings, and liberal advances of taccávi to zemíndárs, has been of great benefit to the State. I take the opportunity to congratulate Major Massy cordially on the fine completion which he has put to the work, and on the excellent preparations which he has made for his pleasant task of handing over the administration to Your Highness. I am glad by-the-bye to see in this grand hall a sign of Your Highness' grateful recognition of the services of the officers who have held the post of Superintendent. I allude to the excellent portraits of these gentlemen which have been lately painted by Your Highness' orders, and which figure among the pictures which adorn the walls.

"In Sir Robert Egerton's speech to which I have so often referred he said to the Sardárs and chief officials of Kapurthala that the satisfactory result of the administrative arrangements which the British Government was about to make, the comfort and prosperity of the people, and the honor and dignity of the Darbár must in a great measure depend upon the loyal and devoted spirit in which they might work with the British Government to promote the advantage of the people and the State. And in the orders which the Punjab Government at that time issued it was laid down that the Superintendent should endeavour to carry on the administration with the existing staff of officers, and, as far as possible, in conformity with native laws and usages. I am glad to be able to say that these instructions have been faithfully carried out, and that the Sardárs and chief officials have loyally responded to the appeal which Sir Robert Egerton addressed to them. The business of the chief departments of the State has been left almost uniformly in the hands of those officers or their near relatives who were found in office when the first English Superintendent took over charge, and no outsiders have been imported to take away from the natives of Kapurthala the service under the State which they can justly claim so long as they prove themselves, as they have done in this instance, ready and able to perform it honestly and efficiently. With their help good progress has been secured in all departments without rupture with the landmarks and traditions of old Sikh Government, and without sacrifice of the obligations of custom, to which in Native States the mass of the people and the best of the officials rightly agree in attaching a high value.

"I think it will be agreeable to Your Highness and gratifying to them if I specially mention on this occasion some of these ministers and high officers of the State to whom the Darbár have reason to be grateful for good work done and progress secured during the minority.

"Your Highness' uncle, Kanwar Harnám Singh, C.I.E., has for the past eleven years held the office of Manager of the extensive estates in Oudh conferred by the British Government on Rája Randhír Singh for services in 1857. The Kanwar's management has been very successful financially, and when in Oudh, some years ago, I heard from several quarters that, as compared with other Taluqdári estates in Oudh, the Kapurthala management is considered to be liberal and considerate.

"At head-quarters Diwán Rámjas, C.S.I., has been the principal minister, and has always proved a tower of strength to the administration: he and his son Diwán Mathra Dás have had charge of the finances.

"Sardár Bhagat Singh, C.I.E., who is related to Your Highness, has done excellent service in charge of the Household and as Appellate Judge.

"Sardár Nabi Bakhsh, C.I.E., commanded the contingent sent to the Afghán Frontier in 1879, and has since held with much efficiency the post of Military Secretary.

"Colonel Muhammad Ali, late Commandant of Artillery, was also with the contingent in 1879, and has always been a reliable member of the State Council. I much regret to hear he died last week from an illness contracted in the performance of his duties.

"Lála Bhagwán Dás, Mír Munshi, has also worked with marked ability and integrity, and the services of Mián Azíz Bakhsh, Collector, of Colonel Donnelly, of Lála Ishar Dás, Motamid, and of many others would, if time allowed, deserve to be honorably mentioned.

"I believe, Rája, that it is your intention to carry on the administration on the existing lines: this is right, and with your ability and good judgment and the advice of your experienced councillors I do not think you will find the work difficult. But you should bear in mind the advice which His Excellency the Viceroy lately gave on an occasion similar to this to the Mahárája of Patiála and recognise the fact that without steady perseverance and punctuality in despatch of business the best intentions and the greatest cleverness will not secure good government. I understand also that you wish to keep in office the State servants who have worked so well during your minority; this will be the wisest course and in accordance with the traditions of the State. I strongly recommend you to avoid employing outsiders, who cannot have that permanent interest in the welfare of your people or that inborn feeling of loyalty to the Ahluwália Chief which your own subjects have. This natural loyalty is a treasure-house of power and of pleasure to a good Ruler. You should consider it a most precious inheritance, and maintain and repay it by showing in word and in deed true sympathy and consideration for all classes of your people. Loyalty to their hereditary Chief is a feeling which is very strong in the Feudatory States of India wherever the people are fairly treated, but you should remember, Rája, that this feeling springs mainly from reverence for the Past and a proud affection for old local manners and customs. It may therefore be easily alienated by innovations distasteful to the mass of the people or by the adoption of foreign manners and ways of life which are probably unsuitable to the country, and which are, at any rate, in no sense necessary for true progress. I have every hope, Rája, from all I know of your conduct and character that you will avoid the pitfalls which I have mentioned, and be as active and enlightened a Ruler as your grandfather Rája Randhír Singh, and as staunch to your principles and your policy as was the renowned Sardár Jassa Singh, the founder of your family.

"Above all I hope and expect that the honorable and prudent disposition and kind temper which you have always displayed hitherto will make you a just and considerate Ruler of your subjects in the Punjab, and a liberal landlord of the great estates in Oudh from which you now derive so splendid an income. You should remember the words of an English poet which were addressed more than 200 years ago to a king of England, and were by him specially admired and often repeated—

The glories of our birth and state
Are shadows, not substantial things:
There is no armour against fate,
Death lays his icy hand on kings:
Sceptre and crown
Must tumble down,
And in the dust be equal made
With the poor crooked scythe and spade:
* * * * *
Only the memory of the just Smells sweet and blossoms in the dust."

All present then rose, and His Honor conducted the Rája to the Masnad. The Chief Secretary to the Punjab Government then recited the Rája's full titles,* and His Honor declared His Highness invested with the full powers of administration. The Band in attendance thereupon played the National Anthem, and a salute of 11 guns was fired in honor of His Highness the Rája.

* His Highness Rája Jagatjít Singh, Bahádur, Farzand-i-Dilband Rásikh-ul-I'tikád Daulat-i-Inglishía, Rája-i-Rájgán, Chief of Kapurthala.

The khillat of the Punjab Government was then brought in and conferred on His Highness, His Honor handing a sword of State to the Rája.

The Rája then rose and replied to His Honor's address as follows:—

"YOUR HONOR,—I feel highly sensible of the dignity which has been conferred upon me to-day, and Your Honor may rest assured that I will do all in my power to carry into effect the kind wishes you have expressed regarding my future career. I will endeavour to keep my people contented and happy by governing them justly and continuing to them the rights they at present enjoy. My officials who have done excellent service in the past will, I am sure, continue to work honestly and conscientiously in the future, and I look to them for loyal assistance in maintaining the traditions of the State and in carrying on the administration in the lines laid down by my honored and illustrious grandfather and the Ahluwália Chiefs before him.

"I take this opportunity of thanking my officials, who have during the past sixteen years so faithfully assisted in preserving the honor and dignity of the State; and I am glad to be assured that in no respect has the administration suffered during the period of my minority. I trust my officials and my people may always regard me as their friend, and that we may have wisdom to lean upon and support each other in times of difficulty as well as when God is giving us a period of prosperity.

"For all that the British Government has done for me I most heartily record my acknowledgments. The best officers of the Punjab Commission have been selected to look after the State in my interests; and I gladly take this opportunity of publicly thanking the Superintendents—Messrs. Lepel Griffin, Rivaz, Mackworth Young, Fryer, Cunningham, Napier, Ibbetson and Massy—for the unselfish zeal and devotion with which they have one and all applied themselves to the difficult duties entrusted to them. I regard them as my truest friends, and I am bound to them by a debt of gratitude which I shall perhaps discharge in a manner most pleasing to them by striving my utmost to walk in the straight path which they would, I am sure, wish me to follow. I shall still turn to them for assistance and advice, and I shall ever gratefully remember their kindness and devotion to me and my interests.

"Neither can I let the present occasion pass without mentioning the name of my kind friend Dr. Warburton, who has been with me since my birth, and whose skilful care has, I believe, under God, preserved me through more than one severe illness. To Mr. Wood also I am deeply indebted, and I desire to make my acknowledgments to him for his kindly and affectionate bearing towards me as my tutor.

"Your Honor, I will endeavour to act upon the advice you have to-day given me, and to accomplish, to the best of my ability, the bright hopes you have so kindly expressed regarding my future career. I feel I may regard Your Honor as a true friend, who will take me by the hand and give me the comfort of your kindly sympathies, of which I shall constantly stand in need. With Your Honor's wise counsels to guide me I feel I am given strength to undertake the charge which it has pleased God to entrust to me; and I pray my actions be so shaped as to secure the approval of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress and the contentment of my own people."

On the conclusion of His Highness' reply the officials of the State were presented to His Honor and offered the usual nazars, which were touched and remitted.

Khillats were then presented to those officials who had been Members of Council during the Rája's minority, viz.—

Kanwar Harnám Singh, C.I.E.

Lála Harcharn Dás.
Lála Bhagwán Dás, Secretary to the Council.

When atar and pán had been distributed, His Honor left the Darbár under the ceremonies observed on his arrival.

PART I.—THE PRELIMINARY RECORD.

1. Beginning from the of 1891, you will visit every house in your block to which a separate number has been affixed, in the order in which they are entered in the block list in your book, and enter in the schedules in that book every person residing in those houses in the manner prescribed below.

2. You must use black ink and write very clearly in the character you know best.

3. You must take a fresh page for each house. If there are more than eight persons in a house you should continue the entries for that house on the next page, repeating at the top of that page the number of the house in question, with the word "continued" after it in brackets. You must never begin the entries for a fresh house in the middle of a page, but should leave the unused lines blank.

4. If the entry for any person in any of the columns of the schedule be the same as that of the person entered on the line above, you must repeat the entry and never write the word "ditto" or make dots.

5. If one of the houses on the list be found unoccupied, you should write the word "empty" after the number of that house on the top of the form. If a householder's schedule has been provided for a house, you should make no entry at all for that house.

6. You are to enter on this visit all persons who ordinarily live and take their meals from the house, even though any of them may be, at the time of your visit, absent for a short time at the bázár, town, watching crops, fishery, &c., or even for a few days at a wedding, on a pilgrimage, or the like, provided they are to be back at the house before the 26th February. After these ordinary residents you should enter the visitors, if any, stopping in the house; but not such as will not remain there till the 26th February, In dharmsálas, saráis or temples, you should enter on this occasion only those who usually live there, and not travellers, &c., stopping only a day or a night or so in the building.

7. Before beginning to make these entries you must read carefully the rules for filling up each column, which are printed below, and also the specimen schedules.

8. Whilst you are filling up these schedules the supervisor will inspect your work, and see if you understand the rules. You should point out to him entries about which you are in doubt and receive his instructions. You must have completed all the entries in your block by the of 1891.

PART II—THE FINAL CENSUS.

9. On the evening of the 26th February 1891, as soon as the lamps are lit and the cattle have come from grazing, you will take this book as already filled in, and visit every house in your block in order.

10. You must summon the chief member of each family residing in the house, and read over to him the entries made for his family in the schedule. You will strike out the entries for persons who are not present, and fill up the form for any person now in the house who was not there when the first visit was made, such as guests, infants newly born, and others.

11. You are to consider as present all living in or taking their meals from the house, even though any of them may be out fishing, or watching in the fields, or at a shop, &c., for the night.

12. You must enter the word "visitor" in column 1, after the names of all who have only come to the house for a short time, and do not ordinarily reside there.

13. If there be no room left in the schedule for the fresh entries above mentioned, you must take a fresh page at the end of your book and enter on it the house number with the word 'continued' after it.

14. Before you leave to go on your round, you must see that you are yourself enumerated as present in the house where you are stopping.

15. You must make no alteration whatever in any entry against the name of any person whom you do not strike out, because he or she is no longer present. When you so strike out an entry, you must draw the line completely through all the entries relating to that person, and not merely through column 1.

16. You must use only red ink for entries and erasures made on the round on the 26th February.

17. Whilst going on this round you must visit every house marked "empty" in your book, to see whether any person is now living there.

18. After visiting, as above, all the dwelling houses, you must go to the dharmsálas, saráis, encampments and landing-places, where travellers rest for the night, and enter all particulars in the schedules for the wayfarers, pilgrims, &c., you may find there and strike out the entries against residents, &c., who are not now present. You should ascertain from the village watchmen if any wandering gang, &c., has come to encamp in your block, and if there be any such you should go and enumerate it as above prescribed for other persons.

19. If any householder in your block has been given a separate schedule, you should collect it on the morning of the 27th February, and after seeing that the rules have been complied with in filling up the columns you should stitch or pin it into your book, next to the last schedule filled up by you.

20. After your book has been inspected by the Supervisor, you will prepare the short abstract printed on the back of the specimen schedule in it, as directed by the Supervisor.

21. According to the Census Act every person is legally bound to furnish you with such information as is necessary for filling up the schedule, but you are forbidden to ask for any information not required for the purpose of the Census. Any Enumerator detected in extorting money on any pretext connected with the Census, renders himself liable to punishment under the law.

PART III.—RULES FOR FILLING UP THE SCHEDULE.

The 13*th December* 1890.

No. 359.—Notification.—The Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to sanction the following additions to Articles 312 and 313 of the Punjab Education Code, 3rd Edition:—

In clause (c) of Articles 312 and 313 add the word "gross" before the words "annual income."

No. 361.—Notification.—The following regulations regarding the appoinment, duties and remuneration of Examiners having been made by the Senate of the Punjab University, reduced to writing and sealed with the common seal of the University in accordance with the provisions of Section 18 of Article XIX of 1882, and having been sanctioned by the Local Government, are hereby notified as required by Section 20 of the said Act:—

Regulations regarding the appointment, duties and remuneration of Examiners.

1.—Appointment of Examiners.

The Examiners in all subjects, except in Law, shall be annually appointed by the Syndicate (subject to the subsequent confirmation of the Senate) not later than the month of May preceding the examination. Examiners in Oriental, Classical and Vernacular languages selected for all examinations in the Faculty of Arts shall be persons who have a good knowledge of English.

2. Examiners for all oral and practical examinations shall be appointed by the Syndicate one month before the date of the examination.

3. In cases of emergency, owing to the refusal or inability of an Examiner to act, or other cause, when there is no time to bring the appointment of anther Examiner before the Syndicate, the Vice-Chancellor, moved by the Registrar, shall be empowered to appoint such Examiner.

4. As a rule, the Examiners for the Degree Examinations shall not be the same as those for the Intermediate Examination: provided that where the number of candidates for the Degree Examinations is small, one or both of the Examiners for these examinations may be employed for the Intermediate Examination.

5. When the number of candidates for the B. O. L. and M. O. L. Examinations is small, it is unnecessary to provide a second paper as specified below in paragraph 1 of the Duties of Examiners. The English papers shall be translated and centographed, if necessary, on the spot; the University providing a Translator who shall be present two hours previous to the examination and be subjected to proper supervision.

2.—Duties of Examiners.

1. In all subjects, except Languages, the Examiner shall be required to set two papers of equal standard, one for the examination of the Oriental Faculty and the other for the examination of the Arts Faculty.* Except in cases where the Examiner who sets the paper is prepared to translate the paper for the examination in the Oriental Faculty, and to examine each vernacular answer himself, each paper set for the examination of the Oriental Faculty shall be handed over to a separate Examiner, who shall translate the paper and examine the answers.

* Where the number of candidates for the B. O. L. and M. O. L. Examinations is small, it is unnecessary to provide a second paper. (See above, paragraph 5 of Appointment of Examiners.)

2. (a). Examiners shall be required to distribute their questions with some uniformity over the whole range of the subjects in which they examine.

(b). In all examinations in Mathematics about two-thirds of the marks shall be assigned to book-work, or questions involving the direct application of ordinary rules.

(c). With regard to examinations in those subjects for which alternative text-books are recommended, Examiners are required not to base their questions exclusively on any one of such text-books.

(d). In the case of Paper (a)—containing explanations of passages in Prose and Poetry and questions in Grammar—for the examinations in English by the Intermediate and B. A. Standard, about two-thirds of the marks shall be assigned to questions based on the text-books and one-third to those of a more general character.

(e). In the case of Paper (a) for the examinations in the Oriental Languages by the Entrance, Intermediate and B. A. Standard, about two-thirds of the marks shall be assigned to questions containing passages for translation from the text-books (with explanation and Grammar) and one-third for passages of a similar standard from books not prescribed in the course.

(f). As a rule, alternative questions are to be avoided. If given, they shall always be of equivalent value and standard of difficulty.*

3. (a). The Examiner shall strictly conform to the rules laid down in the regulations for the examination with which he is concerned, respecting the language to be used as the medium of examination in setting and answering the papers.

(b). In the Intermediate, Entrance and Middle School Examinations in the case of passages set for translation from the different vernaculars into English, the Examiner is required to take care that the passages set in the vernaculars shall be of an equal standard of difficulty. In case he is unable to set passages in any one of the five languages specified in the regulations, he shall inform the Registrar, who shall report his inability to the Syndicate, and special arrangements shall then be made to have the papers for translation from and into such vernaculars set, looked over, and marked by competent Examiners.

(c). The Examiner in Natural Science is required to set a paper for the Oral and Practical test in that subject, and in cases where there are two Examiners, one of them shall be selected by the Syndicate for this purpose.

(d). The Examiner in English is required to set a passage for the Oral Examination in English, and in cases where there are two Examiners, one of them shall be selected by the Syndicate for this purpose.

(e). The Examiners in Classical Languages and Persian for the Arts Faculty must themselves translate the papers set by them for the Arts Faculty into Vernacular for the candidates on the Oriental side.

4. No Examiner shall give any fractional marks for any paper in the results sent to the Registrar.

5. Examiners shall assign marks for each question which shall be indicated in the right-hand margin of the paper.

* Model question papers are under preparation to serve as a guide for Examiners in setting papers, in order to ensure stability of standard, but they are not, of course, intended to interfere otherwise with the discretion of Examiners.

6. Any paper which does not strictly conform to the rules herein laid down may be returned to the Examiners for correction by the Registrar.

7. Every Examiner shall forward his paper to the Registrar under sealed cover through the registered post, and the Registrar is authorized to reject any paper which is not forwarded in the prescribed manner.

3.—Remuneration of Examiners.

Arts and Oriental Faculties.

1. The scale of remuneration to Examiners of written papers shall be as stated below :—

M. A. and M. O. L.	65	...	...	2 0 0

A fee of Rs. 10 in the case of the Entrance Examination, Rs. 15 in the case of the Intermediate Examination, and Rs. 20 in the case of the B. A. and B. O. L. Examination, shall be paid for setting a paper for the Oral Examination in Science.

4. When the Examiner is unable to set and look over the passages for translation into English from all the Vernaculars specified in the regulations for the Middle School, Entrance and Intermediate Examinations, special arrangements may be made by the Syndicate for the remuneration of the persons selected to set, look over and mark the passages for translation from Vernacular into English, and to look over and mark the passages set by the Examiners in English for translation into Vernacular.

* The conditions under which such papers are set are defined above,—vide Duties of Examiners.

† Except in the case of the Sanitation and Caligraphy papers, for which a fee of 1 anna for each paper is prescribed.

‡ A fee of 3 annas is allowed for looking over each paper in History, Geography, Physics and Mathematics, and fee of 2 annas for each Vernacular paper. In all other subjects a fee of 4 annas for each paper is allowed.

7. With the consent of the majority of the members present at any meeting, the Chairman may give priority to any item or items of business, irrespective of the order in which such item or items stands or stand on the agenda paper.

8. The proceedings shall be conducted in the Vernacular, but members who are not able to express themselves in Vernacular may address the meeting in English, and the Secretary will interpret in the Vernacular.

If a poll is demanded by any member present, it shall be taken by show of hands, and the result of such poll as declared by the Chairman shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Committee at the meeting.

23. No. 215.—Notification.—The following Rules framed by the Delhi Municipal Committee under Sections 88 and 24 (1) (f) of Act XIII of 1884 are hereby published for general information, and will be adopted after the expiration of six weeks from the date of this publication :—

RULES.

1. Every person intending to erect or re-erect any building within the limits of the Municipality shall give notice in writing of his intention to the member in charge of the ward, or to the Secretary of the Committee, who shall forward it to Ward Member.

2. Such notice shall be accompanied by a ground plan showing dimensions of plinth, line of frontage of adjoining buildings, and space, if any, that will be left on all sides between existing buildings and that proposed to be erected. It shall also show the position of all outer doors.

3. The notice shall also be accompanied by a specification giving the following particulars :—

(a) Height of plinth above street level, and means of access to doors from the street.

(b) Height of building and number of stories.

(c) Position of privies with means of access for cleansing same; position and nature of drains to be constructed in connection with such privies.

(d) Position of house drains, and means of connecting the same with the public sewers.

(e) Projections over public streets, &c., for which sanction under Section 89, Act XIII of 1884, is required.

4. Where permission to construct projections is desired, the notice shall be accompanied by an elevation showing height above ground and width of projection.

5. Where a building is to be re-erected, and it is alleged that projections already exist, all such existing projections shall be fully described. It is, however, to be understood that the existence of projections in the old building does not give rise to any claim as of right to the reconstruction of similar projections in the new, if they are considered by the Committee to be for any reason objectionable.

6. Where the proposal is to increase the superstructure of existing foundations, a ground plan will not be necessary, but the other conditions of the above rules shall apply as far as may be ; provided that where the roof of such superstructure is to be of wood, tiles, corrugated iron, or other light material, a simple notice will be sufficient, and no plan or specification will be required.

7. Where, in the opinion of the Ward Member or of the Committee, further particulars of the kind described in Section 88 are necessary, he or they shall call upon the applicant to furnish the same, and he shall be bound to comply upon pain of sanction being refused to the erection of the building.

8. Where the applicant is unable to provide the plans, &c., required by these rules he may apply to the Secretary or to the Ward Member to have them prepared for him by the Municipal Draughtsman, and for this service such fee as may from time to time be fixed by the Municipal Committee shall be paid in advance.

9. The Ward Member and Secretary will see that no avoidable delay takes place in the preparation of plans by the Municipal Draughtsman. When the plans are ready, they shall be made over to the applicant for presentation with his notice.

10. The date of the notice shall be the date on which it is filed with all plans, &c., required by these rules. The notice, plans, specifications, &c., shall be verified by the signature of the person giving the notice.

11. On receipt of this notice by the Ward Member either direct or through the Secretary, it shall be the duty of the Ward Member to inspect the locality without delay. The inspection by the ward member should usually be made within seven days from the date of the notice.

12. It will be the duty of the Ward Member to see that the plan is correct and to satisfy himself regarding the following particulars :—

(a) That the building does not encroach upon the street or upon public property of any kind, or interfere with the public drains.

(b) That means of access are provided, which will obviate the necessity for subsequent applications to build stairs or ramps projecting into the street.

(c) That the line of frontage is appropriate with regard to that of adjoining buildings.

(d) That the internal sanitary arrangements and the connections of the house drains with the public sewers are suitable.

(e) That it is not necessary to acquire any portion of the site for the improvement of the street, or for any other purpose.

(f) Where projections under Section 89 are proposed, whether they can be allowed under the standing orders of the Committee in this behalf, and whether permission should be granted.

13. Where the proposed erection satisfies all the requirements of the preceding rules the Ward Member shall give permission in writing.

14. In other cases the Ward Member shall report the circumstances, with his opinion, for the orders of the Municipal Committee.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

The 18th March 1890.

No. 575.—Notification.—Under the powers conferred upon him by Section 33 of Act XX of 1883 (The Punjab District Boards Act), the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to authorize the Commissioners of Divisions to sanction the levy of fees fixed by District or Local Boards for levy at fairs placed under the management of these Bodies.

Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor in the Financial Department, No. 576, dated 18th March 1890.

[ECT—Proposed localization of the important fairs of the Province, the management of which has not been already transferred to Local Bodies.

REMARKS.—In reply to the Circular of this Government, No. 1651, dated 17th July 1888, the majority of officers have reported in favour of the proposal to place the more important general fairs of the Province under the management of Local Bodies. It appears from the replies received that in a number of cases these fairs have been successfully managed in the past by such Bodies, and the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that there need be no hesitation in now extending this policy further.

2. His Honor is accordingly pleased to direct that in future the fairs named in the statement appended to this Resolution shall be placed under the management of the Local Body noted opposite each. The Lieutenant-Governor is also pleased to decide that if in any other cases this is considered desirable by the Deputy Commissioner of the district and the Commissioner of the Division, the latter may authorize the transfer of the management of any other fair to the Municipal Committee or District Board in whose jurisdiction it is held. The transfers sanctioned on the present occasion relate to Municipalities and District Boards only ; but it will be in the power of any District Board to which the management of a fair is transferred to place the management of that fair in the hands of any Local Board subordinate to it.

3. The management of these fairs is transferred to Local Bodies subject to the condition that they observe the rules issued in 1869 for this purpose. These rules have been slightly modified in certain respects to meet present circumstances and are re-published for convenience of reference in the Appendix to this Resolution.

4. As was explained in paragraph 4 of the Circular of the 17th July 1888, Local Bodies entrusted with the management of fairs may levy fees for the purpose of meeting the expenses of Police and Sanitary arrangements at these gatherings, and other charges connected with them, any surplus income, after defraying such expenses, being credited to the Local Body concerned. These fees can be imposed by District Boards under the provisions of Section 33, Act XX of 1883, and the Lieutenant-Governor has delegated to the Commissioners of Divisions by Notification No. 575, of to-day's date the power to sanction such fees. Where it is desired to levy similar fees in the case of Municipalities it will be necessary for the Municipal Committee to submit proposals for this under clause (b) of Section 39 of Act XIII of 1884.

5. It will be clearly understood that the transfer of the fairs in question to the Local Bodies in whose jurisdiction they are held will not in any way affect the power of the Magistrates of the District or the Police authorities to direct or take such measures as they may consider necessary for the maintenance of peace and order at such gatherings ; and all Local Bodies to whom such transfers are made shall be bound to comply with any requisition which may be made to them by the above authorities in this behalf.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above Resolution be published in the Punjab Government Gazette, and communicated to all Commissioners and Superintendents of Divisions in the Punjab for the information and guidance of the Local Bodies concerned, and to the Inspectors-General of Police and Civil Hospitals.

By order of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab,

H. C. FANSHAWE,

Junior Secretary to Government, Punjab.

APPENDIX.

Rules to be observed in the Management of the more Important Fairs in the Punjab.

All fairs at which 10,000 persons or upwards are expected to assemble are to be considered important fairs.

2. The Municipal Committee or District Board in whose jurisdiction the fair is held will make the necessary arrangements for the proper management of the fair.

3. The Committee or Board will, in communication with the Civil Surgeon, nominate a Sub-Assistant Surgeon or Native Doctor to take charge of the hospital, and other arrangements for the medical treatment of the sick, and furnish the necessary hospital establishment.

It is desirable that the Civil Surgeon of Umballa should in person attend the important Fair of Thânesar and superintend the medical arrangements.

MEDICAL OFFICER OF THE FAIR.

4. The Medical Officer will visit the hospitals at least twice a day, affording all necessary professional aid to those in hospital, and also to any persons who may be unable to be carried thither.

5. The Civil Surgeon will see that the Medical Officer of the fair is provided with a sufficient supply of medicines and surgical instruments for the treatment of the sick, and of carbolic acid for disinfecting purposes.

6. The Medical Officer should visit without delay any part of the fair where the Police have reported to him the outbreak of sickness arising from any cause.

The sick should, if possible, be removed together with their families to the nearest available hospital.

The Medical Officer will endeavour to discover the cause of all deaths, and take careful note thereof.

7. He should keep a register of admissions into hospital, and after the termination of the fair shall furnish the Sanitary Commissioner with a return in the following form:—

Abstract of Admission Register of the Hospital established at the Fair in the month of 18 .

NAME OF DISEASE.	TOTAL NUMBER ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL.		TOTAL NUMBER DISCHARGED.		TOTAL NUMBER DIED.		Place from whence those who died came to the Fair.
	Males.	Females.	Males.	Females.	Males.	Females.
Cholera
Dysentery and Diarrhœa
Small-pox
Fever, intermittent ...
Contagious fever ...
All other diseases ...

POLICE AT FAIR.

8. The Municipal Committee or District Board in whose jurisdiction the fair is held shall arrange some time beforehand with the District Superintendent of Police for the necessary number of extra Police required.

8 (a). The Police force should maintain a careful watch that the sanitary arrangements are fully carried out.

9. The Police should forbid the performance of the offices of nature in or near the fair at any place not set aside for such purpose.

10. They should report to the Medical Officer of the fair the appearance of sickness in any part of the fair.

11. They should cause all persons sick of cholera, or small-pox, or any other serious disease, to be carried at once to the hospital set apart for such cases, and, if possible, prevent the approach to the fair of any person affected by these diseases.

12. They should keep a Register of all deaths that occur at the fair, and forward a copy of it to the office of the Sanitary Commissioner as soon as possible after the termination of the fair.

The Register should be in the form of the usual weekly Mortuary Register.

PRELIMINARY ARRANGEMENTS FOR FAIR.

13. Some time before the fair the site where the fair is to be held should be prepared by being levelled, holes filled up, and if necessary cuts made to remove surface water.

Broad lines of communication should be marked on the site in such a way as to be most convenient for the purposes of the fair.

The roads should be as straight as possible, and should intersect each other so as to form square blocks. The main road should not be less than 60 feet wide, and the cross roads not less than 45 feet wide. It is desirable that the position of the roads should be permanently marked by stone pillars on the sides where the more important fairs are held.

14. All jungle growth standing on the roads or on the places set aside for the camping of the people should be cut down, but large trees are to be carefully preserved.

15. Whenever at any fair a very great assemblage of people may be expected, strong barricades should be erected across the roads of communication at such places as the Police authorities may determine.

THE MANAGEMENT OF THE FAIR.

16. The people as they arrive must be made to encamp in orderly arrangement on the vacant spaces between the roadways. No one may encamp on a roadway.

17. Bannias' and sweetmeat-sellers' shops should, if convenient, be established in every division in sufficient numbers to furnish a supply of food for the division.

These shops should be located immediately at the sides of the main road, but not on the road.

WATER SUPPLY.

18. When the water supply is obtained from wells, they should be looked to and cleaned out a week or ten days beforehand. They should be provided with a proper coping and a masonry chabútra sloping outwards to prevent waste water flowing back into the well—also with suitable appliances for lifting the water. The people should not be allowed to stand over the well mouth in raising water.

No water should be allowed to stagnate within 100 feet of a well used for drinking purposes.

When a stream or a tank is the source of water supply, arrangements should be made to preserve the drinking water as free from contamination as possible.

CONSERVANCY ARRANGEMENTS IN FAIRS.

19. In the immediate outskirts of the fair, at a distance of not less than 200 yards, pieces of ground should be set aside for conservancy purposes.

Trenches or pits may be made, or the people will be allowed to ease nature on the surface of the fields marked off for the purpose.

An establishment of sweepers will be provided to cover the excrement with earth.

To preserve the sites of fairs wholesome it is desirable that they should be cultivated, and one crop a year at least taken off them.

20. Native gentlemen may be allowed to have separate latrines for their own use, and the use of their families, on condition that they arrange for having the ordure removed daily without the camp and the latrine itself kept sweet with dry earth.

21. The owners of horses, cows and other animals should be required to arrange for having the dung of the animals removed without the camp.

If any animal should die, the owner will arrange for having its carcass removed without the camp and buried. The slaughter of animals should be permitted at certain places only, and every part of the animal should be carried out of the fair as soon as possible. The places of slaughter should be carefully swept twice in a day, dry earth at the same time being plentifully sprinkled where blood may have been spilled.

22. Places should be set apart for the cremation and burial of dead bodies, and no person should be allowed to burn or bury a body at any other place than the one set apart for the purpose.

HOSPITALS FOR FAIRS.

23. At the more important fairs at least two hospitals should be provided, if the Civil Surgeon considers this necessary, one a general hospital and dispensary, and the other a hospital for contagious diseases.

24. The hospitals may consist of a thatched roof raised 6 feet off the ground by means of poles well set into the ground, and so bound together and strengthened by cross poles as to be able to stand up safely against a strong wind. Walls of jhámps or matting should be furnished on all four sides. The floor of the hospital should have a pathway 6 feet wide along the centre, and be slightly raised for berths on each side.

25. The general hospital should be 50 feet long and 20 feet broad, and the contagious diseases hospital 30 feet long and 20 feet broad, and near to the latter a sufficient quantity of material should be stored to permit of the immediate erection of other hospitals for contagious diseases if necessity should require their construction.

26. The general hospital should be erected at any appropriate and convenient place near to the centre of the fair. The contagious diseases hospital should stand near to, but outside, the fair at any retired place where the hospital with its inmates may be readily cut off from communication with the people present at the fair.

27. A latrine should be furnished for every hospital. The hospital latrine should consist of a small detached structure of like kind to the hospital, and should be furnished with a sufficient number of shallow earthen pans for conservancy purposes. A box or other suitable vessel for containing dry earth should be furnished to each latrine and stand inside of it near to the pans.

28. The hospital and latrine standing in one enclosure should be surrounded with a light fence or bamboo railing, about one yard high, and no stranger should be allowed inside the railing or any patient outside the same without the permission of the Medical Officer.

29. To every hospital a Native Doctor, cook, sweeper and bhisti should be appointed, and the number of hospital servants may be increased where absolutely necessary by the Medical Officer.

30. The sweeper should especially attend to the latrine for the purpose of mixing dry earth with the contents of the latrine pans, and in removing the contents so mixed and deodorized.

31. Patients unable to leave their beds must be furnished with pans for use in the hospital, and the sweeper must pay the same attention to the contents of these pans as to the contents of the latrine pans, and more especially when patients suffering from cholera or contagious fever have to use the pans the contents must be treated with the disinfecting solution (carbolic acid), or, if no carbolic acid be available, with a concentrated solution of sulphate of iron (kusees)—one pound of the sulphate to one gallon of water.

Three chittacks of the solution will be sufficient for one evacuation. After disinfection the discharges will be mixed with earth and removed and buried. Matters vomited by cholera patients should be treated in the same way.

32. A supply of blankets must be furnished to every hospital, but patients should supply their own bedding.

33. Two large gurrahs with drinking water should be supplied to every hospital.

OF THREATENED EPIDEMIC DISEASES AT FAIRS.

34. If cases of cholera, small-pox or contagious fever should appear at any fair, the people attacked with the disease should be removed without delay to the hospital set apart for contagious diseases, and there treated until the disease has proved fatal or until convalescence has been established. Persons suffering from contagious diseases should be kept carefully segregated during their illness and convalescence.

35. For the conveyance of such patients to hospital a doolie (a charpoy carried on a pole and covered by a piece of mat) and bearers should be attached to every police station in the fair.

The mat should be burned after the arrival of the sick person at hospital, and a fresh piece laid on the charpoy. Some disinfecting solution should be sprinkled on the charpoy on each occasion of its being used, more especially on any spots that may have been soiled by the discharges of a sick person.

The clothes and bedding of every patient who may die of the above-mentioned diseases should be burned as soon after his death as may be conveniently done.

The food of such patients, if paupers, may be supplied at the public cost.

OF EPIDEMIC CHOLERA AT FAIRS.

36. If cholera should appear in an epidemic form at any fair, the officers in charge of the fair should immediately send a notice of the fact, by telegraph, if possible, to the Magistrates of all surrounding districts and to the Government.

37. The officers in charge of the fair should then encourage the people assembled at the fair to disperse to their homes with the least possible delay, avoiding as much as possible the towns and villages on their route.

Cholera medicine should be given to all who ask for it.

EXPENSES OF FAIRS.

38. Municipal Committees and District Boards may propose to levy fees, from all persons exposing goods for sale at important fairs, and all persons plying any occupation for gain, (except water-carriers, scavengers and persons employed in connection with the arrangement of the fair,) for defraying the cost of sanitary arrangements, Police charges and other expenses. Such fees in the case of District Boards will require the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division under the special powers conferred upon him in this behalf by the Punjab Government, and in the case of Municipal Committees will require the sanction of the Governor-General in Council under Section 37 (b) of Act XIII of 1884. The Police charges for which fees may be levied may include—

(a) the expenses of transport of the Police brought to the fair from elsewhere;

(b) the pay of substitutes entertained in place of such Police,

(c) the cost of any necessary temporary shelter erected for such Police.

Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, in the Boards and Committees (Boards) Department, No. 44, dated 19th March 1890.

READ—

Resolution of the Punjab Government, in the Financial Department, No. 484 S., dated the 24th September 1883.

Letter from the Government of India, in the Department of Finance and Commerce, to the Punjab Government, No. 5703, dated the 25th October 1887.

Resolution of the Government of India, in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 785, dated the 12th February 1889.

RESOLUTION.—In the Resolution of the Punjab Government read in the preamble it was ruled that, except with the special sanction of Government, the balances of the District Funds should not be allowed to fall below—

(1) Rupees 500, Rs. 3,500 and Rs. 2,000 in the Simla, Hazára and Kohát Districts respectively ; and

(2) ten per cent. of the District Fund income in all the other districts ; and the accumulations of previous years in excess of these amounts were made available for outlay on original works to be approved in each case by the Lieutenant-Governor in the Civil Department. In regard to balances which might accrue in future years, the intention of Government was that they should be at the free disposal of District Boards as surplus current income available for appropriation in framing the annual District Fund Budgets. This intention was not, however, clearly stated in the Resolution of September 1883, and in consequence District Boards have considered themselves obliged to obtain the sanction of Government in the Civil Department not only for expenditure from the surplus balances that had accumulated previous to 1883-84, but also for appropriations from the annual surpluses which have since been added to the balances.

2. Six years have elapsed since the surplus balances which had accumulated previous to 1883-84 were made available for expenditure on original works, and the Lieutenant-Governor does not think it necessary to maintain any longer, in respect of any portion of these accumulations which is still unspent, the condition that the works must be specially sanctioned by Government in the Civil Department. His Honor is therefore pleased to withdraw the orders contained in the Punjab Government's Resolution No. 484 S., dated the 24th September 1883, except in so far as they prescribe the maintenance of the balances of District Funds at the amounts mentioned in the first paragraph of these remarks, and to direct that the appropriation of balances in excess of these amounts shall be regulated by the following instructions.

3. In the letter from the Government of India, No. 5703, dated the 25th October 1887, it has been ruled that when Local Governments propose to provide in their estimates for any considerable expenditure out of accumulated balances the proposals should be forwarded to the Supreme Government for separate consideration, in anticipation of the estimates themselves. The reasons for this rule, which are that a very large expenditure in one year beyond its income might be injudicious on the part of a Provincial Government and might prove embarrassing to the Imperial Government, which ought to possess the right of regulating in some degree the rate of expenditure of accumulated balances, apply mutatis mutandis to the balances of District Funds, and in the case of these Funds there is less difficulty in fixing the amount which a District Board may without the special sanction of Government withdraw from its balance for expenditure in any one year in addition to the income of that year. That amount the Lieutenant-Governor thinks should not exceed Rs. 15,000, of which Rs. 5,000, but not more, may be entered in the annual estimates as a reserve grant if the Board is not prepared to allot the whole Rs. 15,000 for specified works, &c., at the time of the framing of its Budget. In future, therefore, subject only to the proviso that the balances of the District Funds shall never be allowed to fall below the minimum amounts already mentioned, any District Board may provide in its annual Budget for an expenditure of Rs. 15,000, of which at least Rs. 10,000 must be allotted to specified works, out of the balance at its credit in addition to the estimated income of the year. When a District Board proposes to provide in its Budget for expenditure exceeding Rs. 15,000 out of its balance in any one year, the proposals should be forwarded to Government in the Civil Department for sanction before the Budget is submitted.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that in disposing of the surplus balances of the District Funds under the present orders all District Boards will bear in mind the propriety of devoting the accumulations principally to original works and works for the prevention of famine. It is not now necessary in His Honor's opinion to reserve the balances for works of these classes exclusively as was done in 1883; but Sir James Lyall thinks that accumulations of the kind now in question should be spent chiefly in the way here suggested, and Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners are requested to see that the wishes of Government in this respect are not lost sight of.

5. Under the Resolution of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 785, dated the 12th February 1889, read in the preamble, the Local Government may sanction expenditure in excess of the Budget grant for any Provincial or Incorporated Local Fund service only if the excess does not cause the total of the Provincial and Incorporated Local Fund Budgets of Expenditure in framing the annual District Fund Budgets. This intention was not, however, clearly stated in the Resolution of September 1883, and in consequence District Boards have considered themselves obliged to obtain the sanction of Government in the Civil Department not only for expenditure from the surplus balances that had accumulated previous to 1883-84, but also for appropriations from the annual surpluses which have since been added to the balances.

2. Six years have elapsed since the surplus balances which had accumulated previous to 1883-84 were made available for expenditure on original works, and the Lieutenant-Governor does not think it necessary to maintain any longer, in respect of any portion of these accumulations which is still unspent, the condition that the works must be specially sanctioned by Government in the Civil Department. His Honor is therefore pleased to withdraw the orders contained in the Punjab Government's Resolution No. 484 S., dated the 24th September 1883, except in so far as they prescribe the maintenance of the balances of District Funds at the amounts mentioned in the first paragraph of these remarks, and to direct that the appropriation of balances in excess of these amounts shall be regulated by the following instructions.

5. Under the Resolution of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 785, dated the 12th February 1889, read in the preamble, the Local Government may sanction expenditure in excess of the Budget grant for any Provincial or Incorporated Local Fund service only if the excess does not cause the total of the Provincial and Incorporated Local Fund Budgets of Expenditure to be exceeded. The Punjab Government will not ordinarily be prepared to increase the District Fund Budget grants by reducing the grants for Provincial and other Local Fund services under this rule; and it is most necessary therefore that District Boards should provide in their annual Budgets for any expenditure to be incurred from surplus balances under the present orders. Proposals for such expenditure which require the sanction of Government should be submitted not later than the 15th of October, in order that the orders of Government may reach the Boards in time to enable them to make provision for the outlay, if sanctioned, in their Budgets. In future, except under circumstances of real urgency, the Lieutenant-Governor will invariably decline to sanction applications from District Boards to incur expenditure for which provision has not been made in their Budgets, whether or not such expenditure can be met from the surplus balance or from additional income.

ORDER—Ordered, that this Resolution be forwarded for information and guidance to the Accountant-General and to all Divisional and District Officers, and to the Public Works Department, and also that it be published in the Punjab Government Gazette, and reported for information to the Government of India.

RULES.

I.—The Committee of any Municipality to which these rules may have been extended may appoint a place or places for the storage of taxable goods brought into such Municipality and declared not to be intended for use or consumption therein. A place so appointed shall be called a bonded-warehouse.

II.—Any person bringing into the Municipality goods of the description referred to in the preceding rule may, without payment of octroi, but subject to the provisions of Rule III following, and of any rules made by the Committee regarding the safeguards under which goods may be conveyed from the Municipal octroi barrier to the bonded-warehouse, deposit such goods in a bonded-warehouse.

III.—The officer in charge of a bonded-warehouse may refuse to receive any goods which in his opinion cannot by reason of their bulk or perishable or dangerous nature conveniently be received on the premises. Refusal to receive goods under this rule shall be immediately reported for confirmation to the President of the Committee or to such member as may have been appointed in this behalf. When the admission of goods into the bonded-warehouse is refused, they shall be liable to payment of octroi.

IV.—Subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the Division, the Committee may charge fees for the deposit of goods within a bonded-warehouse. Such fees may be fixed with reference to the bulk, value or nature of the goods and the period of the deposit, and shall be calculated with regard to the principle that the total net proceeds from them shall not exceed the expenditure incurred by the Committee in the maintenance and supervision of the bonded-warehouse.

V.—The officer in charge of the bonded-warehouse may refuse to deliver up good deposited therein until the fees (if any) demandable in respect of such goods under Rule IV have been paid. Subject to this condition and also subject to Rule VI the person who deposited goods in a bonded-warehouse may remove them during the working hours of any day.

VI.—Goods removed from a bonded-warehouse must either pay octroi or must be carried beyond Municipal limits under such safeguards as the Committee may fix.

VII.—These rules are applicable only to those Municipalities to which they may from time to time be extended by notification.

Punjab Government Notifications and Orders

BOARDS AND COMMITTEES DEPARTMENT.

COMMITTEES.

The 18*th December* 1890.

No. 1032.—Notification.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in accordance with the provisions of clause (a), sub-section (2) of Section 5 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1884, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to direct that for reasons affecting the public interests the Municipal Committee of Simla shall cease to consist of members, all of whom are elected ; and, in accordance with sub-section (1) of the same section, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct that the said Committee shall consist of ten members, of whom six shall be elected and four shall be appointed. Provided that no person who is a member of the Committee at the date of this Notification shall cease to be a member by reason of the number of elected members of the Committee exceeding six, but every such person shall continue to be a member for the unexpired period of his term of office, unless he shall previously resign or be removed.

No. 1033.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers vested in the Local Government in that behalf, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to exclude from the operation of clause (1) of Section 14 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1884, the Committee of the Municipality of Simla.

No. 1034.—Notification.—Under the provisions of Section 159 of Act XIII of 1884, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to publish the following draft Rules framed under the provisions of Section 154, clauses (b) to (h) inclusive, of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1884, for the regulation of elections of members of the Municipal Committee of Simla. These Rules, which are intended to supersede the Rules published in Punjab Government Gazette Notification No. 343, dated 11th May 1886, will be taken into consideration six weeks after the date of this Notification, and any objections or suggestions communicated before the expiration of that period will receive consideration:—

DRAFT RULES.

Qualification for holding office.

I.—Every male rate-payer of not less than 21 years of age, who ordinarily resides within Municipal limits, and is not disqualified under Rule II, shall be eligible for election to the office of member of Municipal Committee.

Disqualifications for holding office.

II.—No one shall be eligible as member of the Municipal Committee who—

(1) is under contract as regards work to be done for the Municipality; or

(2) receives any remuneration out of Municipal funds for services rendered to the Municipality; or

(3) has been proscribed from Government employment; or

(4) has been convicted of any such offence, or subjected by a criminal court to any such order as implies, in the opinion of the Local Government, a defect of character which unfits him to be a member; or

(5) is in arrears for six or more months in respect of any Municipal tax:

Provided that the Local Government may exempt any person, or class of persons, from the restriction contained in clause (2) of this rule.

Qualifications for voters, Classes A and B.

III.—There shall be two classes of voters, viz., Class A and Class B.

Class A.—House proprietors, male or female, resident or non-resident, not less than 21 years of age, shall have for houses outside the Bazárs, one vote for every Rs. 800 of rent on which house-tax is boná fide paid, and within Bazár limits, one vote for every Rs. 25 of house-tax or frontage-tax paid.

Class B.—Tenants, male or female, not less than 21 years of age, outside the Bazárs, shall have one vote for every Rs. 400, and within Bazár limits, one vote for every Rs. 125 of boná fide rental paid, on which house-tax is assessed. Votes on these scales may be given for each house by either one or more boná fide tenants of such house whether used as a dwelling-house, shop, or office, or partly for one and partly for other of such purposes; but the total votes for any house shall not exceed the number allowed on the gross rental on which house-tax is paid by the proprietor.

Illustrations.—(1). A house outside the Bazárs is taxed on a rental of Rs. 1,000, but having been let is occupied by three boná fide tenants, who pay altogether, say, Rs. 1,000 for the season. On this house only two votes can be given by tenants. If the taxed rental had been Rs 1,200, there would have been three votes.

(2). Rental means the rent on which taxes are paid. For example, B rents a house for Rs. 800, and on Rs. 680 house-tax is assessed. B does not occupy the house, but transfers his lease to C for Rs. 1,000. C occupies the house. C has only one vote, and B has none.

(3). D, a clerk in a Government office, resides in Government quarters for the season and pays Rs. 400 for the same. D has one vote; but the Government has no vote as a tenant in respect of the quarters occupied by D.

Disqualification of voters.

IV.—No one who is in arrears for six or more months in respect of any Municipal tax shall be qualified to vote.

Votes to be allowed under both classes.

V.—A proprietor occupying his own house in Simla and voting in Class A may qualify also as a tenant, and vote as such in Class B.

Government votes.

VI.—The Supreme and Local Governments shall not be entitled to votes in respect of any qualifications they may possess under Rule III, but persons residing on Government premises and paying rent shall be entitled to qualify as tenants, and shall be subject in this respect to the rules applicable to the tenants of private premises.

Voting power.

VII.—Every voter may vote to the full extent of his qualification for every vacant seat, but no further. If a voter votes for more candidates than there are vacant seats, the excess shall be reduced by rejecting those to whom he may have given fewest votes, and by lot if he has given an equal number of votes to each.

Illustrations.—(1). If A has ten votes and the number of vacancies is three and the number of candidates six. A can give any number of votes not exceeding ten to one candidate, or to two candidates or to three. But he cannot vote for more than three candidates, nor can he give more than ten votes to any one candidate.

(2) If, in the case supposed, A votes for four candidates to whom he gives respectively ten, seven, five and three votes, the candidate with three votes will be struck out. If A has given ten or six or any other number to each of the four, the name of the candidate to be erased will be determined by lot.

(3). A voter may, if he pleases, vote for himself.

Votes of firms or through agents.

VIII.—No voter may vote through another person unless such person—

(1) is in the case of any club, firm, or duly constituted society, the Secretary thereof, or the member, officer, or servant thereof ordinarily authorised to sign business communications in its behalf;

(2) in any other case, holds from the voter a power-of-attorney specially empowering him to vote at elections on his principal's behalf, or a formal proxy in writing attested by two witnesses and executed within six months of the date of the elections.

Simla to be divided into two wards.

IX.—The Municipality shall be divided into two wards: one to include all the bazárs, and to be called the Bazár Ward, and the other to include the whole Municipal area outside the bazárs, and to be called the Station Ward. Voters in each ward shall be entitled to vote only for candidates for that ward.

X.—A voter may qualify for votes in Classes A and B, both inside and outside the Bazár Ward, and if he qualifies in both of the wards into which the Municipality shall be divided, may vote in both wards according to his qualification in each.

XI.—(1) Of the elected members of the Municipal Committee one-half shall represent the Bazár Ward, and one-half the Station Ward.

(2) At least one of the representatives of the Station Ward and two of the representatives of the Bazár Ward shall be permanent residents of the Municipality.

A person is said to be a permanent resident of the Municipality when he ordinarily resides within Municipal limits more than nine months of the year.

Appointment of President and Vice-President.

XII.—Either the President or the Vice-President of the Municipal Committee shall be a permanent resident of the Municipality.

Term of office of President.

XIII.—The President shall hold office for three years.

When nominations may be made by Government.

XIV.—At any election if a sufficient number of qualified candidates fail to appear, or if the electors fail to return a sufficient number of qualified representatives, the Local Government may nominate qualified persons to fill the vacancies.

Definition of vacancy.

XV.—No member of the Committee who is a temporary resident of the Municipality shall be deemed to have vacated his office by reason of his absence for seven months during the winter season with intention to return to Simla.

Term of office of elected members.

XVI.—Elected members of the Committee shall hold office for three years.

Notice to be published by the Deputy Commissioner.

XVII.—The Deputy Commissioner, or such other officer as he may appoint for this purpose, shall, at a convenient time, ordinarily not less than three weeks before the election, publish within the Municipality a notice setting forth the necessary qualifications of candidates and of electors, the number of candidates to be elected, the manner of voting, and such other matters with reference to the election as it may be considered desirable for the public to know.

XVIII.—(1). Candidates for election shall be proposed by qualified electors not less than two in number, who shall intimate their proposals to the Deputy Commissioner by letter addressed to him, or to such person as he may name, and signed by them. Such letter shall certify that the candidate is duly qualified and is prepared to serve on the Committee.

Nomination of candidates.

(2). If before the election is held an objection is taken to a candidate on the ground that he is ineligible under Rule I or II., the decision of the Election Committee thereon allowing or disallowing the candidature shall be final.

Provided that, if the objection is taken under clause (2) or clause (4) of Rule II, the Deputy Commissioner may permit the candidature to proceed, and shall, through the usual channel, obtain under said clause (2) the orders of the Local Government as to any exemption from the restriction thereby imposed, or under the said clause (4) ascertain the opinion of the Local Government as to the effect of the alleged defect of character, and shall under Rule XXXI annul the election of any elected candidate disqualified by the decision of Government thus elicited. The order of the Deputy Commissioner annulling the election under this rule shall be final.

XIX.—(1). Lists shall be prepared under the orders of the Deputy Commissioner on or before the 1st June, showing for each ward the number and names of all persons who are qualified voters under these Rules, and the qualifications entitling them to vote.

List of voters.

(2). It shall not be necessary to prepare a new list every year, but on or before the 1st June in each year the list of the preceding year shall be revised, and may be adopted with such alterations as may, in particular cases, be deemed necessary.

Proviso.

(3). As soon as the list of voters is prepared, copies of the list for each ward shall be published in that ward.

XX.—No objection to the entries in the list shall be entertained unless it is preferred in writing within a month of its publication. All applications to be entered in the list must be made within one month from the date of its publication. The Deputy Commissioner, or such officer as he may appoint in this behalf, shall decide as to the validity of the objection or application, and his decision shall be final.

Limitation of time for objections and their disposal.

XXI.—When the revised lists have been prepared, and the objections, if any, disposed of, a voting paper in the annexed form shall be sent to each qualified voter in the Station Ward, and a certified extract from the revised list under the signature of the Deputy Commissioner shall be given in the annexed form to each qualified voter in the Bázár Ward. These certified extracts or voters' certificates must be presented at the time of election by the voters of the Bazár Ward, and no person shall vote who does not present such certificate.

Voting paper and voter's certificate.

XXII.—Unless the Local Government otherwise directs, the elections shall be completed so as to allow of elected members taking office in July in each year or as soon after as possible.

Time of elections.

XXIII.—If the number of qualified candidates duly proposed under Rule XVIII exceed the number of vacancies, a poll shall be taken; otherwise such candidates shall be deemed to be elected.

Poll when necessary.

XXIV.—When a poll is held, the votes given by voters of the Station Ward shall be recorded on the voting papers, which should be filled up and sent to the Deputy Commissioner at the time, and must be signed by the person exercising the privilege. The votes of voters in the Bazár Ward shall be given in public and in person before such officer as the Deputy Commissioner may empower to receive them, at some convenient place or places within the limits of the Municipality.

Manner of recording votes.

XXV.—The voting papers and the lists of votes recorded by voters of the Bazár Ward shall, after the results of the voting have been declared, be open to inspection by any registered voter until a date to be fixed in the notice issued by the Deputy Commissioner under Rule XVII. In the same notice a date shall be fixed, up to which objection shall be received; and after such date no objection founded on any alleged defect in the qualification of voters or record of votes shall be entertained.

Limit of time for objection to votes.

XXVI.—(1). Vacancies reserved to permanent residents shall first be filled by candidates, who, being permanent residents of the Municipality, have obtained most votes in the wards for which the vacancies exist.

Results of the elections.

(2). After such vacancies have been filled, the remaining vacancies shall be filled by the candidates whose names stand highest on the poll for their respective wards.

Case of equality of votes.

XXVII.—In the case of two candidates for a single vacancy or for the last of several vacancies polling an equal number of votes, the choice between the two shall be determined by lot under arrangement to be made by the Deputy Commissioner.

Election Committee and powers thereof.

XXVIII.—(1). All questions arising under these Rules as to the qualifications of voters, number of votes, nomination and qualification of candidates, the validity of votes recorded, and other matters relating to the manner and validity of the elections, shall be determined by an Election Committee consisting of the Deputy Commissioner and two Assessors appointed by the Municipal Committee.

(2). If after the poll is declared the Election Committee allow any objection to votes founded on any defect in the qualification of voters or number or record of votes, the Election Committee shall revise the lists and, if necessary, alter the declaration of the poll in accordance with their decision.

(3). Except as is otherwise expressly provided in these Rules, the decisions of the Election Committee under the above provision shall be final.

Procedure where objection is made to the return of any candidate.

XXIX.—If within the period fixed for the receipt of objections to votes any objection is made to the return of any candidate on the ground that he is disqualified under these Rules, the Election Committee shall take such objection into consideration and may disallow it. If such Committee holds that the objection is valid, it shall report the matter for the orders of the Local Government.

Consequence if a returned candidate is disqualified.

XXX.—When a report is made under Rule XXIX and the Local Government confirms the objection to the return of any candidate, the election of such candidate shall be void, and the qualified candidate who has obtained the highest number of votes amongst unreturned candidates for the same ward shall be deemed to have been elected.

Names of elected members to be gazetted.

XXXI.—After the period allowed for objections shall have expired and the objections, if any, shall have been considered by the Election Committee, the Deputy Commissioner shall certify to the Commissioner for the information of Government and publication in the Punjab Government Gazette the names of the elected members returned for each ward.

XXXII.—No person in the employment or pay of the Municipality shall directly or indirectly engage in canvassing for votes or otherwise assist in the election of any candidate otherwise than by giving his own vote. Any breach of this rule will render him liable to be dismissed.
